Deaf for a Year Catarrh in the Head

Catarrh in the Head
Catarrh is a CONSTITUTIONAL disease, and requires a CONSTITUTIONAL REMEDY like Hood's Sarsaparilla to cure it. Read:
"Three years ago, as a result of catarrh, I entirely lost my hearing and was deaf for more than a year. I mied various things to cure it, and had several physicians attempt it, but no improvement was apparent. I could distinguish no sould be a lost of the care of a specialist when some one suggested that possibly Hood's Sarsaparilist without the expectation of any lasting the first of the care of a specialist when some one suggested that possibly Hood's Sarsaparilist without the expectation of any lasting the first of the care of a specialist of any lasting the more and the possibly the same than the care more. It is now over a year and I can bear perfectly well. I am troubled but very little with the catarrh. I consider this a remarkable case, and cordially recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all who have catarrh." HERMAN HICKS, 30 Carter Street, Rochester, N. Y.

A SOCIETY WEDDING.

Marriage of Mr. E. U. Sayers and Miss Ethel Rock

In St. Audrew's Church-An Immense Throng Witness the Ceremony— Costumes of the Leading Ladies.

Such a throng as yesterday afternoon filled St. Andrew's Church has seldom been seen in that edifice. Every available corner was filled with anxious spectators, who had congregated to witness the ceremony which united two of London's popular and well-known members of society—Mr. Edward U. Sayers, barrister, and Miss Ethel Rock, daughter of the late Mr. Warren Rock. Beautiful decorations caught the eye in the shape of ferns and evergreens. As the bridal party entered the west asis they passed under a floral arch, on which was plainly visible the letter "R." Over the cast aisle was a similar arch bearing the letter "S."

As the wedding party entered appropriate music pealed from the organ, at which Mr. Charles E. Wheeler officiated, Messrs. A. O. Graydon, Gec. C. Gunn, Brown, Baynes and C. Becher were the ushers.

Of petit figure she made a charming appearance in her wedding dress of white Bengaline, with large puffs and bodice, silver brocade wedge train, throat and waist trimmed with ostrich feathers, white veil and orange blossoms caught with a crescent and star of gold and pearls.

MUST THE CHINESE GO?

Getting Ready to Send Some Twenty Thousand of Them Home.

San Francisco, Feb. 16.—Collector Quinn is preparing his drag net to scoop in about 20,000 Chinese on May 5 next. The Geary Exclusion Act provides that the Chinese who have not been registered shall be shipped back to China at that time. The Chinese by that date will have had a year in which to have their photographs taken and be registered.

Of the 50,000 in San Francisco, Oakland, and other places in Collector Quinn's district just 61 have registered. It they were all to decide to register at once not one-tenth could be accommodated. The Chinese merchants laugh at the law, but they work smile when they learn of Quinn's preparations. When the 60 deputies appointed to register Chinese were discharged the first of the year the Chinese thought the law had collapsed.

The collector, however, has made all plans the collector, however, the made all plans the collector.

WORK AND WAGES.

THE MISSION FIELD.

Andrew's Church Last Night.

Rev. R. B. McKay, formerly of Parkdale, but recently appointed secretary of the foreign mission committee of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, delivered an interesting lecture in St. Andrew's Church last night under the auspices of the King's Messengers' Mission Band, which has been recently started in connection with that church. Previous to the lecture a quartet composed of Messrs. Brobner and Melutosh and Misses Boon and Gilmour rendered a selection, Mr. Charles Wheeler acting as organist.

Rev. J. A. Murray occupied fthe chair, and on either side of him were Rev. Messrs. W. J. Clark and M. P. Taling. Rev. Mr. Murray introduced the speaker, stating that one of the happiest times of his life was his recent teur of Scotland with Mr. McKay, who, he said, never lost his imgination. He made the statement for this purpose—that the audience might depend on what Mr. McKay said.

