

THE ONLY Morning Paper IN CANADA 18 KING ST. EAST, TORONTO

FOURTH YEAR.

FACING THE LEGAL MUSIC

THE LOTTERY CASES BEFORE THE POLICE MAGISTRATE.

The Mail's Manager on Trial for Publishing Lottery Advertisements - Legal Cross-Firing - The Court Almost Finds a Conviction.

After disposing of a lengthy docket the police court yesterday morning, Magistrate Denison announced that he would proceed to hear the lottery cases, of which there were nearly 40. All the defendants being in court, the charges were read, pleas of not guilty were entered in every case and the court rose till 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

At this hour the court-room was crowded when the magistrate ascended the bench. The charges are divided into three classes. Offences against the lottery law with regard to the late masochist gift enterprise in London, the proposed orange lottery and a patriotic concert at Ottawa, and a prospecting newspaper lottery in Detroit. The magisterial court yesterday morning, Magistrate Denison announced that he would proceed to hear the lottery cases, of which there were nearly 40. All the defendants being in court, the charges were read, pleas of not guilty were entered in every case and the court rose till 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

Mr. Fenton said he was there merely to try and convict Mr. Bunting; but since Mr. Douglas had declined to answer any questions which the latter looked upon as self-criminating, (Mr. Fenton) would see that witness was not guilty of any offence against the law.

Mr. Fenton said he would summon the whole Mail office to appear as witnesses who were supposed to know all about the reception of the advertisements at the office to answer. The witness who was supposed to be blocked on technicalities. He asked that Thos. W. Dyer, advertising agent, W. J. Hambly, foreman of the Mail composing room, and Arthur Phillips of the press-room to be summoned. In a few minutes these gentlemen were in court.

Mr. Dyer was put on the stand. He testified that although he was advertising agent of the paper he did not know how the advertisements for the masochist gift enterprise got to be blocked on technicalities. He asked that Thos. W. Dyer, advertising agent, W. J. Hambly, foreman of the Mail composing room, and Arthur Phillips of the press-room to be summoned. In a few minutes these gentlemen were in court.

Mr. Hambly was sworn, but he was only asked a few unimportant questions. Mr. Fenton announced that as none of these witnesses would testify against Mr. Bunting, he would get some other witnesses. He would prefer charges against Mr. Douglas and Mr. Dyer. They would probably fall through and they would then identify the exhibit before him as a copy of the Toronto Mail of Dec. 25, 1882. This was all the light he would throw on the matter.

Mr. Fenton announced that as none of these witnesses would testify against Mr. Bunting, he would get some other witnesses. He would prefer charges against Mr. Douglas and Mr. Dyer. They would probably fall through and they would then identify the exhibit before him as a copy of the Toronto Mail of Dec. 25, 1882. This was all the light he would throw on the matter.

Mr. Fenton announced that as none of these witnesses would testify against Mr. Bunting, he would get some other witnesses. He would prefer charges against Mr. Douglas and Mr. Dyer. They would probably fall through and they would then identify the exhibit before him as a copy of the Toronto Mail of Dec. 25, 1882. This was all the light he would throw on the matter.

Mr. Fenton announced that as none of these witnesses would testify against Mr. Bunting, he would get some other witnesses. He would prefer charges against Mr. Douglas and Mr. Dyer. They would probably fall through and they would then identify the exhibit before him as a copy of the Toronto Mail of Dec. 25, 1882. This was all the light he would throw on the matter.

THE PACIFIC RAILWAY.

MR. BLAKE ON THE PROFITS OF THE RAILWAY.

Great Speech by the Opposition Leader - Mr. Blake on the Profits of the Railway.

OTTAWA, March 5.—In the common to-day, in answer to a question by Mr. Anger, Postmaster-General Carling showed the government had no intention of introducing this session a measure reducing the letter postage to 60 cents, as was proposed to be done in the United States. Mr. Carling stated also, in reply to Mr. Crowl, that the correspondence was in progress with companies forming the postal union, with a view to establishing a railway service with France, Belgium and Germany with a view specially of benefiting emigrants from those countries.

