"THE GODDESS" REACHES WONDERFUL NEW YORK

Imperial and Standard's Serial Story intensely interesting this week—Good show throughout.

The Esanay three-part feature "Temper," introducing Henry B. Walthall to the friends of the great Chicago company, was put on at the Imperial yesterday and it is to be considered a fair sample of what the people may expect of this star in his new surroundings some great treats are in store surely. It was a marvelously fine picture, photographically perfect and dramatically of the highest order. Ruth Stonehouse and other well known players were in the same play and of course helped make the production the artistic triumph which it certainly is. It is the Esanay Co. who have Francis X. Bushman and Charles Chaplin in their stock companies, so now with Mr. Walthall they are further entrenched themselves in public favor.

The Wilton Sisters are a most exquisite little bit of vaudeville. They are in a class with Marion Weeks, the dainty wee lady of several months ago, who sang the Doll Song from the Tales of Hoffman. In the first place these girls are splendid musicians. They play the piano and violin most artistically, rounding off their performance with singing and dancing in the most finished style. It really makes one feel sorry for old age to look upon the freshness and charm as exhibited in the Misses Wilton. A special attraction with these girls is their stunning little frocks and the manner in which they wear their hair.

The Goddess—the Imperial's serial beautiful—is getting into the real interesting chapters now. Celestia (Antia Stewart) was carried away by Prof. Stittler and the old Indian "Mr. Smells-Good," in the last episode, these abductors took advantage of Tommy's predicament, that of being in bathing. From the forest fastnesses the hypnotist Stittler takes Celestia to the city of New York. It is in her entry into the metropolis that the chief interest of this week's instalment lies. The filmy-garbed girl of course creates a sensation among the people and Prof. Stittler and Tommy are busy guarding her lest she be made the butt of jokes.

Tomorrow and Thursday one of the funniest plays in existence will be produced at the Imperial by the Famous Players Co. The name of "The One," will be assumed by that bewitching favorite Haseel Dawn. This is guarantee of the attractiveness of the piece. Many have seen Nibbe on the stage. It was played in St. John by the Harkins Co. with a splendid cast some years ago. It is the story of a henpecked husband who being a lover of art purchased a statue of Nibbe said to be 2,000 years old. Emerging from a curse of the gods, the statue comes to life in the old fellow's home while his wife was away. Imagine the predicament.

Great preparations are being made by the Imperial staff for their second anniversary next week. The name of "The Week" is going to be devoted to high-class film productions—a double bill each show. The first four days will be a red-letter engagement when the greatest of all comedy-films "Tillie's Punished Romance" (6 reels) will be put on with Marie Weaver, Charles Chaplin, Mabel Normand and fifty other comedians in the cast.

GET INTRODUCED TO THE COLLEGE GIRL

She is to be seen at the Opera House where she delighted many people last night.

The third week of the Klark Urban Company's engagement in this city opened auspiciously last night and the performance given by the company was well up to the standard set in the previous productions. A large audience greeted the company and the applause given so generously and frequently throughout the piece sufficiently evidenced appreciation of the play and the players.

Least night's opening bill was almost a contrast to the play given the latter part of last week, "The Divorce Question," last evening's bill being "The College Girl," a combination of the real old-time melodrama and sparkling comedy, replete with situations affording an abundance of laughs, as well as tense moments where the villain—not the kid glowing drawing room style—but one with really wicked ways, keeps the audience guessing what his next trick will be. There is a swing to the piece, plenty of action and opportunities for good work. The company gave a good interpretation of the piece, although the conception of some of the roles could undoubtedly have come nearer the author's idea. But taken all through the performance was of a high order and merited the hearty applause it received.

The ladies of the company handled their roles capably and were applauded frequently. Among the male members of the cast the greatest share of the work fell to Mr. Klark, Mr. Brower and Mr. Patterson. All did well. Mr. Brower's work as the villain deserving special mention. Another of the men who did good work was Billy Webb, who by the way is a former St. John boy. Much of the comedy work fell to his shoulders. He was furnished material for a number of laughs in the course of the performance.

