DESPERADOES ROB BANK SUFFRAGETTES IN RIOT

Ten Thousand Dollars Stolen at Rainy River. Effort to interview Asquith Ends in Arrest of 112.

Trio of Bandits Enter Bank of Nova Scotia in Broad Daylight, Cover the Manager With Revolvers and Loot the Premises—Posters Are Out in Pursuit Scouring the Woods For the Men—Accountant Injured.

Rainy River, July 3.—One of the most daring bank robberies since the time of Jesse James was pulled off yesterday in this quiet little town, when three heavily armed desperadoes entered the branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia, shortly before 11 a.m. and secured between nine and ten thousand dollars in cash. They chose the time well for easy access to the money, as the safes were open at that hour, the manager was alone, and business was proceeding quietly. The bandits entered the office of the manager and covered him with revolvers. While he was thus held helplessly, they speedily gathered up all the cash available and hastily made their escape into the woods north of the town limits. The streets were full of people at the time, but none became aware of the daring robbery which had been pulled off until the alarm was given by the manager of the pillaged bank. The bandits by that time had a short start, and they dashed away into the woods.

As speedily as possible every available man was armed and sent in pursuit. The river front was closely patrolled to prevent the bandits from escaping back into Minnesota, from which they no doubt came, as the revolvers which they were armed with were stolen from Weeks' Hardware Co. in Superior last Wednesday night. The posse is searching the woods, but pursuit is very difficult, owing to the nature of the country, which is heavily timbered and broken by innumerable streams and swamps. The bandits must either effect their escape over the river or make their way across the wild and rugged country to the north. The posse is in excellent description of them, and they escape should be difficult. They purchased the cartridges at the Rat Portage Lumber Co.'s store yesterday morning, and their appearance was closely noted at that time, which supplemented the description Manager Temple was able to give. Many people also saw them running away from the bank.

While the arming of the pursuers was hurriedly in progress, a regrettable accident occurred, as a rifle was discharged, the bullet hitting Mr. Field, accountant of the bank, in the leg, inflicting a painful wound. The robbers no doubt had their plans well laid before they attempted such a daring hold-up. After escaping into the woods they started, two taking the box and the third running in a different direction, evidently for a rendezvous. It was impossible to communicate with Beaudette or other points around the town, as the bandits had taken the precaution to cut the wires.
