Obituary

RICHARD BARTER.
(BY F. SHORTIS.)

Fortified by the rites of the Catholic Church, of which he was a most exemplary and practical a member, Richard Barter rendered his soul to Him who gave it last evening, in the 76th year of his age. Mr. Barter was living in St. John's, and was a resident of this city for his entire life, except the few years he spent in Boston, U.S.A.

It was early age he entered his apprenticeship with Mr. Campbell, carriage builder, who conducted a business opposite the Theatre Hill in the early days of the past century. The deceased also worked for some years with the late Mr. George Davey, father of John and Fred Davey. As an experienced and skilled mechanic, Richard Barter had few equals and no superior in this country. His work is to be seen to-day in Government House, lighthouses, north, east, south and West over the country; and many of the most prominent private residences and churches, at which he worked during his long life, stand as lasting memorials to his ability as a skilled mechanic. In the days of our great mercantile marine, the services of Mr. Barter were always availed of by the carpenter and beautifying the ships and performing such other artistic work that could only be performed by the master hand of the thorough artisan. In the home he was the devoted husband, a kind and gentle father, and the community at large, from his friends were legion, lose a truly respected citizen. Sprung from one of the oldest and most respected families in St. John's, he combined in him the characteristics of the Saxon and Celtic races in an imminent degree, and the dry wit and humour with which he related reminiscences of the past to his companions and associates, proudly proclaimed his Irish descent on the maternal side. He was a man whose Catholic faith, which may be crystalized in a few words—he knew the teachings of Holy Church and he practiced them through life. He thus loved his country with more fervent love than did Mr. Barter and familiar expression of his was "After all there is no place on earth like old Newfoundland!" He took the deepest interest in the political affairs of the country, as well as a spectacular scenes amid the veering civic affairs of St. John's, and in the olden days was a most enthusiastic and partisan supporter of the old Liberal Party under the leadership of the Hon. W. V. Whiteway. He was a great lover of all manly sports, especially of our Annual Regatta, and in years gone by he rowed on the pond at Quidi Vidi, also on the waters of the Harbor, and being a man of splendid physique and herculean strength, always managed to render a good account of himself. He was a man of the old school—a man of exceptional qualities of heart, honest and conscientious and a staunch and pious Catholic. His unstinted devotion to his home and family, his quiet and patient disposition endeared him to all who knew. The exemplary life led by him will always live in the hearts of those he left to mourn him, viz., wife, four daughters, Mrs. Murphy, Miss Louisa of St. John's, May and Annie in Boston, one sister, many relatives and hosts of friends. Several brothers and sisters predeceased him, amongst whom was the saintly Sister Rose of the Presentation Convent, Harbor Grace.—Requiescat in Pace.

The Arlie Marks Players have recently added new attractions to their already capable aggregation of talent, and, as can be seen in a fully descriptive advertisement elsewhere in this issue they will return to St. John's and re-open Easter Monday night with J. Hartley Manner's renowned book play "Peg O' My Heart" for which special settings are now being built.

The Great Andrews, the noted American Magician has been secured by Mr. Perrin, Manager of Arlie Marks Co. Andrews is considered one of the most capable masters of the art on the North Am. Continent. Abdi Hamid, the Woman of Mystery is a mind reader who has them all guessing. She sees all, knows all and tells all. Any who are in doubt can ask any question which will be answered by this woman of a thousand eyes.

In a day or so reservations can be made for Monday's performance and tickets will be selling at Hutton's Music Store. Nobody will want to miss the greatest of all plays, "Peg O' My Heart" with the dainty and versatile Arlie Marks in the role of "Peg."

Griffith's Latest Picture

GREATEST OF THEM ALL.

Unusual interest attaches to the opening of the coming engagement in this city of D. W. Griffith's great spectacle, "Way Down East," which will be seen for the first time here on Wednesday at the Star Movie. "Way Down East" will be presented here for a period of two days.

This picturisation of the famous stage success furnished by Lottie Blair Parker and Joseph Grismer goes much farther than the original tale. Mr Griffith has begun where they halted. He has not made it a provincial thing; attempting to explain nothing he has welded a theory of eternal love and in so doing has removed his people from time and period. Possessed of a vision and mentality too great to be handicapped by anything, he has brought forth an epic far more than clever—it has the ring of genius. The simple fun of plain people is brought forth in greater measure than the stage play version could ever hope to attain and offers keen contrast to the sufferings and woe of Anna Moore, her hopes and struggles. Probably the greatest cast of capable players ever assembled for a motion picture production was engaged in the making of this work and it ends in a thrilling climax of spectacular scenes amid the veering flaws of a New England blizzard and the explosive breaking of a river ice gorge, all of which enthrall as only a Griffith effort can move audiences. The tender moments, the tragic episodes, the laughable situations and the stirring scenes are accentuated by unusual orchestral accompaniment, pronounced the most ambitious yet attempted in this theatre.

Freckled Barry as Romance Manufacturer

SETS YOUNG CUPID IN ACTION IN "THE PRINTER'S DEVIL."

With the flash of the first scene of "The Printer's Devil," which opened at the Nickel Theatre, one can easily see that here is something really refreshing—something from the ordinary run of pictures.

It is one of those time-honored stories that we all love to see—one that reminds us of youth and carefree days and brings back happy memories.

