The mistakes made by the great Roman Empire have been paralleled in modern times by the mistakes made by the United States, It was not a mere idle dream to suppose, said Mr. Cunningham, that within the present century the place of dominance now held by the United States would pass to Canada. That Canada might be prepared to long hold that article of the comes to her, it behooves Canadians now to spare no efforts nor expense in to amply preepare her boys and girls for Rotary Club, pointed out in an address General Manager E. Discussing the boys' work undertaken by the Windsor Rotary Club, Mr. Cunningham explained fully the comprehensive and progressive plans which that club has ready for the establishment of a juvenile court in Windsor. A residence is to be procured on the outskirts of the city and instead of being known as a detention home will be called "Rotary Cottage" or some similarly euphonious name. Rooms will be furnished for the boy inmates as they would be furnished for boys in their own homes. There will be a large garden, with rabbits, chickens and other pets to interest the boys. Here juvenile offendors will appear in court and be detained pending disposition of their cases.

The boys' work of the Windsor Rotary Club is conducted under six subcommittees and annually between 2.390 and $2.400 is expended, part of the amount being raised through popular apepals.

CLEANING THE STREETS Will Soon Be Finished, Says City Engineer Brazier.

Spring cleaning of London's 26 miles of pavement will be completed Tuesday. City Engineer Brazier, who has been ill for a short time, returned to work today. He stated that the annual work on the streets was well under way. Snow disappeared from the streets in a surprisingly short time this year, and it was possible to begin cleaning the pavements at an early date.

In addition to this, construction work is under way. Sewers are being laid in West London and East London,

Previous to this the policy had been to creet a house only when a specific application had been made for it, and the plans approved by the prospective purchaser. The policy followed on Beatrice street was to erect the houses according to the housing commission's plans and to sell them when completed. The house in question was sold before completion. When the work was fin-ished it was found that the cost was considerably above the estimate. The purchaser asked to be relieved of his contract. The commission agreed and promptly sold the house again to anther purchaser, who was willing to pay the higher price.
