MONDAY EVENING, DEC. 2, 1872

Town and County News.

MR. CHANGE.—We are glad to learn that this gentleman is progressing as favorably as could be expected, although no doubt his case will be a protracted one.

SHOOTING MATCH.—A shooting match will come off at the Bull Frog Tavern, on Friday first, the 6th inst., at noon, when good sport may be anticipated, as the proprietor has provided a large number of turkeys and geese for competition.

AGENCY.—Mr. W. H. Marcon, Market Square, has been appointed agent for the North British Food Cattle Company for Guelph and vicinity. This food is highly spoken of, and it is asserted that horses which have been fed therewith have escaped the prevailing epidemic.

MISSIONARY MEETING.—A meeting in the cause of missions will be held this evening in Chalmers' Church, at 7 o'clock, when interesting addresses will be delivered by Rev. Messrs. Middlemiss and Macdonald, of Elora, and Dr. Waters, of St. Mary's.

CURLING MATCH.—A curling match came off on St. Andrew's Day between the following players on the river above the Dundas bridge: Wm. Roper, jr., C. Spaulding, John Oliver and Alex. Conger, John Skiper—13; W. Craig, Wm. Roper, John Anderson and John Spaulding vice—12.

THE ARREST OF KEMP.—It is reported in Town to-day that Chief Constable Kelly has heard that the soundrel, Empannaged Kemp, concerned in the Nassagaweya rape case, and who has hitherto managed to elude the officers of justice, has at last been arrested in Welland, and it is thought, that the chief has gone there to ascertain Kemp's identity.

THE NIGHT WATCHMAN.—We are informed that a number of our business citizens have objected to subscribe any thing towards the expense of the Night Watchman, on the ground that they consider the matter is one that rightfully belongs to the Town Council. As that body insists this evening it may not prove to us, thus bringing the matter under their attention, so that the proper "onus" may be determined, at least as far as the Council is concerned.

THE GOOD TEMPLARS' ENTERTAINMENT.—The entertainment announced for Saturday evening, under the auspices of the Good Templars, was a great success. Dialogues, songs and instrumental music contributed largely to the enjoyment of the evening. A duet by Messrs. Lawrence and Richard Smith was so greatly appreciated that an "encore" was enthusiastically given. The Good Templars have every reason to congratulate themselves on this their first experiment to provide a rational evening's amusement. The next of the series will be given on Saturday, the 14th inst.

HERNDON'S TROUPE.—We have frequently heard it asserted that Saturday evening is a "malapropos" one for a successful entertainment in Guelph, in point of attendance on the part of the public. If such is generally the case, Saturday evening last was a marked exception; for a bumper house greeted the first appearance of the Herndon Troupe. The piece produced was a very thrilling high-spirited Irish drama entitled "Kathleen Mavourneen," the principal characters in which were all ably sustained by the respective actors. Especially noteworthy was the superior performance of Mrs. Herndon as "Kathleen," whilst her husband as "Billy Buttercup" was simply inimitable and irresistible in his original drolleries. We may well claim with himself "Oh, what a villain he was!" The farce of the "Spectre Bidegreen" elicited a perfect roar of laughter throughout. To-night an entire change of performance will be given, Mr. Herndon playing the role of "Rip Van Winkle," in the famous play that name written by the celebrated dramatic writer, Mr. Dion Boucicault. We understand Mr. Herndon has played the character with great acceptance for upwards of 200 nights, and to appreciators of dramatic performances, we would say, that a visit to the Town Hall this evening cannot fail to win their applause.

JOHN CHINAMAN.—The Stratford Beacon says:—Commanders Jarvis, who, since his return from his celebrated expedition to China, has had charge of the Avon fleet, was called upon on Sunday last to act as interpreter to a party of twenty-five celestial pig-tails, who were delayed at the Stratford Station on their way to a show establishment in New York. The conversation, relating chiefly to the commodore's old friends, Ah Sin and Chang, was exceedingly animated and interesting to those who understood it. But after a while the other barbarians began to crowd round in considerable numbers, and the celestial, declaring that there was "too much talk," withdrew from the vulgar gaze within the best substitute for a Chinese wall which they could get for the moment find.

Local and Other Items.

The people of Acton are talking of getting up a band.

Mr. BAYBROS has given orders for the immediate construction of 220 new cars in Brantford.

