
Noteworthy Critical Reception Accorded Will Levington Comfort's

DOWN AMONG MEN.

Outlook: Possessed of a marvellous descriptive genius, equipped with a remarkably flexible use of English, and impelled by the passion of a mystic,—the author of Down Among Men has written a striking novel. His picture of the Russian soldiers is epic in its quality.

Literary Digest: A book for real men and women—unusually powerful and thrilling. The book is bound to create discussion.

William Merton Payne in The Dial: Seems to us the most exalted and appealing story Mr. Comfort has thus far written. His picture of the struggle in the fields of millet—out of which was born Morning's great resolution—has the Tolstoyan handling. The scenes are set forth with a sense of beauty and power of conviction that are expressive of the author's terrible earnestness and deep sincerity.

The Argonaut: A purpose so strong as to amount almost to a passion, and so vivid as to give
