LOCAL NEWS

AT EIGHT TONIGHT.
The Temple band concert in King Square this evening will start at eight o'clock, daylight time.

EARLY MORNING FIRE.
The fire department was called out at 8:55 o'clock this morning to extinguish a small blaze in the rear of a house at 60 Water street. The house is occupied by W. J. Rogers, and is owned by W. H. Colwell. Very little damage was done and the fire was of short duration.

WIFE WITHDRAWS CHARGE.
George Beckingham, for making threats against his wife, was before His Honor Judge Armstrong under the Speedy Trials Act. The trouble arose over a stepdaughter. The wife who had made the complaint, being desirous of sympathy being extended to her husband, the prisoner was allowed to go. C. H. Ferguson prosecuted.

POLICE PREPAREDNESS.
The members of the police force are getting in some good hard practice for the coming tug-of-war with the members of the motormen and conductors of the street railway. The police are said to have had a good workout yesterday and it is alleged that six of them pulled twelve other men all around their practice ground. If this is true, then the street railway have got to secure some material that can compete with such a team. It is understood that the rest of the team will compete with some of the police on the 15th, in the meantime, the custodians of the law are going to get in some practice and claim they will develop a team that will compete with any tug-of-war team in the province, and this is putting it modestly to what some of its members claim.

FERNHILL DIRECTORS MAKE ANNUAL VISIT TO THE CEMETERY

During the summer season, various committees of the Fernhill Cemetery directors make periodical visits to the grounds to look after the work being done, but yesterday the directors as a whole made their annual visit and inspected the different undertakings. A long drain is being laid in the rear of the city and county lots through to Maple avenue, which, when completed, will open up a large area for interment purposes. The city and county lots have also received attention and is much improved. Several additional lots have been received under perpetual care this season and improve the general appearance of the cemetery very much. The lot holders seem to be taking more pride in this city of the dead than in former years, as an instance of which the secretary lately received an order for care of a lot in which the person providing the care was not directly interested. The owners of the lot have been notified and invited for the family burial lot, and rather than have it disfigure that section of the cemetery, the adjoining lot owner had it placed under care.

The Naval and Military lot was visited. There have been slight additions laid to rest in this plot already. The fresh green sods, the small cannon, and the Union Jack flying over all make this Field of Honor a very attractive spot. An appreciative citizen has donated a small enameled flag for each mound in this lot as a token of respect for those who lie there—the boys who have sacrificed life itself to keep the old flag flying.

The general work of the cemetery has been very well kept up this season. Visitors to the grounds the Main Street and Spruce avenue will also be glad to learn that the steep grade to this hill is being reduced so that the ascent will be very much easier.

Permission was given the Knights of Pythias to hold their decoration day in Fernhill on August 24.

FOSHA-Y-NICHOLS

An interesting wedding took place last night at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. E. Parker Nichols, 460 City Line, West St. John, when their daughter, Grace Lillian, was united in marriage to J. Dexter Fosha-y. The drawingroom, which was used for the occasion, was tastefully decorated with cut flowers and ferns. A large number of relatives and invited guests were present at the ceremony which was conducted by Rev. Craig W. Nichols, rector of Westfield, and uncle of the bride.

The bride, who was costumed in a white silk dress and wore a white bride veil and carried a bouquet of flowers was ushered into the room on the arm of her father, who gave her away. Her sister, Edith, was bridesmaid, and little Miss Marion Nichols was flower girl. The bridegroom was supported by Albert F. Nichols. After the ceremony the guests sat down to a bountiful repast.

Both the bride and bridegroom are popular and were handsomely remembered, receiving some very useful and valuable presents. The fellow employees of Mr. Fosha-y in T. McAvity & Sons foundry, presented to him a case of silverware. After the wedding the bride party drove to their future residence, 78 Queen street, city. Among the out of town guests were Mrs. L. J. Jenkins and daughter, Ione, from Belfast, Me.; Mrs. Chas. Johnston, Musquash, and Miss L. J. Maxwell, Fredericton.

CANDIDATE HUGHES HELD UP BY SOLDIER

Presidential Nominee, Spending Sunday at Niagara Falls, and Crossed the Canadian Border

Charles E. Hughes, westward bound on the first trip of his presidential campaign, spent Sunday at Niagara Falls. During a motor ride which his wife on the Canadian side the nominee obtained a first-hand impression of the vigilance exercised by the Dominion government over tourists. At a lonely spot a Canadian soldier with fixed bayonet appeared in the roadway, ordered the driver to halt, and made a business-like search of the car for explosives while Mr. Hughes and his wife stood waiting good-naturedly near by. The soldier, when told of Mr. Hughes' identity, replied with a grin that he was sorry to inconvenience the candidate, but Canadian military rules made no exceptions. Mr. Hughes left late last night for Detroit.

