

THE CITY AND VICINITY.

THE DAILY ROUND OF LIFE IN AND ABOUT TORONTO.

What the people are doing and saying and thinking about—Brief Notes Gathered Everywhere by Wide-Awake World Reporters. The public school board meets to-night. Another train of immigrants arrived last night. The chief constable of Yorkville carries a whip. No quorum of the separate school board last night. Patrick Costigan had one of his fingers mangled at Dalton's soap factory. The Provost Beyer and the Luella have gone to Port Dalhousie for the winter. A number of boys suffered in the police court yesterday for their halloween fun. Another lot of Algoma tax lands was sold at the courthouse yesterday at fair prices. The shoemakers have received an advance of ten per cent. on second class low cut shoes. Two Yorkville youths were yesterday fined for disorderly conduct at a street corner. Dr. Wild's sermon on Eve, the Serpent, and Christ, can be had at all the bookstores. Price ten cents. Tom Doughty, the well-known fireman, started last night for Winnipeg where he will reside in future. Rev. E. Armstrong Teller lectured to a good audience in Elm street church last night on "Gideon Unseely." Dr. Watt has removed from Berkeley street to the electro-medical institute, corner Jarvis and Gerrard streets. A little boy named Avery is missing from 126 Duke street. His family only came from Port Credit Monday. The York pioneers yesterday added to their museum collection. Three gentlemen were proposed as members of the society. Robert Parvis, ginger ale man, is suffering from the effects of a fall from his wagon. He is badly cut and bruised and injured internally. City hall meetings to-day: markets and health committee at 3 p.m.; exhibition committee at 3.30 p.m.; waterworks committee at 4 p.m. The chief constable returned to allow an officer to leave his duty long enough to see his dying child, and another to attend his brother's funeral. Thomas Moran, who lives with his father in a lane off John street, was yesterday knocked down and severely hurt by Boulton's butcher cart. The inland revenue receipts in the division of Toronto last month amount to $77,366 95, a decrease of $9099 95 as compared with the return for October, 1880. The Campagn, a new Clyde-built iron steamer, owned by A. M. Smith, will arrive in this harbor in a few days. She is intended for navigation on the upper lakes. The Telegram published the notice of London Truth on the Marquis of Lorne and next day has an article saying it was "questionable," and that it was "scooped." According to his wife, James Harris of Little Richmond street, has eloped with a young girl, taking property not his own with him. The pair are supposed to have gone north. Mr. Spratt left for Montreal yesterday evening as representative from the board of trade of this city, one of the examiners of four, to establish standards for 1881 and 1882 for the Dominion. The city engineer proposes to erect a timber structure on piles for the railway lines at the King street crossing, the cost being estimated at $5000. Surveys will be made to-day for a report to the works committee. Mr. Frank Somers' two-year-old boy fell on his father's doorstep at 129 Elizabeth street and sustained