SOCIAL AND MORAL REFORM ENGAGE THE PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD

Report Read by Dr. Smith and Address is Given by Dr. Shearer—Government Commended for Appointment of Hon. McKenzie King as Labor Minister—Enforcement of Liquor Laws

The sessions of the Presbyterian synod of the maritime provinces were continued today. The morning session opened at 10 o'clock in St. David's church, Rev. James Sinclair, moderator, presiding. A short devotional service was held. Rev. W. Grant, of Trinidad, and Rev. Alexander Rogers, led in prayer. The minutes of the previous session were read by the clerk, Dr. Thomas Sedgewick.

Recommendations for committees were then made as follows:

To prepare obituary notices—Dr. J. McMillan, D. Styles, Fraser, R. Cumming, W. P. Archibald, F. F. Fullerton and Robt. Murray.

To examine Penzance records—Sydney George E. Forbes, Secretary of the Penzance Film Society, was asked to supply a list of exhibitors. He was pleased to be able to tell them that an advance was being made along the lines of moral and artistic improvement, and that the public was strongly against the circulation of obscene literature. Regarding the theatre and moving picture shows, he said that, while the theatre had been instances were all right, yet it was degrading to the younger element to see brutal scenes depicted on the stage. In the picture theatres, cities and towns should appoint a censor for moving picture shows. It was of as much importance having an authority to censor the theatre as having one for the pictures. The latter was pointed.

GETS NEWS OF DEATH OF HUSBAND COMPROMISE ON BUDGET IS POSSIBLE

Mrs. Morrison Receives Telegram With Sad Word From Scene of Wreck, on the I. C. R.

To be suddenly interrupted in the execution of her daily household duties and informed of the death of her husband, was the trying experience of Mrs William S. Morrison, 209 Rockland Road, widow of the Canadian express messenger who was killed in the terrible calamity of the morning.

At first the poor woman could not believe it was true. Her husband had left her only last night, in the best of health and spirits, and now to be told that he had passed away, having met with an untimely death, it seemed too incredible to be true. But gradually the truth was impressed upon the bereaved, widowed mother, the evidence of that curt, but explicit telegram, was unquestioned.

and he is using his influence to arrange a way out of the difficulty which could have been accepted by the government and the Unionists.

Besides Earl Cawdor and Premier Asquith, Lord Rosebery, secretary Haldane, Lord Curzon and Lord Grey. Therefore have been consulted and it has been reported in the lobby that Lord Lansdowne also was summoned to Balmoral. It is suggested that a compromise might be ar-tonable, her husband was no more. As the light and merriment of all the day faded, she thought that she was going out of her mind. She seemed to forget the presence of everybody, and began aimlessly pacing up and down the room, uttering not a word, but her whole body trembling with grief. At last the session proved too overwhelming, and she gave way to a pitiable outburst of tears, and gathering her little five-year-old son, Charlie, to her, sobbing as though her heart would break.

mates and engineering prospectuses of the commission appointed to look into the matter of constructing a tunnel through Mount Blanc.

The tunnel is to start at Chamonix and the nearest opening is to be in Evreux. The

Mr. St. James, who is a young man, is the brother-in-law of Mr. Morrison. Mr. Morrison was thirty years of age and belonged to Sussex. He lived for a few years in Moncton, but moved here from that city about four years ago. He was employed as a clerk in Moncton. He was in the city at that time but when they employ and went to work as a Canadian express messenger on the I. C. R. He was very popular and had a wide circle of friends. For a number of years

He was leader of the USSR's Communist Party and since coming home has been associated with the Military Band, in which he was considered a valued corner player. Much sympathy will be felt for the bereaved family.

REV. GORDON RYERSON
