King George's Accident Further Particulars

LONDON, Oct. 30.—A Reuter's despatch from the British Headquarters, describing the King's accident says: "He had just finished the inspection of one corps and was on his way to inspect another, when cheers from the troops, who threw their caps in the air, caused his horse to rear. The King managed to regain control of the horse which, however, reared again and fell over backwards, throwing the King to the ground. He was immediately assisted to a motor car, and while driving away, was able to return the salutes of the troops as he sat in a corner of the car."

That the King was not seriously injured was doubtless due to the fact that he is very much at home in the saddle, and is considered more than an ordinary rider, being quite as good as the average mounted officer in the army. When at Windsor he rides every day. Even when he is in London he is often seen in the early morning riding in Hyde Park with Princess Mary.

The King's horses are, of course, well trained. They are accustomed to music, firing and cheering of troops. The horse which he was riding yesterday is said to have been put through a special course of training for reviews, and had gone through one ordeal.

Yesterday morning, the great outburst of cheering and the appearance of thousands of waving caps were too much for the animal on the second occasion. The heavy rain falling and the slippery condition of the road made it more difficult to control the horse, which apparently lost its footing when it reared the second time.

Germans Demand U.S. Minister Recalled

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The "Vossische Zeitung" says a despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. from Amsterdam challenges the German Government to ask Washington to recall the American Minister at Brussels, Brand Whitlock.

The recent Cavell case, says the "Vossische Zeitung," must be utilized as an occasion to put an end to Whitlock's activities, he being the Minister accredited to the present seat of the Belgian Government and not to Brussels.

If America desires a representative in Brussels, she must send some one agreeable to the German Government.

Montenegrins Capture Enemy's Position At Susagord

ROME, Oct. 30.—A despatch to the "Tribune" from Scutari, Albania, says: "Near Visegrad, the Montenegrins stormed the enemy's positions, and near Susagord, which commands the whole region, they have established themselves firmly."

"They inflicted heavy losses on the enemy and took many prisoners."

River Choked With German Dead

LONDON, Oct. 30.—Accounts have reached here, says a Reuter despatch from Petrograd, of a spectacular fight on the Island of Dalon, on the Dvina River, a few miles S.E. of Riga, where the Russian lured the Germans by allowing them to install themselves before beginning a bombardment from both sides.

Spectators from Riga, who witnessed the cannonade from the bridge across the Dvina, saw the river choked with German corpses floating down the stream, stated that the German forces had almost entirely been wiped out.

Germans Now Short of Ammunition

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The failure of the Germans to take Dvinsk and Riga is attributed in Petrograd, according to a Reuter's despatch from that city, not only to the difficult nature of the heavily wooded country, which prohibits mass movements of troops, but to German shortage of ammunition, which it says is becoming critical.

No Conscription For Australia

MELBOURNE, Australia, Oct. 29.—When the delegation representing the Trades Hall Council of Melbourne waited upon Premier Fisher a week ago, and asked him for a pronouncement as to the attitude of the Government toward conscription, Fisher declared that conscription would not be introduced in Australia unless the people of the Commonwealth were given the opportunity of voting upon the question. He added that the Government had had no intention of bringing in a bill dealing with conscription. For himself, he was opposed to it. Throughout the hearing he showed great impatience over the whole subject of conscription.

He said: "As far as the Government is concerned it stands exactly as it has always stood—pledged under a defence Act to raise our own men by levies, for the defence of the Dominion."

When a member of the delegation suggested that the Allies of Britain might be pressing her to put a conscription army into the field, "No," he replied, with some heat, "they would not be allowed any such impertinence."

Appeals to the Charity Of Great Britain

LONDON, Oct. 29.—The Foreign Office has received a despatch from British Consul Shipley, at Tabriz, Persia, which says that 25,000 Syrian mountaineers from Tzari and adjacent districts have taken refuge at Salmas; 10,000 more are expected here. All are destitute, and unless help is received many of them must inevitably perish as winter is at hand.

Consul Shipley adds that the American Relief Committee, under the presidency of the United States Consul, are endeavouring to do all possible, but the funds are entirely inadequate to meet the requirements. The situation is one which justifies an urgent appeal to the charity of Great Britain.

GERMAN PROSPECTS DIMMER

LONDON, Oct. 29.—Confessing that he has no information which leads him to feel certain that current reports regarding peace overtures are true, Sydenham thinks that they are not at all improbable.

"I should say," he says in an interview to the "Pall Mall Gazette," "that the overtures are mainly inspired by the now certain impossibility of German success in the West and growing difficulties of the mis-conceived and dangerous advance into Russia. From first to last, the Germans have not won a great military success, although every effort has been made to maintain confidence in the ultimate result. In the minds of the German people and neutrals, there must be many who realize that the prospects of ultimate victory are growing dimmer."

"Without the least wishing to under-rate the tremendous difficulties that lie before us, and the great efforts which are still essential on the part of the Allies, it does not seem unreasonable to suppose that the Germans may consider the time come to fly kites indicating at least apparently, their desire for immediate peace, although they may have another motive."

"By this I mean the desire to intimate to neutrals that they have arrived at a reasonable attitude of mind, and that the whole responsibility for the further horrors of war must rest with the Allies."
