Wholesome Counsels for Persons of every Class, Sex, and Age.

A seasonable gathering, and a reasonable spending, make a good housekeeping.
 Judge not a man by his income, but by his expenses.
 Think a day before thou promisest any thing of moment.
 Money in your purse will credit you; wisdom in your head adorn you; and both in your necessity will serve you.
 Balance your expenses by the just weight of your own estate, and not by the poise of another's spending.
 A fair flower without scent, is like a fair woman without grace.
 A good word is an easy obligation; but not to speak ill requires only our silence, which costs us nothing.
 Prodigals may be compared to fig-trees growing upon a precipice, whose fruit men taste not, but crows and vultures devour.
 Make use of time if thou lovest eternity; know yesterday cannot be recalled, to-morrow cannot be assured; to-day is only thine, which if once lost, like thy soul, is lost for ever.
