

Statesmanship.

This Colony has, more or less, been subjected to party politics and partisanship which the result of past years has shown to be no more than a one-sided, dwarfed and crippled policy to benefit the monopolist and party heeler. Those entrusted by ballot to the administration of this country's political life, have insulted the constitution, and brought about, by the love of money, the present financial depression and pauperism.

A statesman is hard to find amongst the leaders to-day, and if there should be one he is so entangled in the tide that he cannot stem the present rushing rapids.

Statesmanship calls for a leader versed in the art of government, who feels a sympathetic impulse to do good to the masses as well as the classes, and one who is skilled in legislation, leadership and sound judgment and who has the ability and wisdom which constitutes a thorough political ruler.

What have we to-day as a result of party politics? What have they done to benefit one iota the general public of this Colony? How much has been done to reduce the public debt of this Colony? The interest to-day, which is wrung from the poor and needy, is nearly up to what the principal was in times of old. We want a statesman to-day, or statesmen, who are not influenced by the Reids or any other monopolist whose aim maybe to acquire wealth from an industrious and energetic people who mean well when they return a party to power.

This thriving valuable country cannot stand the strain of money grafting, or of mismanagement of administration. Where does a Governor figure when ministers under his guidance are forever heaping up riches from the treasure trove of Newfoundland?—Twillingate Sun.

February.

(By BRUD.)

I've gotten into winter now, and everything it brings along seems but a timely curse, somehow. I try to greet it with a song. If morning shows a bank of white into the back yard and the front, I ply the shovel left and right, releasing no reluctant grant; or trodden paths of days ago; I take the usual route of these, and in the woodlands gaily throw my energy upon the trees. No human undertakes a cosy fire in freezing time; so when Jack Frost is at my gates I generate the healthy clime and lounge the stormy day between the pages of some high-toned book—to picture a comfort scene I simply have to turn and look. It's just as well that we resign with patience to the common lot; it's just as well we draw the line on madly wishing what is near; for Nature's bound to take her course, directed by a super plan, and if her changes make me hoarse, I cough and bear it like a man. And after all 'tis but a clime where health in general is more sound; a crispy, frosty, flyless time, is not so bad to have around. Then let us stroke an icy beard with resignation if we must; the Voice of Spring will come despair to those who think they're winter-cursed.

HELP THE POOR.—Your presence is requested at the Majestic Theatre to-night to help the ladies of the St. Vincent de Paul and Dorcas Societies provide food and clothes for the poor of your own city.—mar7,11

Sealers Entertained.

A free entertainment was given at the Grenfell Hall last night to the sealers now in town. It was arranged by Mr. A. E. Holmes, the manager. The entertainment consisted of a cinema exhibition and gymnastic "stunts" by the Grenfell Gymnastic Club. Under the capable guidance of Mr. Holmes, this class has made considerable progress of late. A boxing bout between Messrs. Stan Cullen and Fred Marshall and a hand-balancing feat by Mr. Holmes were features of the entertainment, which will be repeated to-night. All sealers are welcome.

Our Local Peps.

HIS DIARY.

March 6th.—Little news anywhere nor have I seen a time so dull. To the Board of Trade where Sir F. R. McGrath tells me of news he has received from Hon. W. J. Ellis. I meet Sir M. P. Cashin and he tells me of the "Sisto," being that she is still in ice off this coast. To Water Street where Mr. Bradshaw shows me an article which is most ridiculous fun and will, I think, be the better for publishing in the Telegram news sheet. Mr. Povey did tell me how he now learns that certain other gentlemen will have seats in the Council, and two of them he does say to be Mr. J. F. Davey and Dr. Modell. I meet Mr. Cave, that is Minister of Shipping, and he makes kind enquiries of my wife, which I did answer most courteously.

An Object Lesson.

March 6, 1922.

Dear Sir.—Would you kindly publish the enclosed letter received this morning. I need aid nothing but the wish that the grown-ups who have done nothing would take the lesson to heart.

Yours sincerely,
T. NANGLE.

February 20, 1922.

Lieut.-Col. Nangle.
Dear Sir.—I am only a little boy, not quite seven years old. I go to school every day. I am in number one book, and I keep head of the class every day, and I had one dollar given me for keeping head of the class, so I am sending it to you for the Beaumont Hamel Memorial. That is the spot where my father was killed, July the first, 1918.

I am enclosing one dollar.
Yours very truly,
HARRY WHITE.

Twillingate, Darrell's Arm.
Sir, if you have got any Picture Books to spare, please send me some to look at some times. I am very fond of books.

Enjoyable Evening at the Nickel.

PATRONS PLEASED WITH DELIGHTFUL SOLOS AND DUET.

The vocal programme at the Nickel last night aroused much enthusiasm from a thoroughly pleased audience who were loud in their praise. Miss Ruth Chase, Soprano, rendered the well known sacred song, "Hear Ye O Israel" in a manner that commanded the individual attention of her hearers. Mr. George Dale sang a tenor solo "Just One Hour" and by popular request repeated "The Pipes of Gordon's Men" which scored as great a triumph last night as when previously rendered. The duet by Miss Chase and Mr. Dale found a fitting finale to an excellent vocal programme. Although "The Plaything of Broadway" is only her second starring picture, the beautiful Justine Johnstone in it shows unmistakable signs of becoming one of the most appealing emotional actresses of the motion picture world. The audience that saw her fine work in this play last night showed plainly their appreciation of the young star's dramatic performance.

