DRAMATIC TOUCH
IN PRESENTATION OF MISSION CAUSE

The Women's Missionary Society of Antioch church had a very interesting program at its meeting yesterday afternoon and dramatic presentations of mission facts gave it added interest. Mrs. C. F. Sanford, the president, was in the chair and the opening devotion was led by Mrs. M. D. Austin. Mrs. Alice Hea gave a paper on Christian Stewardship and the remainder of the program was illustrative of the mission of today. Mrs. R. A. McLaughlin was the leader and a comprehensive sketch of Indian missions and life in India was given in short papers which together made a connected story. Those who read papers were Mrs. McLaughlin, Mrs. W. B. Tennant, Mrs. Leonard, Mrs. F. T. C. Knowles, Mrs. G. E. Enslin, Mrs. Skinner, Mrs. K. Turkel, Mrs. J. Lafleur and Mrs. Col. Pitts. Midway in the program of readings an effective piece of pageantry representing India's evil trio, Ignorance, Superstition and Poverty, appeared and with their strong ropes endeavored to blind and destroy India. Those who took part in the pageant were Mrs. Angstrom, Miss Evans and Mrs. Topan.

HEART WOULD BEAT LIKE A TRIP HAMMER

Heart trouble has of late years become very prevalent. Sometimes a pain strikes you in the region of the heart, now and then your heart skips beats, palpitations, throbs, or beats with such rapidity and violence you think it is going to burst.

You have weak and dizzy spells, sinking sensations, are nervous, irritable and depressed, and if you attempt to walk upstairs or any distance you get all out of breath.

We know of no remedy that will do so much to make the heart regain strength and vigor, regulate its beat and restore it to a healthy, normal condition as

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

Mrs. Chadwick, Delhi, Ont., writes:—I had palpitation of the heart, and the next exercise, such as going upstairs or a bill, my heart would beat like a trip hammer, and at times I was dizzy-headed and had a sinking sensation as if my time were near.

A friend suggested I try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, so I procured three boxes, and by the time the first box was used I began to improve. In all I took six boxes, and now, although I am 66 years of age, I feel like a young girl, no dizziness or heart-throbbing, and can walk miles without fatigue. At time of sickness I weighed 120 lbs., now I weigh 100.

POPULATION OF
CANADA FOR 1921
ABOUT 8,714,000

Ottawa, Jan. 9.—With the issuing of Quebec's census figures today one may for the first time hazard a guess that the population of Canada as a whole will be in the neighborhood of 8,714,000. Details given by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show that all Canada, excluding the provinces of Saskatchewan and British Columbia, has a population of 7,478,455. The population of the other two provinces is a matter of considerable speculation, and the result cannot be approximated with any degree of accuracy. It is a fact, however, that from 1911 to 1916 Saskatchewan's population increased from 492,432 to 647,835, an increase of thirty-one per cent.

On this basis the population of Canada by provinces would be as follows:

Province	1921	1911
Ontario	2,249,087	1,905,376
Quebec	2,292,054	2,227,292
Manitoba	613,098	461,384
Saskatchewan (Est.)	743,010	492,432
Alberta	681,995	374,663
British Columbia (Est.)	490,600	292,480
Yukon	4,162	5,512
Total	8,714,100	7,200,504

ST. JOHN LODGE,
K. OF P., INSTALLS

Enthusiasm and a large attendance marked the installation of the new officers of St. John Lodge, No. 80, Knights of Pythias, last evening in the Temple of Honor building, Bloor street. The officers were installed by Deputy Grand Chancellor J. Roy Bell and are as follows:—Chancellor, J. G. Henderson; E. O. Heane, vice-chancellor; H. P. Seely; M. J. W. H. W. Brownfield; M. of A., J. Lipsett; prelate, G. C. Cameron; guard, J. G. Henderson; under guard, G. B. Speight; master of exchequer, W. W. White; master of finance, E. W. White; and the ceremonial motion pictures were enjoyed in the Palace Theatre and a programme of songs and readings was carried out. This included solos by Thomas Guy, DeWitt Cairns, F. J. Irvine, a reading by E. R. W. Ingraham and selections from an orchestra. T. C. Cochran acted as accompanist for the evening.

PROHIBITION IN U. S.

(New York Evening Post.)

It is not altogether a paradox to say that the partial failure of prohibition enforcement during the two years the law has been in effect holds out the promise of an ultimate satisfactory application of the law. Figures cited yesterday before the House Appropriations Committee show that the country has been exhausting the stocks of liquor in bond. In January, 1920, the warehouses had nearly 60,000,000 gallons of liquor in bond. On July 1, 1921, the supply had been reduced to 42,500,000 gallons. The figures show two things plainly: that the country has been wet and that it cannot go on being wet to anything like the same degree for more than two years. Believers in prohibition might not inconceivably be content to have the outflow from the warehouses even larger than it has been on the theory that the wetter now the dryer two years from now.

