Presentation to Capt. H. B. Saunders.

A pleasant event took place at the St. John's Technical School Class, St. Mary's Hall, South Side, on Thursday evening, when an address and handsome gift was presented to Capt. Saunders, the promoter of the Class.

ADDRESS
To Captain H. B. Saunders.

Greeting—

We, the undersigned Engineer Apprentices, having heard with regret of your intention soon to leave Newfoundland, desire to mark our very great appreciation of the good work you have done during your stay with us, in affording us instruction in the mechanical arts.

The knowledge of applied science which we have gained under your tuition so freely and voluntarily given, will, we feel sure, fit us the better for our chosen career. The clearness with which you have explained the problems which we daily meet in our profession, the knowledge, both practical and theoretical, which you have brought to bear upon our studies, and the ever-ready and kindly encouragement you have at all times vouchsafed, have given us greater interest in our work, and a more eager desire to excel in it.

We hope that you will be pleased to accept the gift we now present, rather as a token of our esteem and a souvenir of your sojourn among us, than as marking by its intrinsic value, the estimation in which we hold the many and great services you have rendered us.

With best wishes for your future health and success, and expressing our hearty desire to meet you again in the not distant future, we beg to subscribe ourselves,

Very sincerely yours,
(Signed on behalf of the class)
P. LEMESSURIER, President.
T. BUCKINGHAM, Sec. Treasurer.

REPLY

To the President and Students of St. John's Technical School Class, 1914.

Dear Friends,—No words of mine can ever express to you the deep feelings of appreciation that have entered into my life by the very kindly motive that prompted you to remember me as you did last evening. I assure you it was quite unexpected and consequently all the more valued. In meeting with you as I have done from time to time during my present visit to your island, the pleasure has been mine, for you have by your loyalty helped (what might otherwise have been a very lonely period for one who by force of his profession is compelled to spend so very much of his time away from all who are nearest and dearest to him) the time to pass pleasantly and profitably.

As I bid you all good bye, I do so with the confidence that every member of the Class of 1914 will be loyal to its interests and ever ready to help the Juniors as they come along to do likewise, then success will crown your every effort.

Sincerely your friend,
(Sgd.) HERBERT B. SAUNDERS.

After Nine Days Futile Search For Missing Steamer.

The S. S. Kyle, Capt. Parsons, reached port at 7 p.m. yesterday after nine days scouring the ocean in search of some trace of the missing steamer Southern Cross.

Leaving here at 5.30 a.m. on Saturday, the 4th inst., the ship covered nearly sixteen hundred miles, altering her course about thirty times, while a careful lookout was kept day and night without any wreckage being seen beyond a part of a spar and two whitecoat pelts.

The steamer went to the edge of the Virgin Rocks and thence to the S. W. edge of the Grand Banks, and every conceivable course from these two points to the land was covered in a succession of courses without any success.

About 7 p.m. on Thursday last two pelts were seen but being dark and foggy it was impossible to pick them up, and the next day when the ship came over the same course not a trace of them was to be found. Several steamers were communicated with by wireless but none of them had seen any wreckage. The day previous a piece of a spar apparently part of a boom of a "fore and after" was picked up.

The steamer berthed at the Reid Company's pier upon arrival last night and the work of replenishing the bunkers was begun immediately as the ship sailed again to-day in quest of the wreckage sighted by the Bloodhound, on Saturday last.

During one of the courses taken by the S. S. Kyle while searching towards the south-east, the ship was within twelve miles of the place where the said wreckage was seen.