Extending Sea Jurisdiction.

NORWAY MAKES A TEN MILE LIMIT.

COPENHAGEN, Feb. 2.—Norway undertook a short time ago to extend her territorial waters to ten miles (instead of three miles) in an endeavor to cope with the organized and ever-increasing smuggling of spirits into the country. The extension meant that all ships venturing inside the territorial waters were subject to search by Norwegian customs officers empowered to confiscate any cargo of spirits and under certain circumstances, authorized to seize the ship. Both Denmark and Sweden have protested against the Norwegian extension of her territorial waters, and certain other powers have notified the Norwegian Government that they will not tolerate any search of ships flying their flags and engaged in bona fide trade. These protests have resulted in an amendment to the new Norwegian law on territorial waters to the effect that only ships anchoring within the ten mile limit are subject to search.

Speculating in Newsprint.

VIENNA.—A famine of white paper here, including newspaper, with constantly increasing cost, led the government to investigate, and inspectors found many large warehouses filled with paper of all grades. The mills, it is charged, have been storing their output with speculators doing an enormous business. The stocks are said to have changed ownership many times without a pound leaving the warehouses. The paper has been confiscated.

Fire Sufferers.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—Will you kindly state in your paper that the house which was destroyed by fire on Kemmunt Road, on the 11th of February, was owned by Mrs. Philip Putt, and the tenant, Maurice Putt, lost everything excepting his horse and cow. He carried no insurance on his furniture. Maurice was in town at the time of the fire, and only that Philip Putt was cutting wood nearby, the children would have died from exposure. The reason I ask you to report this is that people disbelieve that they are in need, owing to the names being similar. Maurice has suffered and is in need of assistance.

Yours truly,
MRS. PHILIP PUTT.

Boots That Wear Well.

Twenty-eight years ago a young man went into a shoe store in Cincinnati and asked about having a pair of boots made. When shown boots made for other persons he remarked, "They're all right for most folks but I have to follow my butcher wagon and that's right hard on boots. Reckon you could make me a pair that would last." Mr. Madden satisfied him on this point and the boots were ordered. Two years ago exactly twenty-six years after he bought the boots, the same butcher brought them back to Mr. Madden to be half-soled. They had been re-soled and heeled many times, but the uppers, made of English grain leather, were still in good condition. Realizing that twenty-six years of continuous service was a fairly good record, Mr. Madden offered to buy the boots for what the owner paid for them. Jokingly Mr. Madden referred to his motto, "Your Money's Worth of Your Money back," and offered to refund the purchase price on that basis. "No, sirree," said I ever had and I wouldn't take two new pairs for them. Just put some new soles and heels on 'em and I reckon I'll wear 'em a few more years."

Labor Will Fight for Municipal Control.

LONDON.—Labor is squaring up for a big fight to secure the municipal control of this metropolis through the London County Council elections, which takes place early in March. Labor's opponents, the Municipal Reform Party and the Progressive Party, although divided in policy, are practically united to keep out the labor socialists. The labor party collected an election fighting fund of £20,000 by a levy on all their members. Their program includes municipal trading on a large scale in meat, coal, bread, fish and milk, and the provisions of various medical services free to all; which is characterized as a revolution in municipal government. The London County Council consists of 124 councillors, 19 aldermen and the chairman.

Ordered on Health Trip.

STOCKHOLM.—Prince William has been ordered by his physicians to leave for southern Italy to recover his health, which was badly shaken by fever contracted in the course of his hunting and scientific expedition into Central Africa. This, however, did not stop the royal scientist and big game hunter from filling engagements to lecture before the students and faculty of Lund University, Sweden, and the University of Copenhagen. He had promised to deliver the lectures and this he did, then left for Italy.

Canalizing the St. Lawrence.

RESOLUTION BEFORE U.S. SENATE.

WASHINGTON, (Canadian Press).—The resolution now before the U. S. Senate in which Senator King, of Utah, proposes a bargain by which Canada would be asked to give up territory in return for U.S. support of the St. Lawrence waterways project, is titled: "Resolution favoring the cession by the Dominion of Canada to the United States of certain territory between the northern boundary of New York and the mouth of the Richelieu River as a condition precedent to the participation by the United States in the canalization of the St. Lawrence River. The text of the resolution reads:

"Whereas the project for the canalization of the St. Lawrence River, and the development of hydraulic power in connection therewith, between Lake Ontario and the head of tidewater in the St. Lawrence River below the city of Montreal at the joint expense of the Governments of the United States and the Dominion of Canada, contemplates that the Government of the United States shall contribute one-half of the cost of construction of the necessary channels, dams, locks, and hydraulic works in that portion of the St. Lawrence River between the northern boundary of the State of New York and the mouth of the Richelieu River, which portion of the St. Lawrence River passes entirely through Canadian territory and upon which the United States has no riparian rights,
