LECTURES FOR NON-CATHOLICS. Catholic Citizen.

The first week's series of lectures to non-Catholics at St. John's cathedral, non-Catholics at St. John's cathedral, Milwaukee, closed on Sunday evening. A vast audience, crowding the aislos, choir gallery and sanctuary—greeted the Paulist Fathers. Indeed, many the Paulist Fathers. Indeed, many hundred were turned away for lack of room, so intense has been the interest aroused in the earnest-minded non-Catharoused in the entries initiated non-cath-olies of the city. Both lecturers, al-though kindly, are liked for their clear strong and uncompromising exposition of Catholie truth, and the nightly anof Carlos of a variety of queries on near-ly every possible doctrine and practice of the Catholic Church is pronounced a Special interest had been awakened treat. Special interest had been awakened in the lecture "Why I am a Catholic," because in view of it a Jewish Rabbi and some Protestant ministers had given in the morning paper their rea-sons for Judaism, Broad Church, Episco-calionism, Presbeterianism and Comprepalianism, Presbyterianism and Congregationalism. The vagueness and in-definiteness of these unsatisfactory reasons, made many of the thinking public most eager to hear the rational, scrip-tural and historical grounds on which the claims of the one, holy, Catholic tolic Church are based.

Archbishop Katzer, most kindly came apo to preside on the archiepiscopal throne and to give benediction of the and to give benefician by h most Blessed Sacrament. By h presence he gave the seal episcopal authority to the movement his of episcopal authority to the movement of the apostolate of the Paulist Fathers to non-Catholics, introduced for the first time into the diocese of Milwaukee. The arehbishop and many of the dio-cesan elergy, with the professors from the seminary declared themselves very much meand with the work closed much pleased with the work already done, and were glad with the joy of Christ Himself, the Good Shepherd of

Besides this many inquirers call person-ally every morning and afternoon at the cathedral rectory to ask their questions and present their difficulties. Back-sliding Catholies are also welcome, many availing themselves of the special grace of mission time to come back to their duty. Saturday is devoted en-tirely to confessions, and appointments can be made at any hour of the day with either of the missionaries. Great praise is due Father Keogh and his able assistant Father Huston, for their zealous work in this non-Catholic apostolate. It is due to their untring efforts that, humanly speaking, the lectures are so well attended. Some 13,000 announcement eards have been distributed, besides 8,000 church calen-ders, for September and October, filled
