the portrait of the duchess, given herewith, and that of the duke, which adorns the first page.

"Emphatically a successe" was the verdict universally expressed by the immense gathering of people who both witnessed the nuptials of Miss Edith Burpee and Mr. George K. McLeod on Wednesday evening last, and also attended the At Home held by Mrs. Isaac Burpee at Bellevue, Mount Pleasant, after the ceremony. Scarcely, if ever, has such a brilliant society event taken place in St. John, or one that has caused such deep interest. Tickets of admission to the ceremony at St. Stephen's church were issued to upwards of 600 people, and those who were not fortunate enough to receive them thronged the entrance or lined the sidewalk trying to catch a glimpse of the bride.

The bride, who entered the church, leaning on the arm of her nucle, Mr. E. R. Burpee, looked charming in a gown of rich white satin, with trimmings of crepe and ostrich feathers.

She was attended by five bridesmaids: Miss Nan Burpee, Miss Belle Nicholson, Miss Louise Burpee, and the Misses Drury. The first three named wore elegant costumes of pale green mervielleux and crepe, while the others wore similar costumes of white. The bouquets of both bride and droed with the ribons.

The groom was supported by his brother, Mr. W. K. McLeod, while Mr. R. R. Ritchie and Mr. Arthur Adams acted as ushers.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Geo. Bruce, assisted by Rev Dr. Macrae, the responses of both bride and groom being clearly heard throughout the church.

As the wedding party feet the cauter. No. 3 North End battery, of which the groom was captain, fired a salute of fourteen guns from the height opposite the church. After congratulations had been re-ceived and the bridal costumes had been excanaged for travelling ones, Mr. and Mrs. McLeod, accom-panied by bridesmaids, groomsman, and ushers drove to the Western train, by which they left for New York on their bridal tour amid showers of rice and the thunder of tornedios. and the thunder of torpedoes.

The bride's travelling dress was a tailor made costume of brown and grey check with toque to match.
The scene at the residence, Mount Pleasant, was a gay one. The rich dresses of the ladies present, the tasteful decoration of the rooms with choice flowers, and the array of gorgeous wedding gifts, tended to make the affair one of the handsomest ever seen in St John. It would be useless to try to describe the many handsome toilettes worn, but I noticed very many new ones, and though handsome were made in the prevailing plain style.

Mrs. Burpee received her guests in a gown of black velvet and jet, flowers of white mauve.
Mrs. Carruthers, wore heliotrope broade, trimmed with crepe, and diamond ornaments.
Mrs. McLeod's dress was black velvet, with cream front, Ler flowers were Marechal Neil roses.
The band of the Artillery furnished music for a long programme of dances, which was so much enjoyed by those paesent that they seemed to ill spare the time to partake of the sumptuous supper provided for them. Among those present were:

Sir Leonard and Lady Tilley, Messrs. L. and H. Tilley. Dr. and Mrs. and Miss Barker, Judge, Mrs.

Hall, the Misses Hall (Rothesay), Mr. and Mrs. James Robertson, the Misses Robertson.

and Mrs. James Robertson, the Misses Robertson.
The bride and groom were the recipients of most costly and elegant gifts, which were artistically arranged on a long billiard table for the inspection of the guests. My memory fails me to describe all I saw, but I will mention a few:

From the officers of the N. B. B. G. A., a handsome silver soup tureen, with the name of bride and groom inscribed.

From her mother, Mrs. Isaac Burpee, a diamond crescent.

From Mr. and Mrs. J. Carruthers, a cheque.
