

SONG OF THE BEES.

We watch for the light of the morn to break,
And colour the eastern sky
With its blended hues of saffron and lake,
Then say to each other, "Awake! awake!
For our winter's honey is all to make!
And our bread for a long supply."

And off we hie to the hill and dell,
To the field to the meadow and bower;
We love in the columbine's horn to dwell,
To dip in the lily with snow-white bell
To search the balm in its odorous cell,
The mint and the rosemary flower.

Long Beards.—The longest beard recorded in history, was that of John Mayo, painter to the Emperor Charles V. Though he was a tall man, it is said that his beard was of such a length, that he could tread upon it. He was very vain of his beard, and usually fastened it with a ribbon to his button-hole; and sometimes he would untie it by command of the Emperor, who took a great pleasure in seeing the wind blow it in the faces of his courtiers.

An honest man is believed without an oath, for his reputation swears for him.
