"Examination of the famous paintings hung on the walls of the Heramitage and the Winter Palace revealed that many priceless canvases had been removed and replaced with cheap copies. Nobody knows what became of the originals. These discoveries so aroused the Provisinal Government that an investigation is now under way to see how many of Russia's art treasures have been stolen. The museums of Moscow and Petrograd contain wonderful collections of precious stones, including the finest collections of rubies and ago I received a ltter from a Government official asking me to recommend an American expert to assist in the examination."
