THE KICKERS' MEETING.

The annual meeting of the competitors was held Tuesday evening in the Drill Hall, Lieut.-Col. Tilton in the chair. Among the shots this little meeting is familiarly known as the kickers' meeting, and the name was applicable enough. Several minor grievances of the competitors were ventilated; then came the big kick of the day, that about the bad ammunition and the alleged frauds in connection with the Macdougall match.

Capt. Hood, of the P. W. R., started the ball rolling by enquiring why the executive had seen fit to use the 1894 ammunition, knowing it to be inferior to 1893.

Major Mason, of the 13th, Hamilton, a member of the executive and chairman of the Match Committee, explained that the 1894 ammunition had been ordered because the cartridge factory authorities had offered to put it up in more convenient packages. Major Provost, superintendent of the factory, had said that it was equal to 1893 make, the same powder being used. As soon as the inferiority of the ammunition was proven steps were taken to procure 1893 ammunition. As to the Macdougall match, fired before the 1894 ammunition was discarded, there was proof that competitors had used 1893 instead of that served out, and, as this was unfair to those who used the authorized ammunition, the match had been struck out of the aggregate.

Major Sam Hughes, also a member of the Match Committee, explained that he had personally investigated the matter, and found that 1893 ammunition was used, although the rules restricted the competitors to ammunition supplied by the association. There had been many cases of men calling themselves militiamen and marksmen running up and down ranges offering 40 cents a package for ammunition to give them an unfair advantage over other competitors. These men had confessed to him on his promise that he would not expose them that they had used 1893 ammunition.

Lieut. J. D. Taylor, of the British Columbia Garrison Artillery, created much amusement by solemnly reading a rule of the association to the effect that any member having knowledge of a breach of the regulations by any competitor and not at once reporting it to the executive should forfeit his prizes and entrance money.

Finally a resolution was passed on a division, requesting the committee to refer the question of the McDougall match and also the Hamilton Powder Company's match, with a view of deciding whether either of these matches, or both, should be struck out from the aggregate.

Lieut.-Col. Hood then drew attention to the fact that Major Ibbotson, the commandant, Capt. Kirkpatrick, adjutant, and most of the members of this year's Bisley team were present, and called for three rousing cheers for them, which were given with a will.

Major Ibbotson and Capt. Kirkpatrick fittingly responded, and the kickers' meeting for 1894 was over.

THE THIRD DAY.

The Executive Committee of the D. R. A., Wednesday reached the important decision to eliminate the scores made in the Hamilton Powder Company's match, as well as the Macdougall, from the grand aggregate, these being the two matches fired with bad ammunition.

The programme of the matches was confined to the Walker Battalion match, for teams of six, and the Henshaw match, one of the most trying matches of the series, consisting of seven shots of 200 yards standing, and ten shots at 600 yards, any position. The weather was all that could be desired. The temperature all the week had been acceptable and the competitors had very little cause for complaint.

The Walker Challenge Cup, the six badges and $48, was captured by the Toronto Kilties, 48th, who deserve great credit for their splendid victory. A small cup, which becomes the absolute property of the highest individual scorer, was captured by Staff-Sergeant G. Brooks, of the Royal Grenadiers, with a score of 98 out of a possible 105. This is the best total made on the range this week at Queen's ranges. The high scoring made since the '93 ammunition was brought into the use is remarkable. Last year the Walker was made up from the scores recorded in the Dominion of Canada match, which is at the same ranges, and was captured by the famous 12th Battalion, with 520 points, so that the shooting to-day shows a net increase of three points per man. This is largely due to the benefit of coaching, which was not allowed last year owing to it being an individual match. Last year the Henshaw was captured with a score of 73, and 62's came into the prize list. To-day Pte Murdoch, of the 13th, scored 75 points, while eight 65's counted out.
