assistance and carried him into an old house, which is now used as a milk house.

Dalton, who had come to the rescue, then went to the house to get a lamp, shouting to the crowd in the road that they had shot a man.

DALTON FIRED UPON.

"You can't hang a bluff like that on us," came the reply, and with it it took effect and he bravely ran the gauntlet and secured the lamp. The third shot seemed to indicate that a second gun had been used.

With the crown, the question of the guns is everything. When asked regarding them they look serious and say that it seems strange that shotguns, loaded for killing bear or deer, should have been brought to a charivari.

WHY WAS HUSSEY PREPARED? Why should Hussey have been prepared with another gun, also loaded with shot?

SAD HONEYMOON. THIS.

Saddest of all phases of the case is the one in which Mrs. John Dalton is considered. As Florence Moss she had for years practically conducted the grocery business which her father owned and with all who knew her she was greatly beloved. No action regarding a preliminary hearing will be taken until the condition of Hussey, one way or another, is known for sure.