a severe contusion of the head. Despite the best medical attention, the little one died from the effects of the fall Monday evening. Mr. Freeland has adorned the walls of the Philharmonic hall with the names of the different countries sung by the society in beautifully raised letters of various hues. The society felt indebted to Mr. Freeland for his gratuitous work. The employees of Hughes Bros. yesterday marked their custom for Mr. C. E. Conroy, cashier and eastern clerk, by presenting him with a handsome solid silver service and an illuminated address, on the occasion of his accepting another position in this city. A young man named C. S. Holman, who has relatives in this city, died in his mother's arms while coming on a Northern train from Collingwood yesterday afternoon. He had been ill since Friday. His remains were taken to Brooklin, Ont., in the evening. A boy named Wm. Knox was knocked senseless and kicked by a young man on Sherbourne street Monday night. His assailant was captured by police men who took his name and address and let him go, which was very foolish. Young Knox is suffering severely at his father's house, No. 155 Sherbourne street. The Philharmonic society last night practised Spohr's "Last Judgment," and the hunting chorus, "How Merry is Life," in John Bern's Rosemount. There was a full attendance of members and the rehearsal was very satisfactory. Mr. Torrington will add the Miserere scene in Il Trovatore to the list at the next meeting. At the regular meeting of Ionic Lodge, No. 25, G. E. C. last night the following officers were elected: W. M., C. W. Postlethwaite (re-elected); S. W., W. Roof; J. W., J. Roof; treasurer, A. R. Bowell (re-elected); chaplain, Rev. W. H. Davies, D.D. (re-elected); secretary, J. B. Doomer; Tyler, J. W. Pritchard (re-elected). To-night and the two following nights Mr. J. G. B. Mackay of New York will deliver free lectures at Temperance hall under the auspices of the young people's progress and mutual aid association, for the purpose of raising funds to enable them to carry on the free breakfast to be given to the poor of Toronto. Mr. C. H. Matheson intends to feed 300 each Sunday morning. The court of revision yesterday reduced the assessment of St. Andrew's ward by $10,310. John raised Cain in a terrific manner about his assessments, insulting and abusing several members of the court. They continued a really amusing scene of $8450 and talked on a personality assessment of $5000, which made Cain fairly wild. The assessment of the ward now stands at $5,923,440. King Robert de Bruce camp No. 2, Sons of Scotland, held a hallowe'en concert in Barr of Hamilton last night. Miss Maggie McCann sang "The Queen of Scotch songs" several choice songs in an artistic and pleasing manner. She gave "Whistle and I'll Come to you My Lad" by special request. Miss Barr was enthusiastically applauded. Miss Constable, Mr. A. Campbell, Mr. Gordon Sheriff, and Mr. Peter McLuckie also did justice to several fine songs. Pipers furnished music during intermission on the bagpipes. Mr. Mayor M. Murrich made an address after intermission. Mr. Airlie presided at the piano. There was a large audience present and a most enjoyable evening was spent.