N. B. BATTALION IN A WARM SPOT

Took Over Trenches Which Were Scene of Recent Battle—Heavily Shelled by the Huns—Letter From Private W. Thomas

The experiences through which a New Brunswick infantry unit has been passing since they occupied the trenches which were the scene of the recent big engagement are indicated by news contained in a letter rec'd by Fred Thomas of this city from his brother, Private William Thomas. Extracts from the letter are as follows:

"I write from a rest camp in the rear of the trenches where we are spending a few easy days, after some weeks in the trenches. I thank God that this letter leaves me in the best of health and in safety, which is, I consider, a miracle more or less. Since I wrote you last my duties have been changed a bit, as I am now a despatch rider and, having now been at it for several weeks, I am safe in saying that I like the work very well, although the job is not without its heavy side for about twenty hours. Considering the position we held, we were in expectation of it, for we were on the spot where a few days before was fought the battle of which you have likely read. When we arrived everything was the same as the finish of the engagement left it, so as our living quarters were in the trenches, and we had to observe very carefully to see any trace, on account of the way the German shells had left it. I spent the first night, digging myself in very deep so I would not mind the "strafing" next day from the Huns. There were plenty of wounded Germans lying around and also some of our own.

"You will be interested to know that Corporal Spurgeon, Albany is with his battalion again. They patched him up in England and sent him over with a draft.

"At the position our battalion held a few weeks ago the Germans evidently objected a bit to our presence in their old home and they relieved their feeling by shelling or "strafing" as we call it in trench language, for some hours every day. Then all at once they opened all their batteries and, for a period, they did their best to wipe us off the map. We were prepared for an infantry attack, but when they tried to bring that to pass, our artillery started. The noise was deafening for miles away from the trenches, but they put so much shot and shell over in the direction of Berlin that the Germans changed their plans and evidently their policy to "Safety First," as their visit was held over until later and for further news in connection with two interesting spots.

FAMILY FOUND IN PITIFUL PLIGHT

Aged Man Ill, Woman Paralyzed and Children Starving—Children's Aid Society Takes Charge

A very pitiful case was dealt with by the Children's Aid Society this week. Constable Saunders reported to the Society that a family in a shanty some miles out the Loch Lomond road were destitute and children suffering. On Tuesday Rev. W. R. Robinson, secretary of the society, with Constable Saunders, went to the place. They found a man sixty-seven years old in an apparently old home and three children, some of whom were suffering from partial paralysis, and her three children, aged ten, nine and six.

It appears that several years ago the old man took this woman with her husband and three children from the Municipal Home to live with him. The husband is shiftless, but the family have somehow subsisted. The husband has not been home for weeks, and his whereabouts is not known. When the old man became ill the conditions became so bad that, but for Constable Saunders, Com. Shillington and some neighbors, the family would have starved.

When Mr. Robinson and Constable Saunders arrived Tuesday there was a piece of hard bread, two or three ounces of tea and a few pounds of flour in the house, but no other food. The children had had one dry pancake each that day. There was very little furniture, the house was not plastered, and the place very filthy. The old man lay on a board bunk, covered with torn and ragged clothing.

The visitors brought the three children to the Home in Elliott Row, where they were cleaned, which was no small task, provided with new clothing and a good meal. Application was made today to have them formally committed to the care of the Society. They are bright children and the two older have been in the second grade at school.

Constable Saunders went back with a proper conveyance on Tuesday afternoon and brought the old man and the woman to the Municipal home, where they also will receive proper care. The woman's husband has not yet turned up.

There are now ten children in the Home, and Matron Milligan has everything in the best order to care for them properly.

GIRLS CAMPING PARTY.

One of the girls with the Natural History Society camping party at Grey's Mills, near Gorham's Bluff, writes:—"We arrived in camp at eight o'clock Sunday night. The tents were up and everything ready for us. There are thirty-two girls, and we are having a good time. There are loads of water lilies here. We have six tents and three canoes. We had a rainstorm one night and had to sleep in the tents. There is a lovely sandy beach. There isn't a store within four miles. I have just come in from a paddle of about five miles, and got some perfect water-lilies. Last night the "Freshies" were initiated into the society by the older members, representing Indians, their chief having a dreadful battle axe. The novices were wrapped in blankets, and wore red handkerchiefs around their heads. It was a great ceremony."
