Money for Money--

—there's no food that equals Grape-Nuts in concentrated food-strength.
A pretty big claim, but listen—
"All-wheat food" sounds good to most people, but Grape-Nuts goes one better. It not only contains the entire nutriment of wheat, but also the rich nourishment of barley.
More! Grape-Nuts is long baked and digests quickly. Most wheat foods—bread for instance and some so-called breakfast foods—require 2 1/2 to 3 hours for digestion.
Grape-Nuts food digests generally in about one hour.
Being highly concentrated, there's more actual food value, weight for weight, in Grape-Nuts than in some other foods sold in bigger packages.
Grape-Nuts contains the vital bone, muscle and nerve making phosphates necessary for health and life, but lacking in most wheat foods—white bread especially. A daily ration of Grape-Nuts readily makes up for this lack.
Ready to eat from the package, appetizing, nourishing, economical—

REVIEW OF 1914 IN NEW BRUNSWICK

Canadian Bank of Commerce Article on Business Conditions—Some Remarks as to Maritime Provinces

The review of business conditions for 1914 to be published by the Canadian Bank of Commerce contains the following very interesting article on New Brunswick, written by D. Macgillivray, the bank's manager at Halifax. It is as follows:—
Agriculture is the main industry of New Brunswick also, and in the past season, with an increased acreage, has produced very good results. The hay and oat crops were above an average, and are bringing good prices. Potatoes were very abundant, and while the price is low, as the quality is good, the surplus can be carried safely into the winter, when no doubt prices will improve. The estimated value of the field crops was $18,000,000 and of the total agricultural products $20,000,000.
No systematic or reliable statistics are kept, but from the figures which we are able to procure, the position of the livestock industry must be regarded as unsatisfactory here also, and the number raised falls very far short of the capabilities of the province. The increase in potato culture has in a measure drawn attention away from hog raising, and the hog nuisance still appears to be the chief difficulty in the way of increasing the number of hogs, for which much of the land is well adapted. The department of agriculture, however, is alive to the needs of the situation and has measures in hand which it is confidently expected will bring about a substantial improvement. We give below live-stock

Maritime Provinces
The ordinary business of these provinces is in good shape, excepting where our manufactured products depend on a market in the western provinces, and this is in a large measure confined to a few of the principal industries. Lack of success, apart from this, may be traced to poor management and kindred causes in the past. The natural products of the year have been equal both in quantity and price to the best of those of former years. At the best of those of former years, public works of considerable importance are in progress, and the distribution from this source for wages and local supplies is about $700,000 per month. This has had the effect of keeping the usual amount of money in circulation.
We are pleased to be able to report that the native-born in increasing numbers are remaining in the provinces and turning their attention to farming and other occupations, though upwards of seven thousand men have surrendered their civil employment and are now on military service. In addition, the immigration into the provinces, small as yet, is of good quality, and we regard these circumstances as extremely important factors in the encouraging prospect which we believe are in store for the maritime provinces.
Johnson is the commonest name in Chicago and Smith the commonest name in New York city, Philadelphia, Boston, Cleveland, Buffalo and Pittsburgh.
