

TO SEE HER MAJESTY.

LADIES ARE CURIOUS TO GET A GLIMPSE OF THE QUEEN.

How People Crowd the Streets Where Her Majesty Will Pass—The Queen's Dress—Her Health is Good.

A London correspondent of a New York paper writes:—On the rare occasions when the Queen does come to London her subjects always show great eagerness to catch sight of her, and the aspect of the metropolis undergoes quite a curious change when the Royal standard is floating from the roof of Buckingham Palace. By merely walking about the West End I am certain could tell that the Queen had arrived. Even if the daily paper had not already told me so. There are various signs and portents which mean royalty in residence. One of the most interesting and quaint of these is the old ladies. When the Queen happens to be in London the observer will not fail to note the swarm of old ladies that sweep like a swarm of locusts through the streets and lanes of our city. They are all trying to see the Queen. Glance at any policeman and you will find him surrounded by old ladies, who expect him to be acquainted with every thought that passes through the mind of what Carlyle calls "Majesty." Where will Majesty drive, and when? From what gate of Buckingham Palace will the carriage of Majesty issue, and what precise hour? These and a thousand other questions drive the men in blue almost to despair, when the court is in London. But the energy and determination of ladies desirous of seeing the Queen overcome all obstacles. They will stand in the mud or frost for hours on the chance of catching a glimpse of the royal carriage, and many of them travel up from distant country places merely in order to be a handkerchief, and give vent to a murmur of welcome. The uncertainty that prevails as to the Royal movements sometimes leads to rather comical scenes. About half-past four on the last drawing-room day I was walking quietly up Piccadilly, when I noticed a gradual haste overtaking the people whom I met. The ladies suddenly began to hustle.

SHOP BOYS OPENLY SHOUT, and ran, even serene individuals in top hats and fur coats caught the general infection, and there was a regular stampede. All who met me were continually on the trot. When I looked back I found the cause of the confusion to be the Home Guards returning from the Palace. These good people fancied they were escorting the Queen on her afternoon drive. I was at Victoria station to witness the royal arrival, and the crowd extended from the station yard all the way down Buckingham Palace road. The train was a quartet of an hour late in reaching the terminus, and the ten royal carriages, all of them homed with fine bays, and long white to wait. The Queen's Indian attendant drove out of the yard first in a brougham, accompanied by two ladies, then came the Guards, then the outriders in scarlet, and then the Queen's carriage and four. The HOODS WERE THROWN BACK, by command of Her Majesty, so that all could plainly see the sovereign, who was very warmly wrapped up, and who bowed frequently in response to the loud cheering and waving of handkerchiefs. The Empress Frederick, who looked as if she had a cold, sat at the Queen's left hand, and Princess Henry of Battenberg was opposite. The carriage seemed to sit much lower in the carriage than usual, I thought. The Empress Frederick, who was wearing a black, wore a very long thin black veil, which blew about in the bitter wind as the carriage went by. Princess Henry was looking the picture of health and very handsome. She holds herself splendidly, even regally, and was dressed in a beautiful light brown coat, trimmed with sable, and wore a hat with violets. The horses trotted very slowly, so that every one was able to have a good look at the Queen, who is in excellent health and spirits at present.

THE QUEEN'S DRESSES. It has been pointed out that those who grumble at the Queen's simplicity of dress are mistaken in thinking that she does not encourage trade. During the past year she had nearly seventy gowns made by one dressmaker alone, and these ordinary ones, not court dresses. The reason why people imagine that the Queen never has new things is that the new are exactly like the old. Always averse to change, merely for fashion's sake, the Queen insists on having her gowns all made alike, so that she may avoid the feeling that she has on new clothes and be as comfortable as in the old. On either side of the bodice she has a small pocket—one for her watch, the other for her eye-glasses—and they must be in exactly the old position, so as to be found without trouble. Just below the collar—which, by the way, is never allowed to be a fashionable height or tightness—is a secret pocket for the KEY OF THE DESPATCH BOX. Moreover, no matter what the material of the gown, a piece of tape is to be placed upon it somewhere, the Queen having kept up this custom ever since her widowhood. Her Majesty is very particular about her gloves, which she has very small hands, of which she is, perhaps, a trifle proud. Though she possesses magnificent furs, she never wears them, hence her adoption of sable—and such sable!—at the drawing-room caused considerable satisfaction. Seal skin she cannot endure, and she even dislikes the smell of it. It was noticed at the drawing-room last week that a great many of the young ladies, and not a few also of those who have reached middle age, wore their hair pulled out over the ears, in the new Parisian fashion. The style is rather more universally becoming than some of those which have been the rage lately. English hairdressers do not, however, cover the whole of the ear, as the mode is in Paris, and the hair, which is very thickly waved, is raised at each side of the center parting, while the pulled in its place against the coils at the back by little jeweled combs.

