COSTS PROHIBIT COMPETITION BY U. S. VESSELS

Standards of Living Higher —Large Crews and Greater Wages are Necessary While Expenses Increase.

(New York Post)

One of the subordinate points in the problem of building up an American merchant marine, but one of which the shipping man has to give very practical consideration, is the question of where the crews are to be found to man the ships. Ordinarily his general remarks about the greater cost of operating American ships, as compared with foreign vessels. He speaks if the American standards of living as one of the reasons for high costs and leaves the rest to be understood. Occasionally one finds a shipping man who goes a little deeper in the subject and then the problem becomes more acute.

For example, an operator tells of a boat he sent to European waters with, of course, a crew supplied by the Shipping Board. The chief engineer did not understand the condensing apparatus and used sea water in the boilers. The vessel managed to wallow home, but thousands of dollars had to be spent on repairs as soon as she got back to this country.

Another operator says: "If half of the Shipping Board's fleet were disposed of in some way, so that the ships were no longer any concern of this country, we might manage by pooling all the crews of the entire fleet to get competent men to man half the ships we had left."

Then one comes to a ship owner, a man whose various lines represent an investment of many millions of dollars. "Shipping," he says, "is an international business. It is not a business that can be confined within the limits of one country and flourish on lines laid down by that country and according to the standards of that country. It is a business that has to go out and meet the competition of the world and according to the standards of its competitors.

"American shipping can't meet international competition because our costs are too high. And our costs are higher than those of our competitors because our laws compel us to carry a larger personnel on our ships than other countries have to have and because our standards of living are higher. Our people of every class, beginning with the laborer, live a little better, and some of them a whole lot better, than the people in the class in any other country in the world. The distinction is especially marked in the laboring class, and that is where the ship's crews come from. Consequently we have to pay better wages to our sailors.

Can't Get Crews.

"But there is another way in which our standards of living operate against our shipping business and effect it more severely than the rate of wages. We can't get the crews. We couldn't get competent American crews to man the Shipping Board fleet even if we could afford to pay the wages in competition with other countries.

"There is no inducement for an American boy to go to sea. He can't see anything ahead of him by going to sea. Ambition is part of the American standard if living. An American boy is not content to be a shoemaker because his father and his grandfather before him were shoemakers. Trades don't run in families for generation after generation in this country. The American boy wants to get out and start something and get somewhere.

"Perhaps the American boy's father was a sailor. But the boy himself sees that his father worked for wages all his life, while the money was made by the man who stayed on shore and owned and operated the ships. The boy may want to go into the shipping business, but he doesn't want to go into it as a sailor. He wants to be the owner and operator on shore.

"And that is the big handicap that our American standards are to our shipping business. Ambition is planted in every American boy's heart, and he can see a thousand opportunities on shore for one at sea. We've got to pay a lot of money in wages to overcome that handicap.

"The only place we've been able to make our shipping business pay for many years has been in the coasting trade, and that is because our coasting trade is thoroughly protected. Foreigners can't get in on it to compete with us.

"If we could get the same protection in our overseas trade, we might make it pay. But we can't get it. The farmer is against us. There is no use in the shipping man going to Washington and saying to Congress, 'A hundred years ago, when our shipping was protected, 90-odd per cent. of our foreign commerce was carried in American bottoms. Today, without protection, only about 7 per cent. of our foreign commerce is carried in American botoms.' The farmer says he doesn't care who carries his grain to Liverpool so long as he gets cheap freight rates, and what the farmer says goes with Congress.

BRONCHIAL ASTHMA

Choking and Gasping for Breath Relieved by "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MRS. PENNINGTON

New Rockland, P. Q.

"In 1919, I was taken with Bronchial Asthma and no one knows what I suffered with it during the winter. I began having Choking Spells—gasping for breath and could not speak. I would have one of these bad spells in the evening, one during the night, and one in the morning. The doctor said he could do nothing for me.

"In the spring fo 1920, I started taking 'Fruit-a-tives' and in a few days, the choking spells stopped, and I have had none since May 7th, 1920. I have so wanted to tell other sufferers who have the same trouble about 'Fruit-a-tives' for I know how they must suffer.

"Some thought the Asthma would come back on me as winter came on but it has not, thanks to 'Fruit-a-tives.'

"Mrs. J. M. PENNINGTON."

