Dr. Limbert, the jail surgeon, says the man is sane and entirely respon-sible for his acts although of a low type of mentality. He is said to have been afflicted with a religious mania a few years ago and also to have be-come depressed recently as a result of information from Austria that his family had all been killed in the great war.

Magistrate Moore said he would make the sentence a stiff one in order to warn other seekers for winter quarters to go easy on the destruction of property.

London, England, Dec. 28.-A few friends of the Victoria and Albert Museum have contributed over fifty speci-mens of chien ware to the Loan Court. The ware is the most sought after by collectors of fine pottery. It has a dark body and mottled brown glaze and was produced under the Sung dynasty (960-1279) in the Fu-chien Province: hence the name "chien" ware, and therefore not to be confused with the emperors of that name. Many tea bowls are in the collection. They are usually known from their glaze color as "hare's fur," or "partridge cups," while the markings on some varieties suggest tortoise-shell or oil spots. They were much used in the ceremonies of Japan. The Japanese call them "temmoku" bowls, from the name of a mountain in China near the original site of the potteries.
