[Barn and House Plans Wanted

We want for publication in The Farming World during the next three months plans and descriptions of up-to-date barns and houses. The plans, if they cannot be drawn according to scale, may be neatly drawn by pencil on white paper, giving the dimensions, etc. In addition, particular attention should be given to material used, ventilation, and other information that might be useful to our farmers. If possible, photographs showing the buildings and grounds should be included. Plans should be clear in outline, so as to reproduce well. For such plans and descriptions of either as we accept and publish, we will pay $5.00.

Unlike many other journals, we have subscriptions coming due every month. If you are not sure your renewal would be received at once. Our two years for one dollar offer is still good.

If you have not already renewed, do so now and get the full benefit of this year's price. You can renew for two years. If you have a friend who wishes to subscribe, send his name along.