Three children in one family were carried off by diphtheria in St. Stephen, N. B., within the last fortnight.

The Toronto Mail printing company have imported from England a Wharfedale four-feeder printing machine.

A train now leaves Southampton on the W. G. & B. R. every morning at 6.30, reaching Guelph at 1 o'clock.

Mr. Egan, the contractor for the new bridge at Wallaceburg, has "skeddaddled," taking with him some $6,400 of other people's money.

A telegram from Amherstburg states that several schooners are ashore in that neighborhood, and a couple of propellers are aground, injured by ice.

A party of shooters went out again from Stratford into Elma and Elliot last week, and brought home as the spoils of the chase four splendid deer.

A correspondent of one of the leading insurance companies in Montreal, at present in the Lower Province, writes to the Witness that the English offices doing business in Halifax have received orders by cable to double their rate of insurance.

The clergymen of Woodstock have unanimously joined in a memorial to the Town Council, petitioning that body to cease issuing licenses to saloons and groceries for the sale of intoxicating liquors after the close of the year.

Mrs. Fuller, wife of the Venerable Archdeacon, has just given to the Synod $4,000, the interest to be devoted to the support of a travelling Missionary in the District. She has likewise given $2,000 for other Church objects, and the Archdeacon a similar amount.

A very destructive fire occurred on Wednesday, on lot 21, 4th concession, Esquimes, by which the barn and all its contents, belonging to Mr. James Dobbie, were consumed. Loss over 2,000 and no insurance. It is supposed that the fire originated by two little boys playing with matches in the hay loft.

Messrs. Stuart, Dayfoot and Saunders, of Hamilton, accompanied by the Solicitor of the Company, attended a meeting of the County Council of Peel, at Brampton, on Friday, for the purpose of getting a By-law passed for $50,000 in aid of the Hamilton and North Western Railway. The By-law passed unanimously, and will be voted upon on the 27th December.

The Waterloo Chronicle says that the friends of the Springer family will be pleased to learn that their prospects in reference to the Wilmington estate are excellent. Moses Springer, M.P.P., of this village, has just returned from a tour of investigation in various parts of Maryland and Pennsylvania, and he considers the title of the family to that valuable property, not only good, but capable of being legally proved.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—On Friday evening the police took Charles Lancelfield, an elderly man, into custody on a charge of having assaulted his wife. When found, it was discovered from the large quantity of blood that had issued from a wound in the left side of the neck, that he had attempted suicide, by trying to cut his throat, and had made an ugly cut into the flesh just behind the jugular vein. He had been suffering from the effects of intemperance, and this was apparently the cause, for when brought to the police station, he said that he had two knives and an axe, and complained that none of them would work. Dr. O'Reilly having seen the sufferer, he ordered him to the General Hospital, where he now lies. It is thought that he will soon be well again.—Hamilton Times.

CARLISLE ASSAULT CASE.—The charge of aggravated assault preferred against Thomas Savage, who it is alleged committed a murderous assault upon Timothy O'Donnell, at a tavern in the village of Carlisle two weeks ago, came up for hearing at the Hamilton Police Court on Saturday. The first witness examined was the hotel keeper, who witnessed the assault, and deposed to the effect that O'Donnell provoked the quarrel and first assaulted Savage, who fought in self-defence. O'Donnell has been confined to his house ever since the affray, inflammation of the lungs having set in, and is yet unable to attend court to give evidence. It seems that there is an old feud existing between Savage and O'Donnell. The case was further adjourned for a week, bail being accepted for Savage.

CHAPTER OF ACCIDENTS.—The Milton Champion says: As Mr. D. Munn, of Campbellville was driving in Nassagaweya with Mr. Morrison, of Hamilton, and a step-son of the latter, the horse was frightened by a dog, and ran away, throwing them all out, bruising them considerably, and completely wrecking the buggy, which belonged to Mr. Morrison. After catching the horse they returned and got Mr. Munn's buggy, and having got to their destination and transacted their business, they returned towards Campbellville. But it seems they were doomed to another exciting time, for on the way home the horse gave a sudden plunge across the ditch, and the human contents were landed against a stone wall and again badly bruised. The only wonder was that they were not killed. The second buggy was also soon rendered a wreck, and the party had to procure another team from a friend, and this time reached home in safety.

