For an excellent thing Is a dollar or two— No friend is so true As a dollar or two. Through country and town,
As we pass up and down,
No prospect so good
As a dollar or two!

Would you read yourself out of the bach And the hand of a pretty young female to sue You must always be ready the handsome Although it will cost you a dollar or two

Love's arrows are tipped With a dollar or two And affections are gained With a dollar or two; The best aid you can meet In advancing your suit, Is the eloquent clink Of a dollar or two.

Would you wish your existence with faith And enroll in the ranks of the sanctified few To enjoy a good name, a good cushioned pew, You must freely come down with a dollar

The gospel is preached For a dollar or two; And salvation is reached By a dollar or two; You may sin someti But the worst of all crimes Is to find yourself short.
Of a dollar or two.

Farewell to Gooseberry Pie. A Song of the Beason
BY SMELFUNGUS.

As in life we advance, I have heard people say, With what truth I don't know that our feelings de Be that as it may, sure of one thing am I have not lost my relish for Gooseberry Pie, Gooseberry Pie, Gooseberry Pie,

I have not lost my relish for Gooseberry mayn't care so much as I did about flowers, I mayn't care so much as I did about nowers,
And daisies, and roses, and posies, and bowers,
In the days of my youth, though they have gone
I know I still care about Gooseberry Pie,
Gooseberry Pie, &c.
Bright eyes of young ladies though charming to
Mayn't have the effect they once had on me,
I'm not not to think me those eyes all my eye.

Mayn't have the effect they ofce had on the, I've not got to thinking those eyes all my eye, Although I think more about Gooseberry Pie, Gooseberry Pie, &c.

Maybe that the thought of reforming mankind, Has rather less hold than it had on my mind;

At times I'm afraid it's of no use to try,
But I've not lost my faith yet in Gooseberry Pie,
Gooseberry Pie, &c.
I like it with sugar, I like it with cream,
Oh, do not believe.

Oh, do not believe me the glutton I seem!
I seek not, I care not, for French seew or fry.
But I'm fond of a true English Gooseberry Pie.
Gooseberry Pie, &c. Now ripe are the gooseg ogs. I speak as a boy, And I've still a fresh feeling that Time can't destre

One youthful affection, when, heaving a sigh, I breathe a long taxewell to Gooseberry Pie? Gooseberry Pie, Gooseberry Pie, I retain my affection for Gooseberry Pie.

If we would have our touch healty, our brains must be used, and used in orderly and vigorous ways, that the life-giving accounts of force may flow down from them into the expertant organs, which can minister but as they are ministered unto. We admire the vigorous animal life of the Greeks, and with justice we recognize and partly seek to imitate the various gymnastic and other means which they comployed to secure it. But, brobably, we should make a fatal error if we omitted from our calculation the hearty and generous carnestness with which the highest subjects of art, speculation and politics, were pursued by them, Surely in their case the beautiful and energetic mental case the beautiful and energetic mental graceful frame. And were it a mere extravagence to ask whether some part of the latitude and weariness of life, of which we hear so much in our day might be due to lack of mental occupation on worthy subjects, exciting and repaying a generous enthusiasm, as well as to an over-exercise on lower ones?—whether an engrossment on matters which affect our mental convalescence? Any one who tries it soon finds out how wearying, how disproportionately exhausting is an overdorse of "light literature" compared with an equal of "light literature" compared with an equal of "light literature" compared with an equal disproportionately exhausting is an overdorse of "light literature" compared with an equal amount of time spent on real work.