Mr. Blake made a rousing speech on the Canadian Pacific railway in bringing forward a long motion, of which he had given notice, calling for returns giving later and fuller information as to the syndicate's operations than any papers now before the house. He argued that in view of the valuable franchises given every railway company, and of the fact that it had a virtual monopoly in its own territory it was only fair that restrictions should be imposed upon its rate-charging tendencies. This, he thought, particularly true of the Canadian Pacific company because of the large bonus given them, and of the status which pledged the country to support them as a monopoly for 20 years.

Mr. Blake made a rousing speech on the Canadian Pacific railway in bringing forward a long motion, of which he had given notice, calling for returns giving later and fuller information as to the syndicate's operations than any papers now before the house. He argued that in view of the valuable franchises given every railway company, and of the fact that it had a virtual monopoly in its own territory it was only fair that restrictions should be imposed upon its rate-charging tendencies. This, he thought, particularly true of the Canadian Pacific company because of the large bonus given them, and of the status which pledged the country to support them as a monopoly for 20 years.

Mr. Blake made a rousing speech on the Canadian Pacific railway in bringing forward a long motion, of which he had given notice, calling for returns giving later and fuller information as to the syndicate's operations than any papers now before the house. He argued that in view of the valuable franchises given every railway company, and of the fact that it had a virtual monopoly in its own territory it was only fair that restrictions should be imposed upon its rate-charging tendencies. This, he thought, particularly true of the Canadian Pacific company because of the large bonus given them, and of the status which pledged the country to support them as a monopoly for 20 years.

Mr. Blake made a rousing speech on the Canadian Pacific railway in bringing forward a long motion, of which he had given notice, calling for returns giving later and fuller information as to the syndicate's operations than any papers now before the house. He argued that in view of the valuable franchises given every railway company, and of the fact that it had a virtual monopoly in its own territory it was only fair that restrictions should be imposed upon its rate-charging tendencies. This, he thought, particularly true of the Canadian Pacific company because of the large bonus given them, and of the status which pledged the country to support them as a monopoly for 20 years.

Mr. Blake made a rousing speech on the Canadian Pacific railway in bringing forward a long motion, of which he had given notice, calling for returns giving later and fuller information as to the syndicate's operations than any papers now before the house. He argued that in view of the valuable franchises given every railway company, and of the fact that it had a virtual monopoly in its own territory it was only fair that restrictions should be imposed upon its rate-charging tendencies. This, he thought, particularly true of the Canadian Pacific company because of the large bonus given them, and of the status which pledged the country to support them as a monopoly for 20 years.

Mr. Blake made a rousing speech on the Canadian Pacific railway in bringing forward a long motion, of which he had given notice, calling for returns giving later and fuller information as to the syndicate's operations than any papers now before the house. He argued that in view of the valuable franchises given every railway company, and of the fact that it had a virtual monopoly in its own territory it was only fair that restrictions should be imposed upon its rate-charging tendencies. This, he thought, particularly true of the Canadian Pacific company because of the large bonus given them, and of the status which pledged the country to support them as a monopoly for 20 years.

Mr. Blake made a rousing speech on the Canadian Pacific railway in bringing forward a long motion, of which he had given notice, calling for returns giving later and fuller information as to the syndicate's operations than any papers now before the house. He argued that in view of the valuable franchises given every railway company, and of the fact that it had a virtual monopoly in its own territory it was only fair that restrictions should be imposed upon its rate-charging tendencies. This, he thought, particularly true of the Canadian Pacific company because of the large bonus given them, and of the status which pledged the country to support them as a monopoly for 20 years.

