"The stock has a great local reputation; animals have been sent from the pastures to the Lunesdale and Lancaster shows, and carried off many of the premiums, the cup for the best collection of animals having been won in 1865, and again in 1869; many of the stock have been sold fat to the butcher at from 40 to 50 guineas each. The animals are of large scale and great substance, combining therewith excellent dairy properties, very uniform in character, and regular breeders."

Cawood's Rose was recognized by Mr. Thornton, and all the noted Short Horn breeders at the sale, as the finest Cow of the Herd, and her calves brought higher prices than any others. The Cow was bought at Arkholme, September, 1875, for 87 guineas. An advance on the purchase price was offered after the sale, both in London and Liverpool.
