An Evening Out with Roger Doris

Usually I don't mention the same place two weeks in a row but in this case I think it warrants the exception to the rule.

I mentioned very briefly last week about Wally the new owner of Piccinini's Pizzeria and Tavern on Islington Ave. at Albion Road. I wrote of his likeness to Kojak and how he was handing out lollipops to his customers.

Since then I have dropped in to see Wally and his lovely wife Margaret and have found that there are a couple of new changes since my last visit.

First, he is handing out what he calls 'wallypops' not lollipops.

But what really impressed me was the pictures on the wall of the dining room. Wally has taken pictures of dozens of his regular customers and has framed the 8x10 color prints and hung them on the wall of the dining room. He is steadily taking the pictures and the collection on the wall grows larger daily.

I have seen many different promotional ideas in my day but this one looks like one of the best I have seen.

During the evening I watched as customers proudly pointed out their picture on the wall to the friends they had brought in with them.

Incidentally I tried the veal with melted Italian cheese and Italian sauce. It was great and quite understandable why it is the favorite dish of the dining room.

If you should happen to be relaxing and enjoying the food in the dining room at Piccinini's some day, don't be surprised if someone looking like Kojak walks up to you and says "freeze I've got you covered" with a camera that is.

I would like to take this opportunity to wish Mississauga Radio CJMR 1190 a Very Happy Birthday.

CJMR was three years old this past weekend and fortunately I was able to participate in a small way at their birthday party.

The Toronto Organ Centre and Yamaha organs sponsored CJMR to do a live remote broadcast from Sherway Gardens this past Saturday. George Grant, CJMR's amiable DJ was handling the broadcasting and was assisted by Sally Jones, the station manager and many others from CJMR.

Many celebrities from the world of entertainment dropped by to be interviewed on the air and to hand out records and other prizes to the crowd in the mall.

Among those who were there was Mr. Happy Music
