LIVERPOOL, Dec. 7.—The market at the start displayed a steady undertone, with offerings lighter, prompted by the firminess in America yesterday. Following opening, pressure developed, and values declined, with the principal weakness in the distant month. This selling was attributed to realizing on the weakness in Buenos Ayres, our agent's report of improved weather, and private reports of more favorable harvesting conditions. Plata offers were cheaper. Just before noon there was some little covering and pricas reacted slightly.

Erickson Perkins & Co. had the following at the close:

Wheat—The market opened a shade easier and ranged within very narrow ilmits, with a light trade up to noon, when the government report was issued. No interest being taken in cash wheat in this market to-day. Export business was not talked about. Local professional interests continue to dominate, but do not seem to be making much headway with their buil campaign, as they have as yet attracted no putside buying. We think wheat should be sold on all railies, as both European and domestic situations warrant lower prices.

Corn—Prices ruled easier thruout the residual of the cause of the canada's Aid to the Cause.

pean and domestic situations warrant lower prices.

Corn-Prices ruled easier thruout the session, with a lighter volume of trade. Export limits were below ruling prices.

The weather of the past week, especially, has tended to improve greatly the condition of receipts at country points. We see no reason to change our opinion regarding the future price of May corn, and advise short sales on all little railies.

Oats-The market was easier in sympathy with corn, and on the general lack of short interest and light trade.

WEAKNESS IN SPECIALTIES

The counterfeits had been made in Italy, it is alleged, by a gang whom the American authorities often have called to the attention of the Italian Government without avail.

Heaviness in Little Nipissing and one or two other Cobalt stocks is due to an overestimated speculative position in these securities. Eliminating these, the market was steadily firm yesterday, with strength in Temiskaming on the belief that another dividend and a bonus will be declared next Saturday. Good opportunities are now being presented to purchasers, and on the weak spots we recommend Bailey, Temiskaming and Gould.
