By Lydia E. Pinkham's

Toronto.—I gladly give you my testimonial in favor of your wonderful medicines. Last October I wrote to you for advice as I was completely run down, had bearing down sensation in the lower part of bowels, backache, and pain in the side. I also suffered terribly from gas.

I also took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my baby was born, and I recommend it highly to all pregnant women.—Mrs. E. WANDBY, 92 Logan Ave., Toronto, Ont.

A "Billet-Doux."

She was a winsome country lass,
So William on a brief vacation,
The time more pleasantly to pass,
Essayed flirtation.
And while they strolled in twilight dim,
As near the time for parting drew,
Asked if she would have from him
A "billet-doux."

Now, this simple maid of French knew naught,
But doubting not 'twas something nice,
Shyly she lifted her pretty head,
Her rosy lips together drew, and coyly said,
"Yes, Billy—do,"
And William—did.

The Wrong One.

A young man had been calling now and then on a young lady, when one night, as he sat in the parlor waiting for her to come down, her mother entered the room instead, and asked him in a very grave, stern way what his intentions were.

He turned very red, and was about to stammer some incoherent reply, when suddenly the young lady called down from the head of the stairs:
"Mamma, mamma, that is not the one."

you will hand around with the hock after soup. You understand—hock and inferior sherry after soup?"

"Yes, sir, perfectly," responded the boy in buttons.

The evening came, and with it the guests. Everything went on swimmingly till the boy went round the table asking each of the guests, "Hock or inferior sherry?"—Tit-Bits.

Well Done.

"Have you bought your turkey yet, Mrs. Beaning?" asked the pale boarder, three days before Thanksgiving day.

"Bought my turkey yet?" she exclaimed. "You don't suppose that I'm going to the expense of feeding a turkey from now till the twenty-eighth, I hope?"

"Oh, I didn't mean that," the pale boarder hastened to say. "I was merely thinking how much more tender it would be than last year's turkey was, if you would buy it now and keep it in the oven until the day of the feast."—Harper's Bazaar.

It Was His Only Tie.

One morning, as Mark Twain returned from a neighborhood morning call, sans necktie, his wife met him at the door with the exclamation: "There, Sam, you have been over to the Stoves's again without a necktie! It's really disgraceful the way you neglect your dress!"

Her husband said nothing, but went up to his room.

A few minutes later his neighbor—Mrs. S.—was summoned to the door by a messenger, who presented her with a small box neatly done up. She opened it and found a black silk necktie, accompanied by the following note: "Here is a necktie. Take it out and look at it. I think I stayed half an hour this morning. At the end of that time will you kindly return it, as it is the only one I have?"—Mark Twain."

Clearly Understood.

They seldom gave dinner parties, but what they gave were small. But they liked things done decently and in order, and generally had the best. On the afternoon of one of the little parties the host summoned the boy in buttons and said to him: "Now, John, you must be very careful how you hand round the wine."

"Yes, sir."
"These bottles with the black seals are the best, and those with the red seals the inferior sherry. The best sherry is for after dinner; the inferior sherry they can be heard to a considerable distance. When a boy hollers he opens his big mouth like frogs, but girls hold their tongue till they are spoken to, and they answer respectable, and tell just how it was. A boy thinks himself clever because he can wade where the water is deep. When the boy grows up he is called a husband, and he stops wading and stays out nights, but the grown up girl is a widow and keeps house."

A Social Economist.

"Dis prosperity is all fictitious!" said Meandering Mike.

"What makes you t'ink it is?" asked Plodding Pete.

"Because dey keep on offerin' us roast turkey an' cider de same as dey did last November. If we was pergressin as we ort de hand-outs would include terrapin an' champagne by dis time."—Washington Star.

Resigned to His Fate.

In the early Indiana days, when both judges and attorneys literally "rode the circuit," a newly elected judge, noted for his lack of personal beauty, was plodding along on horseback between two county seats one fine summer day. Passing through a piece of woods he was suddenly confronted by a hunter, who unslung his squirrel rifle from his shoulder and ordered the horseman to dismount. Somewhat startled by this peremptory command and the fact that the hunter was, if possible, even more de-