While the play is in itself a good evening's entertainment, there are vaudeville numbers between the acts. This feature is of particularly high merit and another proof of the versatility of the members of the company. "The College Girl" will be repeated today and tomorrow, with a matinee daily. Last evening's audience stamped the performance with the seal of their hearty approval and as crowded houses have been the order since the company opened its engagement large audiences are looked for during the rest of the week.

THE MAN OF THE HOUR SCREENED AT LYRIC

A first-class programme in popular Picture House—See the Vaudeville.

The Lyric Theatre has been showing extra good subjects in the photograph drama lately but nothing better than the production of the big dramatic success, "The Man of the Hour," which was shown last night. A play on the legitimate stage, "The Man of the Hour" was one of the biggest successes of the present generation; it ran for one whole year in New York, had a long run in Boston, Chicago, and all the principal cities and at the same time there were seven first class companies on tour. As a play on the screen it has been equally as popular and the patrons of the Lyric enjoyed every part of it last night.

The story of the play is both timely and popular, expelling as it does corruption and graft in municipal politics, with a reform Mayor as the principal character, who, fearless and with a determination to do right, thrives down the gauntlet to the ward boss and the ring in control of the city and finally drives them to a just punishment. There is plenty of sensation, thrills, exciting climaxes and strong dramatic situations all through the play, lightened here and there with bright sparkling comedy and a pretty love story. The photography is excellent and the stage settings are fine. "The Man of the Hour" will be repeated today and tomorrow.

The vaudeville act, "The Kelloggs," is one of the best features the Lyric has had this season. Both members of the team are good dancers and they do plenty of it. This act will be enjoyed by every patron of the Lyric.

The second chapter of "Who Pays" is announced for Thursday.

SAMUEL WHITE IS CHARGED WITH THEFT

Said he was a Military Policeman but had nothing to show he was such.

Samuel White, a lance corporal of the 55th Battalion was before the police court yesterday afternoon charged by Patrolman Hogg with being drunk, using profane language and causing a disturbance on the corner of Britain and Prince William streets last Saturday afternoon about 12.45 o'clock. For these offences White was remanded to jail.

These charges, however, are not the most serious made against the prisoner, for Private J. H. Simpson of the 5th Battalion, appeared in court, and charged White with robbing him of his pass, and between seven and eight dollars last Friday afternoon on Duke street. For the latter charge a preliminary hearing was commenced.

In the first charge Patrolman Hogg gave evidence concerning the arrest. White claimed that he was a military police but he had nothing with him to show that he was such.

Private J. H. Simpson of the 64th gave evidence that he arrived in the city from Sussex Camp on Thursday last having a pass which entitled him to remain away until Sunday night. On Friday afternoon he was in the company of White and three other soldiers from the 55th Battalion. While the party was together on Duke street White took hold of witness and threw him to the ground saying he was a military policeman and that he was going to take charge of him. White then put his hand in witness' pocket and took the pass and money. White then placed him in an automobile and conveyed him to Water street lockup and later allowed him to go.

On Friday night witness said he met White and asked him where the money and pass were and was told they were up in the police station. Witness then made a complaint at police headquarters against White. Inspector Wickham gave evidence that when he searched White after he was arrested he found Simpson's pass and some small change in White's pocket. There was also a pass giving White leave of absence from Camp Valcartier to Moncton and the time was up on Thursday last.

In his own defence White stated that he was sent from Camp Valcartier to Moncton to round up members of the 55th Battalion and send them back to camp and had sent fifteen soldiers from that town. He then thought he would come to St. John on the same mission and sent a telegram to the officer commanding to the effect that he had left Moncton for St. John. On Friday afternoon last he met Private Simpson coming along the street interfering with young ladies and using some very bad language, so he immediately placed the young soldier under arrest. The defendant said that he did not take the pass and money from Simpson but that another soldier of the 55th did so, that Simpson's pass was handed to defendant, who forgot to return it to Simpson when he was let go. The soldier who took the money did not return with it and he did not see the man with the money since. In cross examination by White Simpson said he was not sure who took the money, he did not see it with White, but he saw White put his hand in the pocket.

