Farm Labor in Winter.

The profitable employment of labor during the winter season is one of the difficult problems on many farms, says Andrew Boss, in Minnesota University Farm Press News. Unless the scheme of farm organization is well balanced the horses needed for summer work, as well as the men, will be idle during a part of the winter. They must be fed and cared for, and the money invested is costing interest all the time. Some way should be provided in which they can, at least earn a part of their board. The cost of feeding the horses can often be reduced by feeding cheap forage and allowing the horses to rough it in a lot or shed. It is possible in some places to use them in hauling building material, cord-wood, or fence-posts. So far as possible, bulky farm produce should be marketed during the winter, thus using the horses when the demand for horse labor on the farm is not so pressing.

Many forms of occupation can be devised which will employ the man labor on most farms. Caring for live stock is one of the most common as well as most profitable. What the particular class of stock should be will depend on the food supply, the market facilities, and the kind of labor available. The care of dairy cows may be combined with wood-cutting to advantage in many cases. A flock of sheep may be purchased and fed on cheap, rough food, and some grain. A car of feeder cattle may be finished on bundle-corn, thus saving the cost of husking, and at the same time providing winter occupation for labor.

The farmer who has a lot of good grain or corn on hand, may make good wages by preparing it for sale as seed and putting it on the market as such. A few farmers in Minnesota last winter increased the price of their seed corn from $3 to $8 and $10 a bushel by careful selection and making individual ear tests. One farmer sold $260 worth of seed corn from a sixteen-acre field in this way without depleting to any appreciable extent his supply of feed. He counted his time well spent.

Many operations usually conducted in open weather can be hastened by attention and preparation during the winter season. Machinery and harness repairs, fence and building alterations or repairs, manure hauling, feed delivery and storage, and others will come to the mind of the forehanded farmer as he gives thought to the matter. All of these items are vitally connected with the profit side of the financial statement.

BOTH STUNG.

I was telling a friend of mine about an accident my wife had. She and I were walking along the street one windy day and the hat of a man ahead of us blew off and struck my wife's eye, costing me ten dollars for doctor's bills.

"That's nothing," said my friend. "My wife was walking along the street the other day and happened to look into a millinery window. A hat struck her eye and it cost me fifty dollars."

ONE ON HUBBY.

I promised to give my wife a dollar to put in a wooden box every time I kissed her. Later, when she opened the box, there were a lot of five-dollar and ten-dollar bills in it. I asked her where she got them.

"Everybody is not as stingy as you," she replied.

PUZZLING CONUNDRUMS.

Which is the longest five-lettered word in the English language? Ans.—Smile—because it extends a mile after the first letter.

Why isn't your nose 12 inches long? Ans.—Because if it was it would then be a foot.

What is it that ties two persons together and touches only one? Ans.—A wedding ring.

Why do old maids wear mittens? Ans.—To keep off chaps.

What's the difference between a pitcher of water and a man throwing his wife off the Brooklyn bridge? Ans.—One is water in a pitcher, and the other is pitcher into the water.

Why is a shoemaker like a true lover? Ans.—He is faithful to the last.
