MARCH.

The stormy March is come at last, With wind and cloud and changing seies; Thear the rushing of the blast That through the snowy ratter thes.

Ab, passing few are they who speak, Wild, stormy month! in praise of thee, Yet, though thy winds are loud and blear. Thou art a welcome month to me.

For thou to northern lands again The glad and glorious sun dost bring; And thou hast gined the gentle train, And wear'st the gentle name of spring.

And in thy reign of blast and storm, Smiles many a long, bright, sunny day, When the changed winds are soft and warm, And Heaven puts on the blue of May.

Then sing aloud the gushing rills, And the full springs from frost set free, That brightly leaping down the hills, Are just set out to meet the sea.

The year's departing beauty hides Of wintry storms the sullen threat; But in thy sternest frown abides A look of kindly promise yet.

Thou bring'st the hope of those calm skies, And that soft time of sunny showers, When the wide bloom on earth that lies Seems of a brighter world than ours.

Excellent but not Effective Preachers.

There is much truth in the following eloquent remarks of a gifted pastor in Philaphia:-

"There are numbers, in every section of the land, who have come forth, with rich literary attainments, from the university and the seminary, and who are adepts in the theory of their profession, and yet, when brought into the field of real service, prove utterly icet.
