

gliding beside the horseman for some time in a dignified, sedate silence, reiterated the word "friend;" then, in a thickly wooded declivity, disappeared as suddenly and mysteriously as he had appeared, and was swallowed up in the lonely gloom and inky depths of the dense forest round about.