

When Girls Use Slang.

"It is unfortunate that slang phrases are so easily slipping into our everyday conversation, and taking apparently so fixed a place in our talk," writes Edward W. Bok in the December Ladies' Home Journal.

Better than a fortune teller's predictions is the table recently prepared by a statistician by which one can foretell the probable age of one's future helpmeet—that is to say, he has tabulated the age at which men at various stages in their life prefer their wives to be.

Lessons for Farmers. Says the Aylmer Ont. Gazette: What many a farmer fails to do on 100 acres the thrifty Hollander in Belgium easily does on two acres, namely, support a large family and lay by something for a rainy day.

See that your house and stable drain do not run into or near the wells from which either your family or your live stock drink.

"Sometimes" said Uncle Eben, "dar wouldn't be so much objection to a man haddin his own opinion of he didn't perside in goin aroun an tryin ter gib everybody else a clear title ter it."

A Boston court has decided that it is unlawful to wear feathers of a bird that is protected by law, and a similar law is proposed in New York.

By a singular combination of circumstances a modest little Chinese woman has been placed in a position which gives opportunity for almost unbounded usefulness to the cause of Christianity in China.

Let the love of your brethren be as a living fire within you, consuming that selfishness that is so contrary to it and so natural to men.

The highest virtue consists of more than merely being good. It is being good for something; and good for something not to one's self, alone, but to others and to God.

A Pair of Good Resolutions. At a meeting of the fortieth annual session of the Tebo Association of Baptists, it was

Resolved, First, that we reaffirm the resolution already upon our minutes, with the addition to that resolution of the word vote, so as to read, "That as Christians, we do all we can for the suppression of this great evil (the liquor traffic) by both our influence and our votes, and that our pastors make special effort to enlighten the people on this subject and to influence them by their example to vote as they pray."

Resolved, Second, that no resolutions whatever be entered upon our minutes, unless our people conscientiously attempt to carry them out at the polls as well as in other ways.

This association is quite a strong one, embracing not only all the churches in Henry county, Missouri, but many of the churches from the adjoining countries.

Resolved, That in our judgment as a synod, domestic wines and so-called "hard cider" in the houses of our people are a menace to the moral welfare and sobriety of our young people.

Resolved, That in our judgment, no communicant member of the church should ever sign a petition for license, as such an act is inconsistent with the constitutional prohibition as the only consistent way for the state to deal with intoxicants as a beverage.

"Sister's keeps" you, sister's a good white, ain't it, Mr. Charney? "Oh, not so very long, Bobbie!" "I bet I know what's keeps' her, I say, I bet I know what's keeps' her, Mr. Charney!" "Well, never mind Bobbie!" "I'll never mind Bobbie!" "That's all right Bobbie!" "Please it hard to catch, ain't they, Mr. Charney?" "I suppose so Bobbie!" "Then I guess you'd have to wait a little longer Mr. Charney, Sister's plays' with my new dog to-day and he's just full of flea!"

Scraws for Odd Moments.

The reason some men can't make both ends meet is because they are too busy making one drink.

Teacher—If anyone tries hard he will never fail. Little Johnny—Father did.

Jan—Why do you never speak to Mr. Outer? He is uncouth, but I feel sure he is a diamond in the rough. Katherine—So do I. That's why I'm cutting him.

"What could the alderman have been thinking of to grant such a valuable franchise without compensation?" "Who said they didn't get compensation?"

A man has the name of Stealing, and he hates it. He thought to soften matters a little for his only child, his daughter, so he gave her the Christian name of "Worth."

Minards Liniment Cures Burns, etc. Postions—The trouble is I've never had a show. Onions—What's the matter with the exhibition you're always making of yourself?

Young Wife—I wonder why the birds don't come here any more. I used to throw bits of cake I made and— Bachelor Brother-in-law—That accounts for it.

Teacher—"Willie, if your father gave you 10 cents and then took away 4 and gave them to your brother, what would that make?" Willie—"Trouble."

"That tenor of ours has a marvelous voice. He can hold one of his notes for half a minute." "Fugh! I've held one of his notes for two years."

"I've an offer to go to work for a Toronto wholesale house. What would you do if you were in my shoes?" "After a careful inspection: "I think I would black 'em."

Minards Liniment Cures Dandruff. Teacher—You may put into other words, to express the same meaning, the phrase, "Accidents will happen." Freddie Fangle—Even a weather forecast may be fulfilled.

"Even when Henry was wildly delirious I could get him to take his medicine without a murmur." "How did you manage?" "I put the medicine in a flask."

"Is there no longer justice?" he cried. The squire, being only 4 feet 9 in height, took the remark as an opportunity to assess a fine, deeming his personality rudely commented on.

Indignant Parent—You see a very naughty boy, Tommy, telling a fib like that? I never told fib when I was a little boy.

Impenitent Son—When did you begin, then, father? Minards Liniment Relieves Neuralgia.

Lawyer—It's too bad the way old Squirt's fortune has been squandered in litigation.

Layman—It is indeed. Lawyer—Why, fully nine-tenths of it has gone to his heirs in witness fees.

Diggs—Why, that causes your little boy to cry so? Diggs—It is the result of his absence of mind. Diggs—Absence of mind! How is that? Diggs—Well, you see he didn't mind what his mother told him, so I had to punish him.

"And so, I had to punish Dennis had the wrong side of the argument? But what reason have you to be so sure of this?" "Faith, he hadn't another word to say after O hit him with me first brick."

"I can't live without you," pleaded the Duke. "Oh, yes you can," said the heiress. "There are plenty of organized charitable institutions in the city. No one is allowed to starve who makes his wants known."

"Do you think, Miss South," he pleaded, "that in time you might learn to love me?" "Possibly," the girl replied. "If you could render me a statement of what you are worth, Mr. North, I might learn to love you, I am quick at figures."

Young Poet—You read my little poem, Mr. Sheers? Editor—Yes. It was quite pathetic. It excited considerable comment in the office. The boy who attends to such matters informed me that it was the first poem he ever burned which was so full of tears as to put the fire out.

The country clergyman was calling a refractory cropper to a place of trouble near his front gate, when he noticed that a small boy stopped and watched him, with great attention. "Well, my young friend," he said, pleased to get the interest he excited, "are you looking for a hint or two on gardening?" "No," said the youth, "I'm waiting to see what a parson do say when he hammers his thumb."