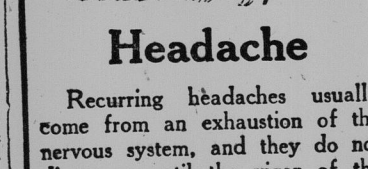

There are three sources of supply for the thirsty today: the bonded warehouses, imports from abroad, and the home-made goods. The last factor is the hardest to deal with from the outside but largely provides its own solution. It must be a very insistent drinker who will run the risks of the stuff which has such a notable death toll already to its credit. When the warehouse supplies have been exhausted the large-scale manufacture of liquor outside the law can be easily dealt with. There remains the problem of importations. This, in a little while, will become the one big problem. Enforcement agencies, both Federal and State, will have to be concentrated at the ports and along the frontiers.

It is a test of endurance and patience between the law and its violators, and there is little doubt of which will win out in the end; this quite aside from the fact that whether the law wins or loses it is there to be enforced.

Headache

Recurring headaches usually come from an exhaustion of the nervous system, and they do not disappear until the vigor of the nerve cells is restored by such a building treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Temporary relief by use of powders is often obtained at an enormous expense to the nervous system and the general health.

Get the nerves right and the headaches will not return.

Mrs. W. J. Pearce, Nunn St., Cobourg, Ont., writes:—

"My system became run-down and I suffered greatly with pain in my head. I could get my work done. A friend advised the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and after taking the first box I found quite an improvement in my condition. I continued using them until I had taken about seven boxes, and they speedily, completely relieved the pain in my head."

SOLVE INDIAN ROPE TRICK.

Hypnotism Suggested—Rope Seems to Hang in Air—But Camera Proves It Doesn't—English Colonel Investigates.

Bombay, India, Dec. 17.—(From a Special Correspondent of The Telegram.)—Most Canadians have heard of the famous "boy and rope" trick, alleged to be performed by Indian jugglers. A rope is first thrown up into the air, where it remains suspended in the air, and then the juggler orders a small boy to climb the rope, which he does, vanishing into space. Later the lad appears on the ground, surrounded by a crowd of spectators.

Lately a Colonel Barnard, well known in Calcutta, resolved to solve this mystery, which has baffled Europeans ever since the first white travelers set foot in this land of the Great Mogul.

After great difficulty a juggler was found who professed to be able to perform the trick, and who was willing to show the secret of his feat. The colonel was accompanied by one friend only. The juggler followed him.

Naked save for a loin cloth, the juggler took his stand, together with a small boy, in the centre of the courtyard, and the boy threw up the rope from the Indian fakir's two brasses.

After much saluting and much waving of hands the juggler was judged by the boy to be in the mood to perform the trick. The boy threw up the rope, and it went up and up till their eyes could no longer follow it.

The small boy commenced climbing up the rope, suspended to nothing. The camera clicked. The boy and the rope disappeared from view, and all the time the smoke from the embers in the braziers seemed to be coming out of the courtyard from view.

The juggler now professed to be angry with the boy for his rlistoriness and started in pursuit up the rope hanging on nothing. Again the camera clicked. The juggler then pulled the rope down and rolled it up, when suddenly the boy reappeared, and together with his master, began saluting profoundly. The trick was over.

Camera Not Tricked.

The colonel returned home completely mystified and determined to set to work to develop his negatives. The results were astounding. Neither the juggler nor the boy nor the rope had moved at all. The photos of the ascending rope and of the boy climbing it were completely blank, showing the details of the courtyard and nothing else.

So short, the camera had not been turned, though the senses of the two Englishmen had, both presuming that the juggler and the boy were not arising from the braziers.

It is hard to drag along with a head that aches and pains all the time. In many cases out of ten, persistent headaches are due to poisoned blood, the blood being rendered impure through some derangement of the stomach, liver or bowels, but so matter which organ is to blame the cause must be removed before permanent relief can be obtained.

which has been on the market for the last forty-five years, removes the cause of the headache by starting the organs of elimination acting freely, and when the impurities are carried off from the system, purified blood circulates in the brain cells, and the aches and pains vanish.

Miss Clara Murphy, Centre Dumfries, Ont., writes:—My system was generally run down and my blood out of order. I suffered a great deal from severe pains in my head which made me feel very ill. I purchased a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and after taking it I felt a decided improvement in my health. I took another bottle and it has done me an enormous amount of good. I have recommended it to some of my friends who were in a similar condition and they all say it is a wonderful remedy."

Marmola Prescription Tablets are made exclusively in accordance with the famous Marmola Prescription. You reduce steadily and safely.

So, if you would find the true approach to the height where only a score and four may repose, you will not go to the crowded theatre or to the lounge which everybody is reading. You must revert to the times when Barrie was in the making.

Scanty savings sent him to Dumfries Academy and then to Edinburgh University. He was to be a famous lawyer, and if he had been more like others of his station and education, the old folks might have prayed that he would pay his way in a pulpit. He got a job as a leader writer on a Nottingham daily paper, which managed to pay him a shilling a week. He broke from that drudgery into free lance journalism, writing sketches which were Barrie's thoughts and therefore different from the things which they were displayed.

His mother feared for his morals when he began to circulate among the unemployed. She was not the only mother who worried for nothing.

