Medical Inspection in St. John Schools Next Year

Chairman Emerson Says This Will Be One of the First Claims on the School Board's Extra Revenue

Medical inspection of the pupils in the public schools, which has been widely adopted throughout the continent and which has been strongly advocated in St. John, will be introduced during the coming year.

R. B. Emerson, chairman of the Board of School Trustees, speaking of the use which would be made of the additional grant for school purposes this year, said yesterday that this would be one of the first claims on the extra revenue. He regarded it as of prime importance, as the money spent on the mental training of the child was simply wasted if the physical health was neglected, and the pupils finished the course hampered by ill-health and unable to use to advantage the education which had been secured.

With better health the children could study better and a close watch of their physical condition would make for greater efficiency in all departments. The estimated cost of the medical supervision is about $2,000 a year.

LITTLE CAREY GIRL STILL WITH ARMY

Several Want to Adopt Her, But Matter Has Not Reached That Stage

That the case of Ida May Carey, a little girl who was said to have been deserted by her father on the steamer Yarmouth and who is now being cared for by the matron of the Evangeline Home, has aroused the sympathy of several persons in the city is shown by the fact that last evening and this morning enquiries had been received over the telephone in regard to the little one and in some instances the persons calling expressed a desire to adopt her rather than allow her to go to the Municipal Home. Speaking to a Times reporter today the matron said that the case was a most unusual one and on account of the child's mother and father being alive, no steps would be taken towards having her sent to the Municipal Home. Mr. Wetmore said that he also had received offers to adopt the child but would not comply until he was sure her parents could not be located and that her friends did not want to take her.

THREE MORE LIGHTS FOR BURIAL GROUND

In Spite of Need There is Protest—Market Square Better Illuminated

In their determination to make the Old Burial Ground safe and respectable at night time the city commissioners have decided to place three additional arc lights. One is to be placed on the southern side on the pathway bordering King street East, another at the north-east corner, near Carmarthen street and the third will be on the lower pathway running from the entrance opposite the brewery to Sydney street. These with the lights already in use in the middle of the place will make a great difference and will prevent its use as a resort for drunks and others.

In spite of the need for this reform a complaint was received at city hall this morning regarding the placing of poles in the burying ground. The committee of public safety said in reply that the poles interfere with no graves and their presence is far less desecration than the practices which the extra illumination is intended to stop.

Market Square is another place which is to be better lighted. Arc lights will be placed at the corner of Prince William and the square, and at the entrance to Dock street. A 100 watt light will be placed at the head of North Wharf and possibly another of the same size at the Bank of Montreal corner.

THOMAS TYE DEAD IN CHICAGO

Was on a Visit to St. John Relatives Two Years Ago and Won Regard of All

A telegram received by Reg. D. S. O'Keefe yesterday conveyed news that will be read with regret by many in St. John, telling as it did, of the death of Thomas Tye of West Chicago. Mr. Tye passed away on Wednesday night in the hospital in Edin, Illinois. He was between forty and forty-five years of age, was prominent in business life, a dealer in leather and hides, and occupied the position of mayor of West Chicago.

Mr. Tye was a second cousin of Father O'Keefe's mother, Mrs. Mary O'Keefe, of Waterloo street. He is survived by his wife, father and mother, several brothers and sisters and other relatives at his home, besides family connections in St. John.

Two years ago Mr. Tye and his wife came to the city and were the guests of Mrs. O'Keefe for a time on a visit. Only a few months previous to that date the St. John and Chicago branches of the family came to know each other and the existence of the other and, as reported in this paper at the time, the fact became known through a letter of inquiry from Chicago received by Rev. J. J. O'Donovan, of Carleton. Mr. Tye on his visit here, won the high opinion of all he met and the regret at his death is very great.
