He did not know any particular reason for precautions with regard to that telegram. He communicated the proposition that $250 abould be paid before the election and $250 afterwards, as the proposition of the man who approached him, and did 'not consider it cor-rupt. The object did not sppear to be to bind the paper to support Mr. Lyon. It did not enter his calculations, although it might have entred into the calculations of the man himself. He did not think he had any com-munications with anybody afterwards with reference to that.
