The Anti-Confederate ticket at the latere dvices-Messrs. Thomson, Boyd, Gillmor, fill. The 'Advocate' leaves out the names Brown and Donald ! also on the same ide; are they not opposed to confederation, and their cards pub ished in his paper?—
Pair play, is their right, and the time was, when Mr. Frown would not have been sent shen Mr. Frown would not have been sent o the right about so cevalierly. Perhaps he "farmers and working men" to whom he lluded in his speech the other night may ot ferget him.

WARMING UP. The political atmosphers with the lengthof thought is retreating before the wermth of feeling. Intellect is at a discount, and passion at a premium. Words are inspired with fervour, producing gesticulation and eneral nervous excitement. We take sides , re fling arguments at each other a heads; we ralk about with unsheathed deggers -- a Ro and for an Oliver - a pro for a seen. Wee e to the man who ventures a salm opinion. le is on the fence. He is a Judas or a Jesuor a sneak, Each side hits him hard. that if he may have some peace he must ke a side in the great war. We suppose this is very much the history t all great popular political movements. o grasp its far reaching conculsions. The realer part fail to apprehead the meaning of the argument. The orator takes the slace of the reasoner. Men's selfishness s appealed to, their passions are excited, heir hopes and fears are aroused, and those tho are most gifted with "the fatal facility if talk" lead the multitude whithersoever hey will,

We would strongly advise our seaders hat it is not necessary to get overheated If ou do not see your way and your duty clearwith reference to this great question, you sill not mend your mental vision by using our passions as spectacles. They have been enerally noted for distorted views of things. the above is copied from the Colonial Pres system and is a true picture.

Richmond Whig of the 20th says it was Wheeler who was whipped at Aiken, a r Luguete, instead of Kilpatrick. The same paper says a formidable Federal appedition has left Newburn for Kinston N.

Richmond Examiner proposes that the deverment takes as much cotton and tobacco will pay for the prosecution of the war. It says the situation of the country is too seious to waste time in windy denunciations. We have heard nothing here of the less of he Galeta.