Mr. Blake made a rousing speech on the Canadian Pacific railway in bringing forward a long motion, of which he had given notice, calling for returns giving later and fuller information as to the syndicate's operations than any papers now before the house. He argued that in view of the valuable franchises given every railway company, and of the fact that it had a virtual monopoly in its own territory it was only fair that restrictions should be imposed upon its rate-charging tendencies. This, he thought, particularly true of the Canadian Pacific company because of the large bonus given them, and of the status which pledged the country to support them as a monopoly for 20 years.

WILL HE BE EXTRADITED?

MINISTER WEST ON THE PROCEEDINGS AGAINST SHERIDAN.

English Feelings in the Province - What Sheridan Himself Says - The Whole Business a Farce.

NEW YORK, March 5.—Gov. Butler and Gen. Fryer, counsel for Sheridan, are satisfied the British government will not case under the treaty. The delay is believed to be because the counsel for the British government had a like opinion, and because additional affidavits and papers have been sent for. Pryor believes the British government has gone too far to back out now and that Sheridan will be arrested eventually. West, the British minister, says: "I am quite ignorant whether the papers will be issued or further steps taken in the matter. If Sheridan had been identified he would be under arrest or under surveillance."

NEW YORK, March 5.—Gov. Butler and Gen. Fryer, counsel for Sheridan, are satisfied the British government will not case under the treaty. The delay is believed to be because the counsel for the British government had a like opinion, and because additional affidavits and papers have been sent for. Pryor believes the British government has gone too far to back out now and that Sheridan will be arrested eventually. West, the British minister, says: "I am quite ignorant whether the papers will be issued or further steps taken in the matter. If Sheridan had been identified he would be under arrest or under surveillance."

NEW YORK, March 5.—Gov. Butler and Gen. Fryer, counsel for Sheridan, are satisfied the British government will not case under the treaty. The delay is believed to be because the counsel for the British government had a like opinion, and because additional affidavits and papers have been sent for. Pryor believes the British government has gone too far to back out now and that Sheridan will be arrested eventually. West, the British minister, says: "I am quite ignorant whether the papers will be issued or further steps taken in the matter. If Sheridan had been identified he would be under arrest or under surveillance."

NEW YORK, March 5.—Gov. Butler and Gen. Fryer, counsel for Sheridan, are satisfied the British government will not case under the treaty. The delay is believed to be because the counsel for the British government had a like opinion, and because additional affidavits and papers have been sent for. Pryor believes the British government has gone too far to back out now and that Sheridan will be arrested eventually. West, the British minister, says: "I am quite ignorant whether the papers will be issued or further steps taken in the matter. If Sheridan had been identified he would be under arrest or under surveillance."

NEW YORK, March 5.—Gov. Butler and Gen. Fryer, counsel for Sheridan, are satisfied the British government will not case under the treaty. The delay is believed to be because the counsel for the British government had a like opinion, and because additional affidavits and papers have been sent for. Pryor believes the British government has gone too far to back out now and that Sheridan will be arrested eventually. West, the British minister, says: "I am quite ignorant whether the papers will be issued or further steps taken in the matter. If Sheridan had been identified he would be under arrest or under surveillance."

NEW YORK, March 5.—Gov. Butler and Gen. Fryer, counsel for Sheridan, are satisfied the British government will not case under the treaty. The delay is believed to be because the counsel for the British government had a like opinion, and because additional affidavits and papers have been sent for. Pryor believes the British government has gone too far to back out now and that Sheridan will be arrested eventually. West, the British minister, says: "I am quite ignorant whether the papers will be issued or further steps taken in the matter. If Sheridan had been identified he would be under arrest or under surveillance."

NEW YORK, March 5.—Gov. Butler and Gen. Fryer, counsel for Sheridan, are satisfied the British government will not case under the treaty. The delay is believed to be because the counsel for the British government had a like opinion, and because additional affidavits and papers have been sent for. Pryor believes the British government has gone too far to back out now and that Sheridan will be arrested eventually. West, the British minister, says: "I am quite ignorant whether the papers will be issued or further steps taken in the matter. If Sheridan had been identified he would be under arrest or under surveillance."