Thirty-five years ago a Scotch minister whose death drove him from a pastorate started in London The British Weekly, a religious paper with brains to burn and interest to spare. Robertson Nicoll, always on the lookout for unusual skill, read a caricature of a Scotch assembly in the Weekly. Nicoll persuaded him to use a name. He chose Gavin Ogilvy, after his mother. That was how we got the Auld Licht and The Window, and other everlasting fare.

TEACHERS AND RELIGION

Rev. Ernest William Barnes, canon of Westminster, who stroked the teachers' conference, admitted that about 80 per cent of the population in England was indifferent to Christian worship. He said that the ultimate power of religious influence rested not with the clergy, but with the teachers, through many thoughtful people considered that the churches were destined eventually to become a profound influence upon the religious thought of the world.

The canon said the Old Testament contained a profound, defective history, half savage morality and obsolete forms of worship, based on primitive ideas of God and crude science. He had reluctantly come to the conclusion that it was highly dangerous to use, for didactic purposes, such allegories as the creation of women, Daniel in the lions' den and Jonah and the whale, which encouraged the prevalent belief that religious stories had a low standard of truth.

WHERE OPALS ARE FOUND

Ninety Per Cent. of World's Opals Come From Lightning Ridge, Near Sydney, Australia.

Ninety per cent. of all opals in the world are found on a barren desert called Lightning Ridge, a short journey from Sydney, Australia, according to E. Gregory Shearman, leading opal merchant of Australia, who passed through Lightning Ridge recently with his wife and sister on the way back to Sydney after a two-year trip around the world.

"No one knows just how opals came to be formed," said Mr. Shearman. "One theory is that they were formed on the borders of an immense inland sea by the filtration of minerals carried in solution formed by the stagnant waters. But no theory quite accounts for all the peculiar formations of the stones."

"The government of Australia has forbidden any company to take control of the opal fields. The prospecting, therefore, is done by individuals. Usually two men form a partnership, buy a camping outfit and go and dig as long as their supplies last. There are not very many of them; about 800, I should say."

"One opal was found in the first two minutes of digging that sold in London for $70,000. (This was the famous Aurora Australia, which was purchased by Mr. Shearman during his trading days). There was another case of two Scotchmen who worked for six months without finding a single stone. A casual passerby turned over with his foot some shaft and found an opal worth $5,000. By the law of the ridge finders are keepers and the unlucky Scots were so disgusted that they gave up prospecting."

Prohibition never will be popular on Lightning Ridge, according to Mr. Shearman.

There are some wild characters along the ridge," said Mr. Shearman, "but the majority of men are law-abiding. Your prohibition would never be a success though, for there is a tradition that the men who drink have the best luck in finding opals. Strangely enough, the statistics seem to bear out this belief."

Mr. Shearman and his family took luncheon with Mr. and Mrs. L. Brackett Bishop, 4239 Drexel Blvd., whom they met in India and Paris.

LIGHTNING EXCHANGE

Here is a story from Vienna illustrative of the quaint conduct of the krona recently. At Frau Sacher's famous restaurant the other day an American was having an opulent luncheon. He paid his bill—one dollar—to the head waiter, who gave him 2,000 kronen change. After settling the bill the American ordered some more coffee, and having drunk it asked for a new bill. The waiter, without having him a bill, immediately put 500 kronen in front of him.

The American was surprised. "What's this?" he said. "I want to pay for my coffee."

"That's all right, sir," said the waiter. "The dollar exchange has gone up by 1,000 points since you paid your first bill."

RINGS OF DEATH

The employment of rings for criminal purposes was common in olden days. Hannibal, we are told, from a fear of being delivered up to the Romans, swallowed poison, which, to be prepared for the worst, he carried with him in the hollow of a ring. In those days hollow rings were put together with a degree of skill far beyond the modern standard. Sometimes the stone, which was concealed beneath the stone, which opened with a spring. It required a small space for the violent poisons.

WHY IS IT

that chronic skin diseases which have defied all other treatments yield to Zam-Buk?

It is because Zam-Buk is germicidal, and also has such power of penetration that it reaches the disease in the underlying tissues and cures from the "root" up. That is the only way a permanent cure can be effected.

Mr. H. C. Buckley of 461 E. Broadway, Portland, Oregon, says: "For chronic skin diseases there is nothing like Zam-Buk. For fifteen years I had eczema, and I tried an endless number of so-called 'eczema cures,' but nothing was capable of curing me permanently until I used Zam-Buk. Ten months' use of Zam-Buk has effected a complete cure."

For ulcers, abscesses, boils, ring worm, blood-poisoning, piles, burns, scalds and cuts, Zam-Buk is equally good. All dealers or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. 50c. box, 3 for $1.25.

HOW TO DARKEN GRAY HAIR

A Cincinnati Barber Tells How to Make a Remedy for Gray Hair.

A well known resident of Cincinnati, Ohio, who has been a barber for more than forty years, recently made the following statement:

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home at very little cost, that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of Jobal, a small box of Oris Compound and 1-4 ounce glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It is easy to use, does not color the most delicate scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."