We eagerly follow Brick Hubbard, the freckle-faced youngster who is employed in a newspaper press room as printer's devil, and smile as he goes about his manifold duties always with an eye for fun and an ear for humor.

The story tells how this boy befriends Sidney Fletcher, who was robbed on the outskirts of the town, Briggsville. Sidney later buys the Briggsville Gazette in order to stay in the town permanently, as he has fallen in love with Vivian Gates, the daughter of the local banker. Young "Brick" then sets about to further the romance, and he does it with a vengeance.

The picture is tinged with homely humor, and in the tricks and capers of the fun-loving boy we see ourselves again as we were years ago, when we went off to school with our books under our arms, hoping against hope that "teacher" would be absent. Wesley Barry is ably supported by Harry Myers, Katherine McGuire, Louise King, George Pierce, Ray Cannon, Mary Halter and Harry Rottenburg. The story was especially written for him by Julien Josephson and directed by William Beaudin.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., April 7.
Clayton McWilliam, aged 26, and his friend, John McGie, aged 23, of this city, were shot to death in Latimer's Drug Store, where the former was employed as a clerk, late to-night, and Arthur Moon, aged 35, is held by the police on the charge of killing them. The shooting was official circles to-day, has already exceeded the legal limit of its circulation by more than 1,500,000 francs, so that it became imperative to regularize the situation by increasing this limit by law for the regulation of the financial position of the country, which the Government will propose to Parliament this afternoon.

ROUMANIA DISREGARDS BRITAIN'S PROTEST.

BUCHAREST, Roumania, April 7.
Parliament to-day announced the adoption of an emigration bill without paying any heed to the protest of Great Britain. Last week the British Government sent a strong protest against the measures for control of emigration, declaring if the bill was enacted it would drive British steamship companies out of Roumania. The terms of the bill gave the Government Department power to fix emigrant passenger rates and determine the transit routes, prohibited companies from carrying on propaganda among prospective emigrants, established the payment of agents' commissions for securing passengers and obliged all companies to pay a large registration fee.

A CHANCE FOR THE DOUKHOBORS.

NEW YORK, April 7.
Opportunities for homesteading in Soviet Russia are offered farmers in an announcement made on behalf of the Russian Government to-day by the Central Bureau of the Society for the Technical Aid of the United States and Canada to the Union of the Socialist Republic Organization affiliated with the Moscow Government. The farms may be run as individual enterprises and not co-operatively, as the Soviet has insisted hitherto. The Society says arrangements will be made to accept as many as 23,500 immigrants from America who will be given such inducements as low railway rates on the Russian railways, cheap lumber and credits. Repatriation of former Russians and the development of modern farming methods in Russia are the purposes behind the Soviet's plan, the officials of the local Society said.

Proceedings at the Legislative Council

OFFICIAL SYNOPSIS

MONDAY, April 6.
The Council met pursuant to adjournment.

The House resolved into Committee on the Terra Nova Sulphite Co. Bill, Hon. Mr. Bishop in the chair.

The Committee rose and reported the Bill with an amendment. This report was received, and it was ordered that the Bill be read a third time to-morrow.

HON. MR. PRESIDENT read a message from the House of Assembly that they had passed the amendments sent down in and upon the Bill sent up entitled of "Egress to Churches, Theatres, etc." without amendment.

HON. MR. MORINE in moving the adjournment said that the Government had decided to obtain independent advice concerning the condition of the Dock and the desirability of improvement, and are seeking to obtain the most disinterested advice available. Enquiries were now taking place with regard to the securing of an engineer who could have no possible connection with a contract or hope of contract, and who would therefore be free from suspicion. He said that no expenditure was to take place meanwhile. Hon. Mr. Morine felt sure the hon gentlemen would be pleased to know that their unanimous attitude on this matter had made a deep impression on the government.

HON. DR. MOSDELL congratulated the Government on taking this step, and felt sure that all the hon. members were gratified, that as a result of their deliberations, the government had been induced to follow this line of action. He also congratulated the hon. leader of the Government on behalf of the members of the Legislative Council for the manner in which he had assisted in bringing this about.

The House then adjourned until Monday, April 13th, at 4 o'clock.

Sugar or Molasses

A gallon of Molasses which retails for about 90 cents to one dollar, contains from 6 to 7 pounds of Sugar, and at one dollar per gallon, the sugar content costs over 12 cents per pound; therefore molasses as a sweetening agent is more expensive than sugar.

A good quality of soft sugar will be found much better and cheaper than molasses for use in cakes, puddings, sweet bread, etc. Twelve ounces of soft sugar equals one pint of molasses. It must be borne in mind that all soft sugars are not equally good. One of the best is Lantic Brown Sugar. This excellent sugar is sold out of bulk at 8 cents per pound, and at this price it equals molasses at about 50 cents per gallon.

If you like coffee try it this way: Use a tablespoon measure of any high grade coffee to each cup of water, bring to boiling point, then strain. (Use same quantities in your percolator). Your coffee liquor is now ready to use. Now take a half cup of the coffee liquor fill up with hot milk, sweeten with Lantic Brown Sugar and drink a beverage fit for the gods.

Lantic Brown Sugar dissolved in hot water makes a delicious syrup for pan cakes, puddings, etc., it is wholesome and tasty. Children like it on bread. Don't forget, sugar is a real food.

Lantic Brown Sugar is practically good molasses refined and solidified, the water and impurities are removed in refining.—mar10,tu,th,tf
