KINGS OF THE SEA
From time immemorial the Vikings of Britain have ruled the sea. They have fought countless battles and ruled by the thousands to keep their kingship supreme. Says "The Sailor." The price of their proud regality has been paid in the blood of a hundred generations. Nations have contested their sceptre of power to cringe in defeat; the sea itself, a restless domain, takes an unceasing toll. But the victors cheerfully pay the heavy cost—they rule on.

To-day these conquerors of the deep have ridden victoriously the most deadly gale which Mars visited upon the sea. They fought grimly, they died heroically; but they rule on.
They—the men of the Merchant Marine, the gallant members of the Seamens and Firemens Union of Great Britain—refused to hear the cowardly cries of the pacifists; they waved aside the illusion of the socialists.
They wanted no peace without honor.
Their kingship was imperilled by a savage and brutal foe. Grimly they battled for victory as becomes men who are kings of the sea.

Throughout the deadly four years of war, the Seaman's and Firemen's Union of Great Britain stood for all that a hundred generations of sea kings had created. Their ideals were the ideals of the great, open sea;
their unshakable belief the unshakable belief of the sea. They were loyal to the sea and the British Empire. Under the penmanship of Havelock Wilson, M.P., that grand old Neptune of Great Britain, they fought for the Empire, which their ancestors had created with their blood and brain. And they won.

Now they are to mete out impartial justice to the deserters of their sacred sea. They who disgraced the sea are to be banished from the sea.
It is a judgment passed by those who love the sea and rule the sea.

That for fourteen years no British sailor will sail in a ship that will carry goods to or from Germany.

That for fourteen years no British sailor will sail in a ship that calls at a German port.

That for fourteen years no British sailor will sail in a ship that has a German as a member of the crew.

The grand old Neptune of Britain and his Vikings of the deep have spoken. They have decreed that for fourteen years Germany is barred from the seven seas of the world.

Canada—the British Empire—stands behind these rules of the waves in the passing of this sentence upon the Wolves of the Sea.

CO-OPERATIVE EXPERIMENTS

How to Obtain the Most Practical Kind of Information.

Kindness and Cleanliness Two Chief Points to Observe in Caring for Dairy Stock - Cow and Young Calf Should Be Separated in Not Over Three Days.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto)

CO-OPERATIVE experiments have been conducted in agriculture throughout Ontario annually since 1886. Previous to the war the number of farmers conducting these experiments reached over 5,000, and in 1918 (the last year of the war) the number was slightly over 3,600. Some of the leading varieties of crops now grown in general cultivation throughout Ontario were introduced through the medium of the co-operative work, such as, for instance, the O.A.C. No. 21 barley, Marquis spring wheat, O.A.C. No. 72 oats, O.A.C. No. 3 oats, Dawson's Golden Chaff winter wheat, O.A.C. No. 81 corn, the Canadian Berry pea, O.A.C. No. 81 Soy beans, Rye buckwheat, Golden Bantam sweet corn, Early Amber sugar cane, Dwarf Essex rape, Irish Cobler potatoes, Yellow Wonder mangels, Grimm and Ontario Variegated alfalfa, etc.

The co-operative experiments enable practical farmers to obtain information regarding varieties of seeds, crops, mixtures of grain for grain and for fodder production, ways of increasing soil fertility, etc., for themselves. They also obtain information regarding varieties of seeds, crops, mixtures of grain for grain and for fodder production, ways of increasing soil fertility, etc., for themselves. They also obtain information regarding varieties of seeds, crops, mixtures of grain for grain and for fodder production, ways of increasing soil fertility, etc., for themselves.

The plan of the co-operative work for 1919 is printed in circular form and has already been sent to all the successful co-operative experimenters of the past few years. Other interested farmers could secure a copy of the circular by applying to the Department of Field Husbandry, Agricultural College, Guelph, Ontario, - Dr. C. A. Zavitz, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

Care of Cow and Young Calf. Kindness and cleanliness are the two chief points to observe in caring for dairy stock. About a week before the young calf is expected, the cow should be placed in a clean, well-bedded, comfortable box-stall. The practice of compelling cows to give birth to their calves, tied in the row, is cruelty to the cows, dangerous for the calf, and bad for the whole herd. Privacy and quietness should be the rule at this time.

The cow should be allowed to lick the calf dry, and should be kept tied until the after-birth is removed. The two may be left together for one to three days. Some remove the calf at once, but if it is to be reared, it should be left with the dam for a short time, in order to give the young animal a good start. Leaving cow and calf together for a day or two also tends to remove inflammation from the udder of the cow.

If necessary the cow's udder should be bathed with warm water or some form of tincture such as camphorated oil, or equal parts of turpentine and vinegar and an egg in one quart of the mixture.

In case the cow and calf are all right, they may be separated in not over three days, and the cow be returned to her regular stall. The calf may be allowed to remain in the box-stall, if not needed for another cow, or be placed in the nursery along with other calves, as this will cause it to forget its "mother" more quickly. It should receive its mother's milk for a week, while milk for two or three weeks, then skim milk and other suitable feeds for six months, and be kept dry and clean at all times. - Prof. H. H. Dean, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph.

Trimming and Staking Tomatoes. This method of handling tomatoes which some enterprising growers use in the past few years among the commercial market gardeners, owing to the high price of land and backyard gardens. The plants as a rule are cut up into small pieces, each with one or two plants are given one cultivation. The sticks are then set, driving them down about a foot into the ground and leaving from five to five and a half above the ground. These sticks may be made from mill edgings, saplings or anything else of a similar nature about one and a half inches square and strong enough to hold the plants when the fruit is fully grown. After driving the sticks and tying the plants to them the "ground" should be covered from four to six inches deep with very straw manure, as a mulch. This mulch will keep the moisture in the ground and, at the same time, remove any necessity for cultivation and other disturbances of the roots. In growing tomatoes on the single stem, such as is used in this method, all side branches which appear where leaf stems join the main stem of the plant are removed as quickly as possible. If they are allowed to grow it will take away very valuable plant food from the growing plant. The plant should be tied every eight or twelve inches to the stake, and when they have reached the top are cut off. - A. H. MacLennan, Ontario Vegetable Specialist.

Please, Mother! It's Nasty! Give Me a Candy Cascaret!

TO MOTHERS! Instead of the dreaded dose of castor oil, drops, calomel or pills, give your children Cascarets and save money, worry and trouble. Children love Cascarets because they taste like candy. Nothing else acts so gently but surely on the child's little stomach, liver and bowels.

When one of the kiddies has a white tongue, tainted breath, sour stomach or a cold; when cross, bilious, feverish, constipated, remember, a Cascaret to quickly "work" away the nasty bile, sour fermentations and poisons should always be the first treatment given. Cascarets never gripe the tender bowels, never injure, and never disappoint the worried mother. Each 10-cent box of Cascarets contain directions for children's doses from one year old and upwards. Also for adults.