K. J. MacRae appeared for the defendant, who was remanded to jail and as White was leaving the court house he tore the corporal's stripe from his arm and threw it away.

BOYS BEFORE COURT CHARGED WITH THEFT

One witness examined and prisoners were remanded to jail—Two breaks.

On Friday last Detectives Barrett and Briggs managed to round up no less than seven youths, charged with theft and Sunday the eighth boy was arrested. Those arrested on Friday were: Gerald Kinsella, Harry Tower, Robert Garnett, William Maher and Abe Lavigne, all charged with having broken into Thos. Dean's grocery on the corner of Wall and City Road and stealing a quantity of goods. On the same day Guy Northrup and Fred Wilson were arrested on the charge of stealing money from a Chinese laundry. Sunday Myer Lavigne was apprehended and charged with the robbing of the Dean's break. They were all, with the exception of Myer Lavigne, remanded to jail on Saturday morning.

Yesterday afternoon Myer Lavigne and Fred Wilson were taken before the police court on the charge of robbing. Wilson having been charged with this robbery as well as that from the laundry. Both pleaded not guilty. Harold Wilson, about eleven years of age, and a brother of the defendant, was the only witness examined and testified that one night he had been at the circus on the Barrack Green in company with his brother Fred, Myer Lavigne, John Phinney, Frank Phalen.

It was quite late when they left the grounds and it was about 11.30 o'clock at night when they reached the corner of Wall street and City Road, where Dean's grocery is situated. He testified that a pane of glass was broken in the store window and the opening was closed with a piece of a board. Some person in the crowd whom he is quite sure was Myer Lavigne called out for some person to keep a watch and witness went to the corner and stood guard. He then saw Myer Lavigne push the board away and take from the window a bottle of fruit syrup and a jar of jam. Witness carried the jam and Lavigne carried the syrup. The party then adjourned to the woods and that night slept in a camp near where witness resided. In the morning they ate the jam, drank some of the syrup and then threw the jar and bottle into the woods at a place which on Sunday he pointed out to Detective Briggs, who found the articles where witness said they would be.

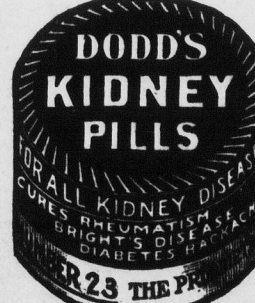

On being cross examined by Lavigne witness stuck to his story about seeing the prisoner stealing the articles from the store, and at the same time he said that Frank Phalen was taking gum from a gum slot machine. Witness said he was watching at the corner for he was quite sure that it was Lavigne who asked him to do so. Witness said they were all standing at the corner while Lavigne was robbing the store. The prisoners were remanded to jail.

ROTARY CLUB TO LOCK LOMOND

H. G. Marr arranged fine outing for members—Travelled via the water route.

The Rotary Club varied its usual programme by holding this week's meeting at the Barker House, at Loch Lomond last evening. The affair was arranged by H. G. Marr, who gathered from among the members enough cars to take out all who were able to go. Some sixty members left the Imperial Theatre at five o'clock accompanied, as guided by Commissioner Wigmore. The route traversed took in all the points of interest in connection with the city water system, and at each stop the commissioner explained the workings of the plant, tracing the course of the water until it reaches the city and describing the workings of the different stations, gates, etc.

Supper was served shortly after six o'clock, and afterwards a couple of hours were devoted to speeches and songs. Among those who talked were Messrs. Wigmore, Magistrate Ritchie, Rev. J. J. McSkille, George Fleming, Harold Rising and a bunch of visitors. There was a number of songs, or rather attempts thereto, for the Rotary Club as a body is not to be congratulated on its musical ability. In fact Rev. Mr. McSkille was moved to remark that "A swan sings before it dies. There is room for reform."
