EXILED FROM HOME.

It is said that at this time there are twenty-one ex-convicts residing in different parts of Europe, none of them in the country they once ruled.

Pius IX., the late pontiff, was driven from Rome during the stormy days of 1848. He fled in disguise to Gaeta, and remained there until restored by foreign aid.

Emperor Charles V. lived in voluntary exile during the last years of his life. His chief occupation in his retirement was devising new ways to tempt his gluttonous appetite.

A great many of the popes have been forced into exile, generally by enemies among the turbulent Roman populace. A few were restored, but most of them died in exile.

Marie de Medici, the mother of three queens, was driven into exile by the influence and address of Cardinal Richelieu. She lived in great poverty, often wanting the necessities of life.

Jerome Bonaparte remained in exile from 1815 to the revolution of 1848, when he was restored to his military rank and made governor of the Invalides. He died in Paris in 1860.

Whole families have sometimes been exiled at one time. The Stuart family was twice driven from England, and at different times the Bourbons and the Bonapartes have been expelled from France.

MUCH IN LITTLE.

Understand your antagonist before you answer him.—Aton.

Better to go to bed supperless than to get up in debt.—Spanish Proverb.

The world would be a place of peace if men were all pessimists.—Rusk.

The more one speaks of himself, the less he likes to hear another talk of.—Lafayette.

What seems to us the merest accident springs from the deepest source of destiny.—Schiller.

Content can soothe, where'er by fortune placed; can rear a garden in a desert waste.—J. K. White.

And yet I know out of the dark must grow, sooner or later, whatever is fair, for the heavens have willed it so.—Aton.

All men have their frailties; and whoever looks for a friend without imperfections will never find what he seeks.—Channing.

It is far more important to me to preserve an unblemished conscience than to compass any object however great.—Channing.

It was as if the spirit of life in nature were but withholding any too precipitate revelation of itself, in its slow, wise, maturing work.—W. Foster.

FARM NOTES.

Grasshoppers make good egg food. As a rule spinach is a very profitable crop.

In butter color and flavor have no relation to each other.

The ashes of the corn cob contain a large amount of potash, those which lay dark.

Overfeeding is the most fruitful cause of a failure to lay.

It is said that the white eggs are more profitable than those which lay dark.

An eight-frame hive for bees is now preferred to the ten-frame hive which has been so long in use.

A great deal of wet land along the banks of streams and ponds can be used for growing the basket willow.

A solution of alkali of soda is said to be a perfect preservative of eggs, and does not injure them in any way.

There is no better grain for poultry any time of the year than wheat, except when fattening. When ready to fatten corn should be used.

ODDS AND ENDS.

The habit that merchants have of fixing prices at $4.99, $3.49, 99 cents, etc., has called attention to the need of a 9-cent piece as a convenience and to save time lost in waiting for change.

An original certificate of membership in the Order of Cincinnati, issued to a signatory of the declaration of Independence and signed by George Washington, was recently sold at Wilmington, Del., for $25.

A plant in Sumatra called the Bellis Arnoldi is said to bear the largest flower in the world. Some of the largest are thirty-six inches in diameter, and the central cup will hold six quarts of water.

Most of the so-called marble houses of the Rome of Augustus were not such in reality. The plasterer's art had then reached a high state of perfection, and gave a stucco the appearance of the finest marble.

OF GENERAL INTEREST.

In New York city it takes people from twelve to sixteen seconds to get into and out of cars. In London it requires thirty seconds.

In the sixteenth century no lady was considered in full dress unless she had a mirror at her breast. It was oval in shape, about four by six inches in size.

The catacombs of Rome contain the remains of about six million human beings, and those of Paris about three million. The latter were formerly stone quarries.

London bridge is nine hundred and twenty feet long, fifty-six feet wide and fifty-five feet in height. It has five semi-elliptical arches, the centre one being one hundred and fifty feet.

MISSING LINKS.

The best bricks in the world are made by the tribes of Central Asia.

Yes, for a doctor.—Life.

Mistress—Did you tell the lady I was out? Ward—Yes, ma'am. Mistress—Did she seem to have any doubts about it? Ward—No, ma'am. She said she knew you wasn't.—Harlem Life.

"But what is this new story like?" "Lily! Never was anything like it! That's the reason it's so delightfully absurd, don't you know. There isn't a natural character or probable situation in it. Oh, you must read it!"—Boston Transcript.

THE ORIGIN OF THINGS.

The design of the American flag was probably borrowed from the family arms of Gen. Washington, which consisted of three stars in the upper portion and three stripes across the bottom.

Watches originated at Nuremberg as early as 1477. They were at first called Nuremberg eggs, which they resembled both in shape and size. They were often fitted into the tops of walking-sticks.

The first English book on stenography, so far as known, was written by Dr. Timothy Leary in 1588. Its earlier invention is attributed to the Latin poet Eranus, to Seneca, Cicero and several others.

Giants are said to have been used by the Chinese before the beginning of the Christian era. The oldest dated piece of European artillery bears an inscription declaring that the gun was cast in 1365.

Marine insurance was practiced in Rome B. C. 45. It was very general in Europe before the discovery of America, and is altogether probable that the ships of Columbus were insured for their full value.

Cods of arms were first employed in England during the reign of Richard I., and became hereditary in families in the following century. They originated from the painted banners carried by knights and nobles.

RELIGION AND REFORM.

The rate of growth of the Christians in India is more than double that of the population.

Ground will be broken this fall for the erection of the American Methodist university at Washington.

It is stated that out of the forty thousand men employed by the railroads of Canada and United States only about one thousand attend church regularly.

The evangelistic work conducted by Rev. John McCall at Africa has been eminently successful. He addressed the natives through interpreters.

An anti-cigarette crusade has been begun in Jersey city, where about four hundred pupils of the schools are now wearing the badge of the Anti-Cigarette League.

The Church Missionary Society has opened a medical mission station at Bannu, on the borders of Afghanistan, a country which has been almost closed to missionaries as Tibet.

James Fenimore Cooper has been called the Scotch of the Sea, from his stories of marine life.

Charles I. was called the Man of Blood by the Puritans and the Royal Martyr by the Royalists.

Philip Sydney was the Post of Kissing because of the amatory character of much of his verse.

Henry Fielding was called the Prince of Novelists, from his skill in depicting character in fiction.

Haydn was called the Father of Symphony, from the prominence he gave that form of composition.

Charles James Fox was called the Man of the People, from his generally taking the opposition in politics.

William Waldorf Astor has an income of eight million nine hundred thousand dollars a year.

Princess Tom is an Alaska Indian woman. She is the richest of her race in the far northwest. She is a shrewd trader and wears upon her arm thirty bracelets made of twenty-dollar gold pieces.

M. Schneider, the head of the great Crenset foundries, was married the other day in Paris. Crenset has grown in sixty years from a village of five hundred inhabitants to a town of thirty thousand people—larger than Krupp's town of Essen.

Henry W. Cramp, secretary of the great Cramp Ship-building company, is an enthusiastic botanist, and is particularly interested in ferns and palms. His father, Charles H.
