ATTIBUTE to the Genius of Burns.
Alt. John G. Whittier wrote the following letter to the Burns Club of Washington, in response to an invitation to be present at their festival.

ATTIBUTE TO BURNS OF BURNS.

Augment at their festival.

Augment, 1st Month, 1sth Day, 1869.

Dear Friend: I thank the Club represented by thee for remembering me on the occasion of its annual festival. Though I have never been able to trace my ancestry to the Land of Cakes, I have—and I know it is saying a great deal—a Scotchman's love for the poet whose fame deepens and ripens with years. The world has nover known a truer singer. We may criticise his rustic verse and compare his brief and simple lyrics with the works of men of longer scrolls and loftier lyres; but after rendering to Wordsworth, Tennyson, and Browning the homage which the intellect owes to genius, we turn to Burns, if not with awe and reverence, with a feeling of personal respect and affection. We admire others; we love him As the day of his birth comes round I take down his well-worn volume in grateful commemoration, and feel that I am communing with one whom living I could have loved as much for his true manhood and native nobility of soulas for those wonderful songs of his which sing themseves forever.

They know little of Burns who regard him as an aimless versifier—"the idle singer of an idle day." Pharisces in the Church and oppressors in the State knew better than this. They felt those immortal sarcasms which did not die with the utterer, but lived on to work on the divine commission of Providence. In the shout of enfranchised millions, as they lift the untitled Quaker of Rochdale into the British Cabinet, I seem to hear the voice of the Ayrshire poet:

"For a that and a that.

"The accommission of monthe would be a the world of entry the same and AMESBURY, 1st Month, 18th Day, 1869

"For a' that and a' that.

It's comin' yet for a' that:
That man to man the world o'er
Shall brothers be for a' that."

With hearty sympathy and kind greetings for the Burns Club of Washington, I am very truly, thy friend.
