(Special to Tribune.)

HIGHLY IMPORTANT!!

We stop the Press to announce on the authority of a special messenger just arrived, that the Corporation Scavangers have commenced to cut the ice on Prince Wm. street. In a few days, with the assistance of the genial rays of the sun, no doubt the street will be at least passible, and lost crossings will again appear.

THE OLIVER TRIAL.

At 2 o'clock the court room was crowded, both before and behind the rail, while many were unable to gain admittance. Mrs. Oliver was brought down and seated in the court room, she looked anxiously around, to see if on any face sympathy could be seen, first to the magistrate then to the chief, while occasionally consulting her lawyer.

W. V. Barbour was the first witness. I live on Queen street, next house to Mrs. Oliver. Since she was convicted before I have been annoyed by parties coming to my door and asking for Mrs. Oliver at all hours of the night. Have seen men and women going into the house at very unreasonable hours; have heard noises of singing and dancing all night long. I believe she is keeping the same house as before she was convicted. A short time since I heard a woman screaming "police" from Mrs. Oliver's windows, and there were several persons stoning her windows at the time. Have been annoyed beyond measure. The cross-examination elicited nothing further.

Thomas P. Davis sworn: I live in Queen street near Mrs. Oliver. While I was sleeping in the forent of my house I was disturbed by parties knocking at the door of the house, from midnight to 3 o'clock. One night I saw a woman going up street taking and saying "she would not be imposed upon." There was a coach in waiting, and a man followed the woman; she would not return with him and another woman came from the house and asked for the first one. The man said she had the "belly ache" and had gone away. Again I was disturbed while sleeping at the back of the house. I went to the window, three people were standing knocking for admittance. A voice from the window asked them what they wanted. They told whom was speaking what they wanted, which it is not necessary to publish here, and were admitted.

Cross-examined—Did not know that Mrs. Oliver could prevent knocking at the door, but she admitted the parties. The woman I saw certainly came from Mrs. Oliver's door. Swear positively I saw her coming from Mrs. Oliver's, should think some of the parties were in liquor.

The Magistrate then said that was their case he did not consider it necessary to call all those who lived in the neighborhood.

Mr. Kerr said that if this was all the evidence for the prosecution he would say he was not prepared to go into his defence and would ask for an adjournment until Thursday. He also again asked if His Honor would take bail. His Honor said no.

The case was then adjourned until Thursday at 11 o'clock.

GLADSTONE'S "LIFE OF FARADAY," by Bence Jones. 16mo. Cloth, 90 cents

Michael Faraday. By J. H. GLADSTONE, Ph. D., F. R. S. 16mo. Cloth, 90 cents

It is founded mainly on the personal reminiscences of the writer. Mr. Gladstone is master of a happy and graceful narrative style. His memoir is written with warm personal feeling, no less than with a just appreciation of the position of Faraday as a man of science. It is intended for popular reading, and aims to do justice to the admirable personal qualities of the subject, which are quite as remarkable as his philosophical discoveries.—N. Y. Tribune.

May be had at McMILLAN'S, 78 Prince Wm. street.
