When Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall was some time ago announce to hold forth at the Brisco Opera House, Chatham lovers of the drama looked forward to a theatrical treat of more than ordinary merit. night in the realization of this excellent production, the most sanguine of their anticipations was more than fulfilled. The Chatham audience who witnessed this production was one of the largest ever in attendance at the Brisco Theatre. At 8.50 there was standing room only. On the occasion of the fourth of these tributes of approval from the audience, Miss Burt graciously came forward to the centre of the stage to express her appreciation. She did so in such a winning manner as to provoke a continuation of the tumultuous applass, and she said that it was not unlikely that her company should ere long pay Chatham another visit.

and she said that it was not unliked by that her company should ere long pay chatham another visit.

Miss Burt portrays the passionate, whimsical, but withal lovable character of Dorothy Vernon with a vim and spirit which would be indeed difficult to equal. This lady has talent plus, which added to her naturally vivacious spirit, makes her impersonation of the part perfect. The impersonation of the Earl of Rutland, was splendidly taken by Henry Stanford. It will be a revelation to many, who witnessed last night's production, to learn that Mr. Stanford is but twenty-one years of age. The ease and grace with which he apparently interpreted his role won the audience from the start.

Miss Eugenie Du Bois as Queen Elizabeth and Miss Eloise Elliston as Mary, Queen of Scots, make two perfect Queens. They give the proper amount of dignity to their acting, and a stiff coldness characteristic of the terrible epoch in which the piot laid. Mr. James takes well the part of Perkins the jester. In fact all the supporting company were well up to the mark.

The production more than pleased its large audience, and Manager

WANTS NEW LEGISLATION

Ottawa, Jan. 10.—There was a fair attendance when the House convened at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon and some fifty questions were answered by the Ministry, the information, as a rule being already published in the blue books. blue books.

A long debate, to be continued on some future occasion, sprung up in connection with a resolution offered by R. L. Borden declaring:

"That in the opinion of this House more effective legislative provision should be made for the prevention and settlement of disputes between employers and workmen, to the end that strikes and lockouts, sometimes resulting in loss of life, and always entailing privation and suffering, may entailing privation and suffering, may be prevented; that a select committee of nine be appointed to enquire into the matters, aforesaid, and to consider and report what further enact-ments are desirable or necessary."

Mr. Borden spoke at considerable ength, and his address was thoughtful and to the point. Strikes for years past had been frequent and costly in Canada. They had brought with them, Canada. They had brought with them, not only financial loss to employer and employe, but they had, at times, provoked disorder which called for the interposition of troops.

He did not think that the Conciliation to the disposition of the conciliation to the disposition of the conciliation to the disposition to the concentration to the concent

He did not think that the Conciliation Act had amounted to much. Some strikes had been settled by the act and good offices of Mackenzie King, but these settlements had been due to his personality rather than to any particular legislation.

The futility of the conciliation act had been shown last summer when the Buckingham strike, involving human life, had gaged within a few miles of the capital. The strike record for five years showed 104 in 1901, 123 in 1902, 160 in 1903, 103 in 1904 and 87 in 1905. In 1906 there had an serious labor troubles, and the hbridge strike had exposed the people of Saskatchewan to a fuel famine, which threatened the lives of many citizens. citizens

Montreal, opposed compulsory arbitration. He did not favor the appointment of a committee.

Mr. Lemieux as Minister of Labor opposed the Borden resolution. He briefly explained his bill, which has not yet been printed and distributed. It provided not only for arbitration, but forbade any strike or lockout while the arbitration was in progress. True, neither party was bound to accept the reward, but he submitted that public opinion was not prepared for compulsory arbitration. The bill would apply, not only to coal mines, but to all public utilities.

He admitted that the Conciliation act had failed in the Buckingham strike, and that the award respecting the G.T.R. telegraphers had not been strictly observed. He claimed, however, that as a result of the arbitration on the latter case the parties had come to an agreement.

Ralph Smith (Liberal, B.C.), offered an amendment declaring that some legislation should be passed at the present session. He favored the Lemieux bill, but was opposed to compulsory arbitration.

Mr. Beurassa favored the principle of compulsory arbitration, but believed it would at this time be premature.

Hon. George Foster moved the adjournment of the debate.

Mr. Macdonnell (South Toronto) presented a petition praying for a subsidy to be given the Temiskaming and North Ontarlo Railway.

A return brought down disclosed some interesting correspondence which followed the cancellation by Mr. Oliver of the contract with the North Atlantic Trading Co. The reason given to the company for the cancellation of the contract was that the company had not carried out its promises in respect to supplying immigrants from Norway, Sweden and Finland. The company maintained that it had always lived up to its contract, and that it could not be canceled exand that it could not be canceled ex-cept on a year's notice, and claimed compensation for loss of three years and five months of the contract.
