

	Page..		Page.
Well, Claudius, are the Forces . . . . .	419	Where are the Friends of my Youth . . . . .	492
What Beauties Does Flora Disclose . . . . .	148	Where art thou Loveliest, O Nature, Tell! . . . . .	316
What Change has Made the Pastures Sweet . . . . .	103	Where Did You Come From, Baby Dear . . . . .	398
What Does Little Birdie Say . . . . .	400	Where is now the Merry Party . . . . .	540
What Heavy-hoofed Coursiers the Wilderness Roam . . . . .	172	Where the Remote Bermudas Ride . . . . .	226
What Hidest Thou in Thy Treasure-caves and Cells . . . . .	217	Which is the Wind That Brings the Cold . . . . .	135
What Household thoughts around thee as their Shrine . . . . .	381	"Which Shall it Be? Which Shall it Be?" . . . . .	22
What is the Meaning of the Song . . . . .	548	While Moonlight, Silvering all the Walls . . . . .	129
What! Irving! thrice Welcome, warm Heart and fine Brain . . . . .	347	While Quaker Folks Were Quakers Still, Some Fifty Years Ago . . . . .	454
What might be Done if Men were Wise . . . . .	296	While with a Strong yet Gentle hand . . . . .	349
What needs my Shakespeare for his Honored Bones . . . . .	348	Whither, 'Midst Falling Dew . . . . .	129
What! Robbed the Mail at Midnight! We'll trail them down, You bet . . . . .	333	Who Puts Out at Der Pest Hotel . . . . .	443
Whatever I Do and Whatever I Say . . . . .	451	Who's That Tapping at the Garden Gate . . . . .	574
What Stands upon the Highland? . . . . .	141	Why all this Toil for Triumphs of an Hour . . . . .	434
What's This Dull Town to me . . . . .	91	Why don't I work? Well, sir, Will you . . . . .	304
When a Child I Liv'd at Lincoln, with my Parents at the Farm . . . . .	542	"Why is the Forum Crowded? What Means this Stir in Rome?" . . . . .	173
When Barren Doubt Like a Late-coming Snow . . . . .	35	Why Should I, With a Mournful, Morbid Spleen . . . . .	125
When Britain First at Heaven's Command . . . . .	246	Wild Offspring of a Dark and Sullen Sire . . . . .	121
When Chill November's surly Blast . . . . .	326	Wild was the Night, Yet a Wilder Night . . . . .	59
When First I saw Sweet Peggy . . . . .	80	Willie, Fold Your Little Hands . . . . .	184
When First the Flame of Day . . . . .	151	Will the New Year Come To-night, Mama? I'm Tired of Waiting So . . . . .	266
When for Me the silent Oar . . . . .	382	Willow! in thy Breezy Moan . . . . .	119
When Freedom From her Mountain Height . . . . .	241	With Deep Affection . . . . .	448
When Hope lies Dead within the Heart . . . . .	325	With fingers Weary and Worn . . . . .	295
When I Beneath the Cold Red Earth am Sleeping . . . . .	274	With Heavy Pack upon his Back . . . . .	480
When Israel, of the Lord Beloved . . . . .	373	Within a Tuck and Spreading Hawthorn Bush . . . . .	129
When Love with Unconfined Wings . . . . .	96	Within this Sober realm of leafless Trees . . . . .	327
When on the Mount the Prophet Stood . . . . .	554	Without Your Showers . . . . .	126
When Other Lips and Other Hearts . . . . .	512	With silent awe I hail the sacred Morn . . . . .	371
When on the breath of Autumn Breeze . . . . .	313	Woodman, Spare that Tree . . . . .	264
When Princely Hamilton's Abode . . . . .	197	Would Ye be Taught, Ye Feathered Throng . . . . .	90
When Sparrows Build and the Leaves Break Forth . . . . .	81	Would You Know Why I Summoned You To- gether . . . . .	433
When That My Mood is Sad, and in the Noise . . . . .	284	Ye little Snails . . . . .	159
When That the Fields Put on Their Gay Attire . . . . .	127	Ye Mariners of England . . . . .	208
When the Autumn Leaves are Falling . . . . .	570	Ye Nymphs of Tolyra! Begin the Song . . . . .	365
When the Black-lettered List to the Gods was Presented . . . . .	34	Ye Shepherds, give Ear to my lay . . . . .	73
When the Hounds of Spring are on Winter's Traces . . . . .	581	Ye Sons of Freedom, Wake to Glory . . . . .	245
When the Lessons and Tasks are all Ended . . . . .	397	Ye stars that look at Me To-night . . . . .	95
When the Mild Weather Came . . . . .	236	Yes, Dear one, to the Envied Train . . . . .	95
When the Swallows Homeward Fly . . . . .	520	"Yes, I answered You last Night" . . . . .	67
When the Warm Sun That Brings . . . . .	115	Yes, surely the Bells in the Steeple . . . . .	458
When Topowell Thought Fit From the World to Retreat . . . . .	439	Yes, 'tis Emilia:—By and-By—She's Dead . . . . .	430
When troubled in Spirit, when weary of Life . . . . .	317	Yes, Wife, I'd be a Throned King . . . . .	65
When we Hear the music Ringing . . . . .	364	"You have heard," said a Youth to his Sweet- heart, who Stood . . . . .	103
When we Two Parted . . . . .	85	You have read of the Moslem Palace . . . . .	375
When Winter Winds are Piercing Chill . . . . .	134	You know we French stormed Ratisbon . . . . .	246
Whence come those Shrieks so Wild and Shriill . . . . .	293	You may notch it on de Palin's as a mighty resky Plan . . . . .	202
		Young Ben he was a nice Young Man . . . . .	470
		Young Neuha plunged into the Deep, and he . . . . .	201
		Young Rory O'More Courted Kathleen Bawn . . . . .	82
		Your Wedding ring wears thin, Dear Wife . . . . .	24