STREETS AND SEWERS.

A Batch of Them Before the Works Committee Yesterday.

The petition for a block pavement in the Melinda street lane being assiduously signed, the board could do nothing with it. All the members were present at the meeting of the works committee yesterday afternoon. The committee sat for three hours. Ald. Carlyle drew attention to the imperfect condition of a culvert at Sussex and Gerrard streets. Referred to the commissioner. Two hundred feet of wooden kerbing were ordered to be laid down on the west side of Woolley street in front of houses erected by Wm. Symmonds. Ald. Crocker got the item passed on Wednesday. "I would like a little boulevarding on Osgoode street," said Ald. Irwin in his usual blarney way. The commissioner recommended the work, which was ordered to be done, the cost being about $25. The lower end of Brook street is in a deplorable condition," said Ald. Irwin. "I would like to see it repaired." "I can do nothing," replied the commissioner, "it's a bed of mud." So the matter dropped. There's another little matter," said Ald. Baxter. There's a hollow in front of Mr. King's new houses on Vananley street, and I want it filled up. The commissioner said he would do the work when he had surplus earth in that vicinity. Ald. Mitchell also had a little matter, viz., wooden kerbing on West street. "We have no money for all these little things; we must have stone for the streets," said Ald. Blevins, who seems to have been suddenly seized with a fit of economy. "Oh, let it pass in its turn," said Ald. Baxter, and it passed. Ald. Davis asked that a dangerous gully on the south side of King street, adjoining the Don bridge be filled up. It was also stated that the Sumach street sewer would be commenced at once, and surplus earth might be drawn from there to fill up the gully. "What let that be?" said the third representative of St. Lawrence ward. The Toronto bridge company wrote respecting the opening of a street immediately west of the new King street crossing. The company said such a street would be a great convenience to their employees. Part of the land wanted is owned by the Ontario government and Ald. Egan and Mitchell were appointed to wait upon Hon. S. C. Wood as to acquiring it. Mr. Guinane reported his accident in front of St. Lawrence hall Sunday evening and asked for compensation for his damaged buggy. This introduced the question of the wretched condition of King street, and the engineer and costmaster were asked to report thereon. Mr. Guinane was referred to Mr. Costworth and the solicitor. EXTENSION OF SALTER STREET. "It was just buttonholled at the door," said Ald. Davies, "and asked why Salter street is not opened up." The engineer replied that some arrangement would have to be made with the Grand Trunk, who has rights in the matter. Mr. McWilliams said negotiations were pending with the company, but if the city did anything it would have to do it at its own expense. Ald. Davies never apprehended that the railway would have to pay anything, the only question was whether the company would offer any objection to crossing their track. Mr. Brough said the city would have to take down the fence and erect cattle guards, which would cost several hundred dollars. An order was made for a report from the engineer and solicitor. STUCK HARD PAN. Mr. Jones, sewer contractor, asked for relief in the matter of the Strachan street sewer, by which he had lost several hundred dollars, owing to having struck hard pan in the excavation. Several ratepayers of the street supplemented Jones' petition by a petition asking that the committee turn over to him the difference between the appropriation and the amount of his contract. Ald. Baxter, Davies and Crocker favored this being done, but Ald. Carlyle was opposed to the proposition on the ground that it would establish a precedent of which other contractors might want to take advantage. Mr. Jones said he could get more money to the petition. "Well, take another week," said the chairman, "and come again." YONGE STREET PAVEMENT. The city solicitor submitted a draft agreement between the contractors, street railway and corporation as to the Yonge street pavement. It provides for an extension of time, viz., that after the work is completed to Gould street the contractors shall suspend operations until such time next spring as the engineer may then recommend. The document further provides that the rights and liabilities of all parties involved shall remain the same as laid down in the original contract. The committee regarded the subject as one that demanded more than ordinary attention and left it over for consideration at a special meeting to be held hereafter. Mr. Gordon asked for a progress certificate, but the committee thought it advisable to withhold further payments until this agreement is signed. THE MUTUAL CONTRACT. Ald. Ryan asked for the mayor's message and attendant papers. The chairman said they had not come down from the city clerk. Ald. Ryan contended the committee should have the document before them, but Ald. Baxter took exception to this as the council had handed the case over to the county judge for consideration. The document further reported the secretary guilty of negligence and the committee ought to deal with him accordingly. Ald. Baxter repudiated the charge of moral cowardice and said a judicial enquiry was what the people demanded. Ald. Mitchell and Steiner were of the same opinion as Ald. Ryan. Ald. Irwin backed up Ald. Baxter. The discussion ended in nothing. ONE OF MANY. A Madoc clergyman writes: Enclosed please find subscription for The Toronto World for six months. In renewing my subscription I may say I am well pleased with the paper and think it is improving. The evening classes at the public schools were resumed last night. All were well attended. All Saints church observed All Saints-day by choral service last night. Rev. A. Williams preached. The Canadian Monthly for November is judging from the articles we have read is not deceptive. A fire did damage to the extent of $25 or $30 at W. J. Hogg & Co.'s furniture store, Yonge street, yesterday evening. The store, Yonge street, yesterday evening broke out under the counter, having been started it is supposed by a match used for lighting the gas. Dr. Wild's lectures on "The Prophet Jeremiah's Visit to Old Ireland," was heard by hundreds of people at Shakespeare hall last night. The audience, which comprised many of the best, represented all Christian denominations, and was intelligent and appreciative. The doctor was in his best form and added largely to his list of admirers. Want of space forbids an extended notice of the lecture. J. King of Chicago will put a man against

THE SPORTING WORLD.

MEETING OF HANLAN AND TRICKETT YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

