Professor Johnston, a gentleman celebrated as an Agricultural Chemist and author of several works on the subject, visited North America last year, and gave lectures at several cities, in which he explained his particular theories and their Bulls on the state in which he found the Agriculture of Canada and the United States, and his account is by no means flattering. He says that in these Provinces, and in the Northern States of the by no means flattering. He says that in these Provinces, and in the Northern States of the Bread of the Repeal movement of the country. The announcement of the end of the Repeal movement was premature. At a meeting last week, the rent was declared at twenty-eight pounds, and it is now said that the Society is nearly out of debt. attributes this to the general ignorance of farming matters prevailing among the emigrants from Europe. Aimost all the new lands fall into their hands; they clear off and burn the timber, then raise two or three grain crops in succession, then put the land into grass, and keep it n grass perhaps for ten or twelve years—so long, the New England States, and the greatest part of the State of New York.

Professor Johnston observes, that the comparative ease with which grain is raised in the new and fertile lands in the West leaves very little inducement to the farmers in the Eastern States to reclaim their lands by adopting the improved Agricultural practice of England and Scotland, though even in the West wheat crops are neither large nor cheaply raised. The condition of the farmers in the North and East is stated to be wretched in readings at St. James Theatre, London, but the extreme-in Maine, they were nearly all with what success is not stated. bankrupt, and could not compete with those of Western New York, though even there many of them were laying their lands down in grass, be-

Parliament by ther many a grant the proposed Railways is, that such an advance, however useful, would be certain to lead to applications for similar assistance to other colonies to an extent that would be highly inconvenient.

I am to explain, however, that the Deputation have misunderstood His Lordship as having said that he had no doubt that, with the security which the Quebec and Melbourne Company had it in their power to give, the requisite funds might be raised in the City. The observation made by His Lordship was that, in the present state of the money market, these ought not to be any difficulty in obtaining money in the City for any work affording a really good security, and that if the present undertaking was calculated to be in-advantageous as it was represented, and as His Lordship believed it to be, it was probable that the capitalists of this country would not fail eventually to recognize its value, though perhaps it might take some time to restore the confidence which had been shaken by recent proceedings in Canada.

The Irish Tenant-Right Conference meeting, now being held at Dublin, is said to be a noble assembly; and, though its declarations are somewhat staggering, its orderly and business-like attitude is suggestive of success. What Sir Robert Peel, over and over again, in late Sessions, asked for Ireland, (a comprehensive legislation;) the Conference certainly offers, for their proposal is equivalent to a social revolution, the placing of the land in the hands of the people. If we mistake not, an agitation has commenced, which will against society in Ireland to its heart, and which, practical application. There was an exceedingly fair attendance at he Course yesterday, which is mainly to be attributed to the popularity of the Hurdle Race. The probability of serious accidents is too great an inducement for some persons to resist, and the mere "spilling" of the riders is regarded as
