

The following Letters, being merely of a private character, were not originally intended for publication; but containing, as they do, much that is useful and instructive, the writer has consented to their appearance in print.