The Australian Thinks He has not Been Fairly Dealt With—The Opinions of the St. Louis Press—Miscellaneous Notes of Sport. Edward Trickett arrived in the city on Monday night, and yesterday afternoon met Hanlan in the hall office for the purpose of arranging a match to take place in St. Louis. After a preliminary hand shaking the men at once proceeded to business. Trickett offered to row Hanlan for $1000 or $2000 a side on Creve Cœur Lake and allow him $800 expenses. Hanlan refused to row for the following weak causes: That as his race with Ross is off he would not think of insulting the latter, or hurting his feelings by rowing Trickett now—in fact he says he would not row Trickett if he got $50,000. Trickett pressed this challenge and explained his position very fairly to Hanlan, remarking that he had travelled 15,000 miles to row him on the Thames and after his defeat there, travelled out to this country especially for the purpose of having another match with him. Hanlan has been seventeen months away from home, and this is the first time he has been able to raise the amount of money which Hanlan had volunteered to row, namely, $2000—which amount Hanlan telegraphed to Trickett on Saturday to go to the latter and bid him to accept the challenge, which Hanlan had volunteered to row. Hanlan refused to go back to Australia and come out next spring, and after his race with Ross he would consent to row him. Trickett thanked the champion for his advice, but remarked that the distance was certainly shown the wrong way for him. Trickett then spoke out, and told Hanlan that he was a coward and had not the "sand" in him to row. After a little more combat the men separated in an unfriendly manner. The result of the meeting quickly spread around town, and it was not long before the men on all sides, even his staunch friends were disgusted with the way he has acted. Taking all the facts into consideration, the champion has certainly shown the wrong way for him. The only conclusion we can come to is, that Ross' friendship must be worth a large sum of money. Hanlan says he would not row if he got $5000, when on Saturday he telegraphed to St. Louis that he would row if he got $2000. So the sooner Hanlan explains what he means by hurting Ross' feelings the better. Trickett feels very bad not having another opportunity to row Hanlan. He says he has a strong opinion in the aid of the Canadian improvements on the shells of beating Hanlan. Trickett is undecided as to whether he will remain in America or return to Australia. (From the Globe-Democrat of Sunday.) The telegram sent Hanlan on Friday night asked that individual if he would like to come here and row Trickett for the championship and $1000 a side. It was certainly a very nice offer, and if there were gentlemen willing to back Trickett for any amount, and willing to give Hanlan anything to come out this way. These gentlemen waited anxiously for a reply to Trickett's challenge, which got here in the time yesterday. It said: "I will row Hanlan at the Grand for $1000 a side, providing he gives $2000 to come here and row, win or lose. Now, what are the St. Louisans willing to back Trickett for anything and pay Hanlan a fair sum for coming here? Trickett is not willing to give him the exorbitant amount demanded. Trickett, too, was opposed to their making such a concession. So it was arranged that Trickett should go to Toronto and see Hanlan, and see if he will not come to some fairer terms than those he has already proposed. He will be here this evening on the Wabash train, and upon his arrival in Toronto will wire his backers what Hanlan is willing to do. They will in turn wire him. Trickett thinks that, after arguing the point with Hanlan, the latter will be willing to come out this way. HANLAN'S GALL. (From the St. Louis Post-Dispatch of Saturday.) Yesterday Trickett, the Australian oarsman and champion of the world, telegraphed Hanlan at Toronto, asking what terms he would want to come here and row the latter for the championship of Creve Cœur lake. It will be remembered that Trickett challenged Hanlan about a week ago to match for $1000 a side, and put up a forfeit of $2000 in aid of the Globe-Democrat. Hanlan accepted the challenge, and it was agreed that the race should come off at the 15th prox. at Creve Cœur. Since the matter was so arranged Hanlan has backed out of the understanding to row at Creve Cœur and it is now stated with respect to Trickett's conclusions at Toronto Bay. He then offered to row Trickett there but the Australian for certain good and sufficient reasons has objected to such a proposition of the world. Trickett has made many friends in St. Louis and they are ready to back him in any reasonable sum to secure the race at this point. It was therefore with the view of ascertaining what inducement Hanlan would accept to come here that Trickett telegraphed to-day the latter telegraphed Trickett: "Will take $2000." This is simply a big bluff, or indicates an inordinate grasping disposition on the part of Hanlan. No such sum has ever been paid or demanded by any sculler, such a bonus has never been heard of. Trickett had offered Hanlan $300 for his expenses to come here. When Hanlan challenged Trickett it was the latter's opinion that the Canadian should come to Australia. He offered him his expenses, but he would not come. So to meet Hanlan, Trickett travelled 15,000 miles and paid his own expenses. When he met Hanlan on the Thames he was 15th of November last and was defeated. He was not in the best condition. Since that time Trickett came to this country with his trainer, Harry Kelly, and has been endeavouring to meet Hanlan at the Toronto regatta. Hanlan did not row. Now that Trickett has found friends who will back him, and that he is able to meet Trickett in the best form, Hanlan's demands become exorbitant. The fact is, the best posted boatmen here are inclined to the opinion that Hanlan is afraid to meet Trickett. The athletic Australian is in good shape, as he is at present. Hanlan's game is a bluff, and his seeming to avoid another race with Trickett. Hanlan's friends here are becoming disgusted with his greed and shilly-shallying. Whether further negotiations will take place is at present uncertain. If for the $2,000 were raised, Hanlan would probably want $5000 to put in his pocket. NOTES OF SPORT. The English cricketers have left San Francisco for Australia. The Louisville Eclipse base ball nine has selected a new manager, and will play at the curling clubs in the afternoon. The curling clubs are now beginning to meet and get things into shape for winter play. J. King of Chicago will put a man against