Rochester, Dec. 1.—The ice in the canal is very thick, but the ice breakers are endeavoring to keep the channel open.
Cleveland, O., Dec. 1.—The propellers, "James Fisk, jr." and "Canister," left here yesterday for Chicago and Detroit, but were compelled to return after lying all night in the ice, which was from three to six inches thick. The "Fisk" had a hole stove in her bow.
Utica, Dec. 1.—The canal is frozen two inches thick. Almost all loaded boats were hauled eastward on Saturday, and are now to the east of the Frankfort lock.
New York, Dec. 1.—Horace Greeley's body was viewed by great numbers of people to-day, at the house of Sinclair. The remains will lie in state on Tuesday, at some place to be designated on Monday.
London, Dec. 2.—6 a. m.—The steamship "Dalmatian," from Liverpool, to the Mediterranean, has been wrecked. Thirty-five of the crew and passengers were lost.
New York, Dec. 2.—The Tribune to-day in a leader, counsels the electoral colleges of States, which cast their votes for its late editor, to give their suffrages to President Grant.
London, Dec. 1.—An orderly meeting was held in Hyde Park yesterday—Messrs. Odger and Bradlaugh were the principal speakers. A circular condemning the Public Parks Regulations Bill was adopted, and a petition drawn up, asking for the resignation of Commissioner Ayrton.
London, Nov. 30.—Sergeant Bates reached the Guildhall at 1:30 p. m. to-day. As he passed along the Strand, Fleet Street, and Ludgate Hill he was enthusiastically received by crowds of persons, rivaling those which gather on great occasions. After the pedestrian reached Guildhall, he made an address appropriate to the occasion.

Monday, Dec. 2.
This Court closed its sittings late on Saturday night; the case of Evans vs. Hogge and Dunn having wearily dragged its slow length along for five days. The Chancellor deferred judgment.
The First Fruits—and a Coincidence.
Messrs. Brown, Gillespie & Co. had the honor, yesterday, of shipping the first car load of goods over the new road to Southampton, and curiously enough the car which first came to hand to carry it belonged to the Michigan Central Railroad stock. Some time to-day that car will settle a matter which was hotly contested once at Southampton and elsewhere. It was asserted by the Hamilton men that by a change of gauge on the Great Western, not only would the rolling stock of other companies be available for carrying the traffic of that section of country, thus giving a larger stock to draw upon in case of unusual pressure at any particular point, but also that the traffic should be carried to its destination without break of bulk. With much other weighty proof, the Toronto men pronounced this to be a delusion and a snare. Well, as we have said, the first freight car which arrives at Southampton will show the people there which of the contestants was right.—Hamilton Spectator.
A GOOD STORY.—A burly Gallovidian was recently in Glasgow. He called at a fishmonger's shop, accompanied by a large Newfoundland dog, almost as high as the counter. The day was warm, the dog was breathing fast, with his tongue out, while his large tail was wagging pleasantly from side to side. A large lobster, "all alive," lay on the counter. The dog's tail was wagged once or twice dangerously over the lobster. Another wag, and it was "just once too often." In an instant the lobster had the dog's tail between his huge claws as in a black-and-white vice. The dog gave a yell and was out at the door. The fishmonger and our Gallovidian friend rushed outside to see what was up. The dog was seen tearing down a crowded street, people making way for it amidst cries of "mad dog." Every dim the lobster got on the ground served only to make him hold on the tighter. "Oh! man, whistle on ye!" cried the fishmonger in despair. "Whistle on ma dog!" said the Gallovidian indignantly, afraid of losing his favourite, and evidently thinking that the lobster, not the dog, was the cause of all the trouble. "Whistle on ma dog? Whistle on yer parson, ye beggar!"—Galloway Gazette.

Death of Horace Greeley.