NEW YORK, March 5.—Gov. Butler and Gen. Fryer, counsel for Sheridan, are satisfied the British government will not case under the treaty. The delay is believed to be because the counsel for the British government had a like opinion, and because additional affidavits and papers have been sent for. Pryor believes the British government has gone too far to back out now and that Sheridan will be arrested eventually. West, the British minister, says: "I am quite ignorant whether the papers will be issued or further steps taken in the matter. If Sheridan had been identified he would be under arrest or under surveillance."

NEW YORK, March 5.—Gov. Butler and Gen. Fryer, counsel for Sheridan, are satisfied the British government will not case under the treaty. The delay is believed to be because the counsel for the British government had a like opinion, and because additional affidavits and papers have been sent for. Pryor believes the British government has gone too far to back out now and that Sheridan will be arrested eventually. West, the British minister, says: "I am quite ignorant whether the papers will be issued or further steps taken in the matter. If Sheridan had been identified he would be under arrest or under surveillance."

LIBERTY LOVING ENGLAND

IMPRISONMENT OF FREE-THOUGHT JOURNALISTS.

Proposed Prosecution of Huxley, Tyndall, Herbert Spencer, John Morley and other Leaders of Thought.

LONDON, March 5.—The society for the suppression of blasphemous literature proposes to get up cases against Huxley and Tyndall, Herbert Spencer, the publishers of John Stuart Mill's works, John Morley, and others, who, by their writings have sown widespread unbelief, and in some cases rank atheism.

LONDON, March 5.—The society for the suppression of blasphemous literature proposes to get up cases against Huxley and Tyndall, Herbert Spencer, the publishers of John Stuart Mill's works, John Morley, and others, who, by their writings have sown widespread unbelief, and in some cases rank atheism.

LONDON, March 5.—The society for the suppression of blasphemous literature proposes to get up cases against Huxley and Tyndall, Herbert Spencer, the publishers of John Stuart Mill's works, John Morley, and others, who, by their writings have sown widespread unbelief, and in some cases rank atheism.

LONDON, March 5.—The society for the suppression of blasphemous literature proposes to get up cases against Huxley and Tyndall, Herbert Spencer, the publishers of John Stuart Mill's works, John Morley, and others, who, by their writings have sown widespread unbelief, and in some cases rank atheism.

LONDON, March 5.—The society for the suppression of blasphemous literature proposes to get up cases against Huxley and Tyndall, Herbert Spencer, the publishers of John Stuart Mill's works, John Morley, and others, who, by their writings have sown widespread unbelief, and in some cases rank atheism.

LONDON, March 5.—The society for the suppression of blasphemous literature proposes to get up cases against Huxley and Tyndall, Herbert Spencer, the publishers of John Stuart Mill's works, John Morley, and others, who, by their writings have sown widespread unbelief, and in some cases rank atheism.

LONDON, March 5.—The society for the suppression of blasphemous literature proposes to get up cases against Huxley and Tyndall, Herbert Spencer, the publishers of John Stuart Mill's works, John Morley, and others, who, by their writings have sown widespread unbelief, and in some cases rank atheism.

LONDON, March 5.—The society for the suppression of blasphemous literature proposes to get up cases against Huxley and Tyndall, Herbert Spencer, the publishers of John Stuart Mill's works, John Morley, and others, who, by their writings have sown widespread unbelief, and in some cases rank atheism.

LONDON, March 5.—The society for the suppression of blasphemous literature proposes to get up cases against Huxley and Tyndall, Herbert Spencer, the publishers of John Stuart Mill's works, John Morley, and others, who, by their writings have sown widespread unbelief, and in some cases rank atheism.

THE TORONTO WORLD.

TUESDAY MORNING, MARCH 6, 1883.

PRICE ONE CENT.

THREE DOLLARS A YEAR.