Mother Why Don't You Take Nuxated Iron

And Be Strong and Well and Have Nice Rosy Cheeks Instead of Being Nervous and Irritable All The Time and Looking So Haggard and Old?—The Doctor Gave Some to Susie Smith's Mother and She Was Worse Off Than You are and Now She Looks Just Fine.

NUXATED IRON WILL INCREASE THE STRENGTH AND ENDURANCE OF WEAK, NERVOUS, CAREWORN, HAGGARD LOOKING WOMEN IN TWO WEEKS' TIME IN MANY INSTANCES.

THE CHILD'S APPEAL

"There can be no Beautiful, Healthy Rosy Cheeked women without Iron."

F. KING, M. D.

"There can be no healthy, beautiful, rosy cheeked women without iron," says Dr. Ferdinand King, a New York Physician and Medical Author. "I have strongly emphasized the fact that doctors should prescribe more organic iron—nuxated iron—for their nervous, rundown, weak, haggard-looking women patients. Pallor means anaemia. The skin of the anaemic woman is pale, the flesh flabby. The muscles lack tone, brain fags and the memory fails, and often they become weak, nervous, irritable, despondent and melancholy. When the iron goes from the blood of women, the roses go from their cheeks.

"In the most common foods of America, the starches, sugars, table syrups, candies, polished rice, white bread, soda crackers, biscuits, macaroni, spaghetti, tapioca, sago, farina, degerminated cornmeal, no longer is iron to be found. Refining processes have removed the iron of Mother Earth from these impoverished foods, and silly methods of home cookery, by throwing down the waste pipe the water in which our vegetables are cooked are responsible for another grave iron loss.

"Therefore, you should supply the iron deficiency in your food by using some form of organic iron, just as you would use salt when your food has not enough salt.

"I have used Nuxated Iron widely in my own practice in most severe aggravated conditions with unfailing results. I have induced many other physicians to give it a trial, all of whom have given me most surprising reports in regard to its great power as a health and strength builder."

Dr. Schuyler C. Jaques, Visiting Surgeon of St. Elizabeth's Hospital, New York City, said: "I have never before given out any medical information or advice for publication as I ordinarily do not believe in it. But in the case of Nuxated Iron I feel I would be remiss in my duty not to mention it. I have taken it myself and given it to my patients with most surprising and satisfactory results. And those who wish quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance will find it a most remarkable and wonderfully effective remedy."

If people would only take Nuxated Iron when they feel weak or run-down, instead of dosing themselves with habit-forming drugs, stimulants and alcoholic beverages there are probably thousands who might readily build up their red blood corpuscles, increase their physical energy and get themselves into a condition to ward off the millions of disease germs that are almost continually around us.

It is surprising how many people suffer from iron deficiency and do not know it. Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you good. You don't get the strength out of it, and as a consequence you become weak, pale and sickly looking, just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength again and see how much you have gained. Numbers of nervous, run-down people who were ailing all the while have most astonishingly increased their strength and endurance simply by taking iron in the proper form, and this, after they had in some cases been going on for months without getting benefit from anything. But don't take the old forms of reduced iron, iron acetate, or tincture of iron simply to save a few cents. The iron demanded by Mother Nature for the red coloring matter in the blood of her children, is alas! not that kind of iron. You must take iron in a form that can be easily absorbed and assimilated to do you any good, otherwise it may prove worse than useless.

You can tell the women with plenty of iron in their blood—beautiful healthy rosy cheeked women full of Life, Vim and Vitality

Many an athlete and prize-fighter has won the day simply because he knew the secret of great strength and endurance which comes from having plenty of iron in the blood; while many another has gone down in inglorious defeat simply for the lack of iron.

Dr. Ferdinand King, New York Physician and Medical Author, says that Physicians should prescribe more organic iron—Nuxated Iron—for their patients—Anaemia—iron deficiency is the greatest curse to the health, strength, vitality and beauty of the modern American Women—Sounds warning against use of metallic iron, which may injure the teeth, corrode the stomach, and in many cases do more harm than good; advises use of only Nuxated Iron.

MANUFACTURERS' NOTE: Nuxated Iron, which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians is not a secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists. Unlike the older inorganic iron products it is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, make them black, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results to every purchaser or they will refund your money. It is dispensed in this city by all good druggists.