New Factory on Duane Street. The Manufacturers' Committee visited the Gendron Manufacturing Company's works in Duane-street yesterday afternoon, and, after inspecting the different branches of the establishment, they decided to recommend the City Council to give the company a grant of $10,000 for the purpose of erecting a new factory (school rooms and local improvements) on the building and grounds, so far as the manufacturing and ration roads is concerned, the proportion to be determined by the Assessment Commissioner.

NOW FOR THE POTATO PATCHES.

Quarter-Acre Allotments No Made at St Andrew's Hall on Tuesday Evening Next.

The sub-committee re potato patches met in the City Hall last evening, Ald Leslie in the chair. It was reported that the committee had particulars of 191 lots of one-quarter of an acre each, and that these would be allocated to deserving applicants at a public meeting to be held at the City Council on Monday afternoon for $500, which sum, will, it is expected, cover the first year's expenses, who any offers of hoes, rakes and tools, together with seed-potatoes, will be thankfully accepted by City Relief Officer Taylor, and acknowledged at the council meeting. The Detroit scheme started on a small scale, and it is sanguinely expected that this Toronto experiment will be equally a success.

TO CLOSE BRANCH LIBRARIES.

Owing to the Reduction of the Estimates By the City Council.

The Public Library Board met yesterday afternoon, A. E. Bowdell, Q.C., presided, and were present H. T. Kelly, J. Kerr, W. T. J. Lee, the Mayor, Ald. H. H. Baldwin, Mr. McLaughlin, P. Somers and John Taylor.

The Library Committee reported that the council had struck off $8000, or seventh of the total estimates, which were prepared with the strictest regard to economy. The amount passed by the council was a reduction of $8000, and the maintenance and management of the library and its four branches. The committee recommended that the western and northern branches be closed on and after July 1 next. The report was adopted.

CHURCH OF THE ASCENSION.

Welcome to the Minister and Presentation to Mr. Dixon.

In the Church of Ascension school house last night Prof. Goldwin Smith presided at a reception tendered to Rev. G. A. Kuehling, the locum tenens during the six months' absence of the rector, Rev. H. G. Baldwin, who has gone to Europe for the benefit of his health. At the same time, the opportunity was taken to present an address to Rev. H. C. Dixon, who for the past 27 years has been identified with the cottage mission in connection with the church, but owing to other duties claiming his attention is now retiring.

London's Growth a Marvel to the Americans.

London, May 10.—United States Ambassador Bayard was present this afternoon at a meeting at which Lord Salisbury delivered a speech in behalf of the fund started by the Bishop of St. Albans for the promotion of religion in the east of London. Mr. Bayard, in responding to a resolution defining the objects of the fund, said that the growth of London, wonderfully increased the American, which completely crippled me. I have ever seen, and I heartily recommend it to all sufferers from this disease.

CANCER ON THE LIP.

CURED BY AYER'S Sarsaparilla.

"I consulted doctors who prescribed for me a course of medicine, but it did not do me any good. I suffered in agony for seven long years. Finally, I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and after using it a few days, I decided to give it a trial. I was cured. I am now well and happy. I am a great believer in Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and I recommend it to all who are afflicted with cancer on the lip. It is a true and reliable remedy. I am, Sir, your obedient servant, JAMES E. NICHOLSON, Florenceville, N.B."

CLERGYMEN AND LAYMEN UNITE.

In Their Praises of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder.

Taking the Bishop of Toronto, Right Rev. A. Sweetman, D.D., D.C.L., three of the leading members of the Faculty of McMaster Hall, and men like the Rev. W. H. Withrow, D.D., and others, as representing the Methodist Church, all of whom have spoken in high terms of the merits of Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, and unite with these warm endorsements of this medicine by the well-known Toronto journalist, Mr. W. L. Smith, as representing the laymen, and it must be granted that clergymen and laymen are of one mind touching this truly meritorious medicine. The truth is that everyone who uses the medicine has a good word to say for it.

IT DOES BOTH.

South American Kidney Cure Not Only Relieves Kidney Disease, It Also Heals and Removes the Trouble.

Those dragging pains in the loins that are a common symptom of kidney trouble are most distressing, but they are only the forerunner of more acute pain, and will develop rapidly if an effective remedy is not applied. No medicine acts on the kidneys with such speediness as South American Kidney Cure. It gives relief in the most distressing cases in a few hours. But it does not stop there. It is a great healer, and its continuous use for a short time completely banishes the disease. It is a cure for kidney trouble, and only it, but it never fails.

HEART DISEASE OF 20 YEARS' STANDING RELIEVED IN A DAY.

Mr. Aaron Nichols, Who Has Lived On One Farm For 70 Years, Tells That He Knows of Dr. Agnew's Cure For the Heart.

This is to certify that I have bought two bottles of Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart for my wife, who has been troubled for the past twenty years with heart disease. The first few doses gave relief, and she has had more benefit from it than from all the doctoring she ever did. The remedy acts like magic on a diseased heart. I am pleased to give this certificate.
