TWO PICKLE RECIPES.

LARGE OUCUMBER PICKLES.

Large cucumber pickles can be put up for table use by satting, peel them, slice them a quarter of an inch thick, pack them in wooden kegs, with plenty of salt sprinkled among them. Allow them to remain in salt twenty-four hours; then drain them, put them in glass jars, or earthen jars, with more salt, and close them airtight. When they are wanted for the table soak them in plenty of cold water, until they are perfectly freshened, then dress them like fresh cucumbers.

Green corn, string beans, and asparagisms may be preserved in this way; cauliflower and lima beans, also.

Spanish pickles—Two darge heads of cabbage, chopped fine; two dozen large pickles, chopped fine; two dozen large pickles, chopped fine; one and one-half dozen large onions, four green peppers, al chopped fine and separate; salt over night in separate jars; in the morning mix together, put in a cloth, and press perfectly dry; put on the stove to cook in a porcelain kettle with vinegar en ough to cover, dilute vinegar, put in a small cupful of singer, 5 cents' worth of white mustard, 5 cents' worth of white mustard, three tablespoonfuls of ground mustard, 5 cents' worth of white mustard, three tablespoonfuls of ground mustard, 5 cents' worth of white mustard, three tablespoonfuls of ground mustard, 5 cents' worth of celery, seed. of $2.800. The distance is 25 miles in a straight line, a little more than the distance across the channel. Calais, July 13.—Herbert Latham, the French aeroplanist who is waiting here for favorable weather conditions to attempt to reach England in his monoplane, made a splendid 15 minute flight this morning. In coming down, however, the wheels of his propeller were slightly damaged by contact with the earth. There was a light wind at the time. It was felt that he might head across the channel for Dover and the waiting torpedo boats and yachts went to sea to be in readiness to follow him should he do so. But the aeraplanist held his machine over the land and came down near the starting point. The trial flight was witnessed by a large crowd that cheered with enthusiasm. DELICIOUS VEAL. DELICIOUS VEAL.

Take a veal steak from the round bone, cut off all the fat and cut out the bone. Cut into pieces the desired size, then dip first in crumbs, then egg, crumbs again, and then into the egg again. Fry in an iron spider till a light brown, cover and turn a low flame for one hour. The milk will all be absorbed by the meat and the meat will be so tender only a fork will be needed in cutting it. I always season my bread crumbs before breading any meat.