Additional Details.
New York, Nov. 30.—The following additional details of Mr. Greeley's last hours were received during the day. As is usual in cases of inflammation of the brain, his physical suffering was extremely slight, but increased morbid action of mind was evident from the exterior manifestations. At 5:30 p. m. an old family friend known as Auntie Lawson entered and approached the bed. Mr. Greeley was then roused by a friend who asked:—"Do you know who this is?" He feebly said "yes," stretched out his hand in greeting, and then relapsed into his reverie. Later he was asked:—"Do you know you are dying?" and in the same manner, without tremor or emotion, he answered "yes." When asked if he were in pain, he laid his hand upon his breast but without otherwise replying, and returned to his semi-unconscious state, lying now with closed eyes, and hands sometimes twitching nervously, but generally still. At 6:30 he stirred uneasily and began to mutter indistinctly something which friends around him could not catch. His daughter Ida, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart, Mr. Carpenter, Doctor Choate, and Auntie Lawson, were all in the room anxious to hear his last words. Mr. Greeley indistinctly murmured for a while. At last he feebly said "it is done." There was no evidence of pain in his last moments. The face hardly changed; only settling into a look of perfect peace. Dr. Choate was by his bedside, and putting his hand to Mr. Greeley's heart, said "he is gone." The remains were dressed and laid to await removal in the parlour, while a few friends remained to watch through the night beside him.
During the day and yesterday crowds gathered at the Tribune office, inquiring for the latest news. Mr. Sinclair, at 5 p. m., received a despatch announcing the alarming condition of the deceased, and an hour afterwards he received one, reading, "come immediately or all will be over." He then started for Pleasantville, but did not get to the public the news he had received. The crowd remained until 8 o'clock, when the news of Mr. Greeley's death arrived.
The directors of the Lotus Club last night adopted resolutions concerning Greeley's death.
New York, Dec. 1.—The remains of Horace Greeley were taken to this city from Pleasantville on Saturday evening, and are now in the residence of Mr. Samuel Sinclair, publisher of the Tribune. Mrs. Gibbons accompanied the remains to this city. The Herald mentions that the Union League have hopes the President Grant will take part in the obsequies of his late distinguished rival in the Presidential field.
New York, Dec. 1.—The following is the last letter written by Horace Greeley:—"New York, June 27th, 1872; Friend Lanman—Received yours of the 25th inst. I have all my life been doing what people called vastly foolish and impolitic acts, and I did not dispute their judgment, only said that what I did seemed to me the right thing. If I should die before the election, or be beaten therein, please testify for me that I do not regret having to brave Republican opposition when I thought it wrong and knew it to be meretricious.
The Sun says:—In his mental and moral characteristics Greeley was a puzzling compound of contradictions which defies close analysis. It adds that Greeley was horrified on seeing in the Tribune of Nov. 4th, alongside of his own card, the remarkable editorial headed "Crumbs of Comfort," which expressed gratitude that his (Greeley's) defeat would relieve him from the solicitation of office-seekers, and which, the Sun says, insulted every person who voted for him. Greeley immediately went to the Tribune office and wrote a disclaimer, stating that he had never been consulted, never saw the article, and repudiated the sentiments and the language. This disclaimer was suppressed. He wrote another, which was also suppressed after being put in type. The severe criticisms which this article provoked from his late supporters added to his depression and illness. During his last hours he was so violent that the furniture was removed from the room. One time he threw a kerosene lamp on the floor, setting fire to the room, and at another time tore to pieces the watch presented him by the Tribune employees. As his strength left him he became more quiet.
The Herald says:—"We may say of him as the expiring chief 'Red Jacket' said of himself: that the news of his death will come upon his people like the sound of the falling of a great pine in the stillness of the woods. He had in a mistaken aspiration for a higher field of usefulness and power and glory, fallen a sacrifice to his political ambition. He had failed to appreciate the commanding position which he had secured, as a leading American journalist, and in leaving it to pursue the ignis fatuus of the Presidency he dropped the substance for the shadow of great distinction. Otherwise the history and enduring rewards of Mr. Greeley's industrious and useful career are full of encouragements to young men, who without capital, personal influence or powerful friends, have the battle of life before them. He leaves an honored name behind him, the high reward of encouraging example as an American journalist and a self-made man.

Mr. Gladstone on the Washington Treaty.

At the Thanksgiving dinner given by Cyrus W. Field, in London, on Thursday night, Mr. Gladstone responded at considerable length to the toast of "England and the United States." After reference to the past history of both countries, he said all occasions of difference and controversy between the two countries had been in their nature temporary, and capable of settlement by intelligent good sense and friendly temper, and the time of that settlement had now arrived, when we can speak of it as a thing happily accomplished. The sentiment between the two countries, tending towards fraternal union, which heretofore has been liable to opposite and conflicting currents, can now move with a full and equal flow, with nothing to interrupt it or fix its duration.