Rev. Mr. McKay, in introducing his subject, said one of the things we should know is the magnitude of the mission work, because unless it was always before our minds we would not take so much interest in it. There were many groups of islands in the Pacific Ocean where the missionaries had been working, but there was still a large field for effort. There were $400,000,000 fetisl worshipers on the earth—those who worship nothing but mere materal objects. Three-fourths of Africa and a great part of India and China have this mode of worship, and there was no means of urther enlightening them except through the aid of missionaries. The Parsees—a sect living in Central India, of whom there were but 150,000 left—were nearly extinct, and what was being done for them? There were 280 missionary societies sending help to the various fields, and the church in Canada had only 800 missionaries working under the church to-day, more than one-quarter of whom were in India and Ceylon. They had also 4,800 native workers—2,880 males and 1,920 females. There were in the entire missions 900,000 communicants and 3,600,000 adherents—those who had abandoned their o

Tell me not in mournful numbers,
Life is but an empty dream;
What with coal combines and plumbers,

What is required is a persistent and intelligent effort to restore the equilibrium between country and town. This can only be done by inducing some of those who have crowded into cities to go back to the farms they should never have left. There are thousands enduring hardships in nearrow streets to-day who, if they would move out to the vacant lands in Outario or the Northwest, might live in comfort. To bring about this removal is one of the most pressing duties resting upon the Canadian Government.—[Toronto News. THOUSANDS ENDURING HARDSHIPS.

AN ANGEL OF REST.

"I am so tired," a weary woman said,
And on her pillowed her aching head;
"I have been to more there aching head;
"I have been to more the red I cannot pray.
Dear Lord is throbbing so, my eyes are dim,
And all my tired senses seem to swim;
And the strength of the red I cannot be swim;
and the strength of the red I cannot be swim;
and the strength of the red I cannot be swim;
and the strength of pain, in might sleep and never wake again." And as she on her pillow lay and wept. Sweet sleep descended on her and she slept.

And in the silent hour of midnight gloom,
An angel softly stole into the room.
And gliding noiselessly unto the bed.
Laid its light hand upon the sleeper's head.
The woman woke, and marveled at the sight,
For all the room was filled with radiant light.
Then, as the angel bent and kissed her brow,
She murmured softly, "Tell me, who art thou?"
Then, as the angel clasped her to its breast,
She cried, "I know thee now, thy name is Rest."

And in the morn they came and found her

And in the morn they came and found aler there,
Her paie, worn features rendered calm and fair
Beneath the wondrous majesty of death;
And as they gazed on her with bated breath,
They marvoied at the beauty and the grace
That rested on the sleeper's peaceful face.
And then they robed her form in garments fair
And from her brow they brushed the soft brown hair,
And crossed the toil-worn hands upon her breast,
And so she slept in sweet, eternal rest.

CREATES MONOPOLY AND KILLS INDUSTRY.
One reason why the people of Canada are gradually drifting away from old affiliations and affections and are fostering a strong sentiment in favor of political union, is the unprogressive character of the country under protection, which in one direction creates monopolies and in another kills industry. Another reason is the incubus of the banks and monetary institutions which are a clog to progress and will never be anything else until the whole financial system has been changed. This lack of progress, which discourages enterprise of all kinds and narrows to very small limits the employment market, has had the effect of driving young men away to the States, where the chances of employment are many and varied. Another reason is that the farmer has not flourished underprotection, and as the people of the United States have thrown the principle over with the hope of bringing about a better state of affairs, the Canadian is willing to throw in his lot with the American in the hope of sharing in the benefits which accrue from the alcered state of affairs. It is no use to say that there is no annexationist feeling when it obtrudes itself on the public as it did recently at Simces. What is to be done? To find out where the trouble is and apply a remedy. In 1878 there was general discontent, and it vented itself against the Mackenzie Government, and unless something be done now to head off this movement obnoxious to so many, the discontent will vent titself against the present Government, To shut the eyes and say there is no movement towards annexation would be a grave error on the part of those who are in authority and who are supposed to govern for the general good. If the agitation was attributable to the Liberals the loyalty cry could be set up against the backing for Mars.
