Fatal Shooting Accident Yesterday.

The victim of the shooting accident, which occurred at the Gaff Topsails, is Walter Pottles, who had been employed as motorman on the street railway for many years. He, with two of his companions named Sparkes and Dave were in the vicinity of the Topsails partridge shooting, while going through the woods he fell, and the gun which he was carrying exploded, the discharge entering his abdomen. His companions hurried to his assistance, but the wound proved fatal and he expired half an hour after the occurrence. The Reid Nud. Company, upon being notified of his death, immediately made arrangements for coffining the remains, which arrived in the city by today's express. The deceased was a trusted employee of the Street Car Service and was well known in the city. He leaves a widow and several children to whom the Telegram extends sincere sympathy.

Another Fatal Accident

Last evening the Minister of Justice was apprised by Magistrate Way, of Harbor Breton, that James Douglas, belonging to Pushthrough, had met with a fatal accident. A large stick fell on him the previous day and he succumbed to his injuries.

Wonderful Film at the Nickel Theatre.

THE MASTER OF THE MINE.

The week-end programme at the Nickel Theatre this evening is composed of the best pictures obtainable and patrons are assured of a pleasant time. No better arranged films have ever been given in St. John's. The feature picture which is by the talented Vitaphone Co. is in itself well worth the admission fee. It is entitled: "The Master of the Mine" and all the company's star artists in the cast. A melodramatic social play it has all the strong points of the wonderful story it is. It tells of two fathers who are anxious for their children to marry. Be sure and see the ending. The acting is all that could be desired while the scenes and costumes are elaborate. This film had a great run in New York, and is still in demand there. The beautiful city of San Francisco and its environments make a charming travelogue which is well worth seeing. "Dynamite, the New Farm Hands" is an educational picture of great value. There are three bright comedies: "The Race," the "Catch of the Season" and "The Golf Game and the Bonnet." In the last the celebrated comedian John Bunny is the principal actor. Mr. Huskins sang: "When I Dream of Old Erin" and made a big hit. He repeated it this evening and those who have not yet heard it should not fail to attend. There will be a big matinee for children to-morrow with an extra reel for the children. Be sure and send them.

Wedding Bells.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the Cathedral last night by the Rev. Canon White, when Mr. James Gush led to the altar Miss Mary Crocker, eldest daughter of Wm. Crocker, of Spencer Street. The bride was attired in a cream serge gown with hat to match, and was supported by her sister, Miss Florence Crocker, while Mr. Harold Moore supported the groom. The bride was given away by her uncle, Mr. William Littlejohn. The only jewellery worn was a pearl brooch, the gift of Master Cliff Patterson. The happy couple left for the Goules.

Heart Interest Stories of the War.

AN OFFICER'S PLUCKY ACT.

Private D. Schofield, of the first Cheshires, who has just returned to his home at Newport, and who was wounded in a battle not far from Mons, tells the following story:

A German aeroplane flying over our heads was the first intimation of the proximity of the enemy. Our artillery were quite unable to bring it down, but suddenly from behind us a French aeroplane rose like a shot and hovered above the German which was at that time flying from end to end of our trenches. What really happened I cannot tell, but shots were exchanged between the aeroplanes, and the next thing we saw was the German aeroplane spin round as if all control of the machine had been lost, and come down with a sickening crash just behind our trenches. By this time the German artillery had found the range, and opened a murderous fire upon us, which was kept up for hours. Before we heard the "retire" they came within 400 yards of our trenches.

We retired on a road, and here I saw a brave deed performed by a lieutenant of the A company. I only know his nickname, which was "Winkepoop." He had been shot through the right leg and left foot and on that road we cut off his boots and attempted roughly to bandage his wounds. As he rose to his feet he saw one of our privates in distress about fifteen yards away and seizing his gun he rushed or hobbled forward to bring him in, which he managed to do on his back under a murderous fire from the enemy. Having dropped his rifle and sword in this courageous act, he made his way back for them, and we missed him after that, and indeed, he has not been seen since.

IN A TIGHT CORNER.

Private Alexander Anderson, of the 2nd Battalion of the Royal Scots, who has returned wounded to Aberdeen, gave the following account of his experience at Mons to a "Scotsman" representative:

The shrapnels, he said, did the most damage. The German infantry could not hit the place they belong to. We could not help hitting them. We saw them first about 800 yards away, and they came along in bunches just like a crowd leaving a football match. Our Maxims simply struck them down, and I will guarantee that for every man that fell on our side they lost ten or twelve. It was rapid firing and we gave it to them hot. None in our trench was killed, and we had only five or six including myself, injured with shrapnel. A piece of shrapnel struck me on the top of the left ankle about half past seven o'clock, cutting thro' my boot and making me feel a little queer. I bandaged it up and went off with the others when the orders came to retire about one o'clock on the Monday morning. None was in flames by that time and the Germans big guns had been blazing about all night. We had been in a tight corner—two regiments against thousands.

As most of us believe—and I would like to say a word for our captain, Captain Hill Whitson. In the trenches on Sunday night he was walking about with his revolver, ready for anything, and cheering us up while the shrapnel played about our position. Well, as I said, we had to retire. We went back three or four miles. The first regiment we saw was the Gordons, and I took particular notice that they had a German prisoner in the front of their ranks.

BEST SUMMER HOLIDAY.

A Corporal in the Motor Cycle Section of the Royal Engineers, who enlisted for the war, writes:

Last night the enemy made an attempt to get through to our base in armed motors. Myself and two other motor cyclists were sent but to look for them. It was a pitch-black night with a thick fog. One of our men got in touch with them and was pursued. He made for a bridge which had been mined by the engineers and that was the end of the Germans. The German artillery is rotten. Last Saturday three batteries bombarded an entrenched British battalion for two hours and only seven men were killed. The noise was simply deafening, but so little effect had the fire that the men shouted with laughter and held their caps up on the end of their rifles to give the German gunners a bit of encouragement. This is really the best summer holiday I have had for a long time.

A Good Time to Change

If you have been using a mixture of cream of tartar and soda for quick baking you will find it profitable, because of the increasingly high price of cream of tartar, to use Royal Baking Powder instead.

It will pay you to do this because the price of Royal, which is made from highly refined cream of tartar, has not been changed, and because you will find it in every way more satisfactory than the use of home-made mixtures to which you have been accustomed. Royal Baking Powder is famous for its absolute purity and its reliability as a quick raising agent.

Harbor Breton Patriotic Fund.

Sometime since, the ladies of Harbor Breton, through the kindness of Mr. Way, met at the Court House and formed themselves into a Patriotic Association with the object of raising funds to assist the parent association at St. John's, in making up useful articles of clothing for the brave soldiers who are now fighting our battles, and also for our brave volunteers who so nobly responded to their country's call.
