POULTRY YARD

Sell Eggs By Weight

A. McNab, Ontario Co., Ont.

Legislation that would make it compulsory to sell eggs by weight in Ontario would meet with my hearty approval. A couple of days ago I went down to Oshawa to market my eggs. At the same time, as the merchant was receiving the produce of my flock of Plymouth Rocks, large brown eggs that would do any customer's heart good to see, he also received a big basket of small White Leghorn eggs, not two-thirds the size of mine. No customer would ever hesitate in choosing my eggs. But we were both paid the same price.

I do not consider that this is just. That merchant, if he were to give us advice on egg production, would advise us to produce large eggs. His customers always call for large eggs. If he really wants to encourage us in producing large eggs, why doesn't he buy them by weight? And if the government wishes to encourage the production of large eggs, why don't they make buying by weight and selling by weight compulsory?

By Dozen or By Weight

Why Keep Poultry

Why should the farmer find a place for poultry on his farm? 1. Because he ought by their means to convert a great deal of the waste of his farm into money in the shape of eggs and chickens for market.

2. Because with intelligent management, they ought to be all-year revenue producers, with the exception of perhaps two months during moulting period.

3. Because poultry will yield him a quicker return for his capital invested than any of the other departments of agriculture.

4. Because the manure from the poultry house will make a valuable compost for use in other vegetable garden or orchard. The birds themselves, if allowed to run in plum or apple orchard, will destroy all injurious insect life.

5. Because while cereals and fruits can only be successfully grown in certain sections, poultry can be raised for table use or layers of eggs in all parts of the country.

6. Because poultry-raising is an employment in which the farmer's wife and daughters can engage and leave him free to attend to other departments.

7. Because it will bring the best return in the shape of new-laid eggs during the winter season-when the farmer has most time on his hands.

8. Because to start poultry-raising on the farm requires little or no capital. Under any circumstances, with proper management, poultry can be made with little cost a valuable adjunct to the farm.

The Apiculture Division of the Experimental Union is not so much interested in getting new men into the business as in arousing the interest of those already keeping bees.-Morley Pettitt, Provincial Apiarist, Guelph.

FEARED LOCKJAW

In Badly Calked Horse—
But Egyptian Liniment
Saved Him

The season of icy roads and sudden heavy snowfalls, is an anxious one for horseowners, because it is so easy for a shapely horse to cut himself seriously when foundering in the deep snow.

A bottle of Douglas' Egyptian Liniment on hand then, may be the means of saving a valuable animal for you. It not only stops the bleeding at once, but keeps the wound clean and healthy and quickly heals it.

Read what Mr. G. P. Ashbocker, Swan Mills, N.Y., says about it:

"Egyptian Liniment has made extraordinary cures for me. One of my horses got badly calked, and everyone said he would have the lockjaw. The wound gathered and broke, and there was a great hole between the hair and the hoof. I used only Egyptian Liniment and the horse's foot was soon sound and well. It made a permanent cure. In my estimation is nothing like this Liniment for cuts or sores of any kind."

A Fertile Farm
A Full Harvest
A Full Profit

All these are possible by the liberal use of good fertilizers, the kind in available forms that will support the crop all through the growing season. Good seed and constant cultivation are necessary, and good weather means much, but without fertility no farmer can make his acres do their best. With a big demand and a good price for every farm product, why not get all there is in it?

The chemists we employ give their greatest attention to availability. They want the fertilizers they make to roll out the bushels at harvest time, and they do.

We have a number of factories, all located at convenient points, and wherever you live, we can reach you with the right fertilizer, the right service, and the right price. Write today for copy of "Plant Food," a practical hand book on fertility. No advertising in it; sent without cost, while this edition lasts.

Agents wanted in unoccupied territory. Liberal terms and goods that sell. It pays to sell our fertilizers as well as to use them. Ask for agency proposition
